Abstract. The BOPPPS teaching method originated in Canada. It is a complete, effective and closed set of teaching theories and methods, which has been adopted and promoted by many countries in the world. In China, the ideological and political theory course "Outline of Modern Chinese History" (hereinafter called the OMCH) is a compulsory course for college students, and this teaching method can also be used. However, the current OMCH course is widely used in a teaching mode that is based on the timeline and is loyal to the textbook. This mode is not only difficult to embed the BOPPPS teaching method, but also makes it difficult for students to master the core content. The thematic teaching can subvert the above teaching mode, and combine with the BOPPPS teaching method to present an excellent teaching system, so as to obtain a good teaching effect. This paper analyzes how to combine BOPPPS with thematic teaching to improve the affinity and pertinence of the curriculum, and to better play the educational function of ideological and political courses.

1 The Conformity of Thematic Teaching and BOPPPS Teaching Method

In 2019, the Teaching Steering Committee of Ideological and Political Theory Courses in Higher Education Institutions of the Ministry of Education of China released the "Thematic Teaching Guide for "Outline of Modern and Contemporary Chinese History" on the basis of the 2018 edition of the textbook." Thematic Teaching requires breaking the shackles of the original textbook chapters, and highly condensing the contents of the textbook according to different historical clues or themes to determine the number and content of teaching themes, and each themes can reflect a clear teaching goal and profound thinking. There is a close logical relationship and a clear historical context between the various themes, teachers design teaching and organize teaching activities around themes, so as to better support the course objectives. Its theoretical source is

A Brief Modern Chinese History Haipeng Zhai, Jinyi Zhang, 2020-10-20 This book is part of an initiative in cooperation with renowned Chinese publishers to make fundamental formative and influential Chinese thinkers available to a western readership providing absorbing insights into Chinese reflections of late Haipeng Zhang and Jinyi Zhai provide us with a history of China's struggle for national independence and prosperity reflecting the humiliation in the sinking period and the struggle during the rising period After the Japanese aggressions against China had caused more damage to China than all previous invasions Chinese society not only avoided the continued sinking but also laid the foundation for China's modernization and the recent success story to the present day

The Postcolonial Aura Arif Dirlik, 2018-02-20 The essays in this volume range from questions of cultural self representation in China to more general problems of reconceptualizing global relationships in response to contemporary changes Although the new era of global capitalism calls for the remapping of global relations such remapping must be informed both by a grasp of contemporary structures of economic political and cultural power and by memories of earlier radical visions of society Without these two conditions Arif Dirlik argues the current preoccupation with Eurocentrism ethnic diversity and multiculturalism distract from issues of power that dominate global relations and that find expression in murderous ethnic conflicts Dirlik offers multi historicalism which presupposes a historically grounded conception of cultural difference seeks in different histories alternative visions of human society and stresses divergent historical trajectories against a future colonized presently by an ideology of capital Arguing that the operations of capital have brought the question of the local to the fore he points to indigenism as a source of paradigms of social relations and relationships to nature to challenge the voracious developmentalism that undermines local welfare globally

The Oxford Handbook of the History of Psychology: Global Perspectives David B. Baker, 2012 The science and practice of psychology has evolved around the world on different trajectories and timelines yet with a convergence on the recognition of the need for a human science that can confront the challenges facing the world today Few would argue that the standard narrative of the history of psychology has emphasized European and American traditions over others but in today's global culture there is a greater need in psychology for international understanding This volume describes the historical development of psychology in countries throughout the world Contributors provide narratives that examine the political and socioeconomic forces that have shaped their nations psychologies Each unique story adds another element to our understanding of the history of psychology The chapters in this volume remind us that there are unique contexts and circumstances that influence the ways in which the science and practice of psychology are assimilated into our daily lives Making these contexts and circumstances explicit through historical research and writing provides some promise of greater international insight as well as a better understanding of the human condition

Historical Sketch of Chinese Historiography Huaiqi Wu,2018-01-09 This book systematically traces the development of Chinese historiography from the 2nd century B C to the 19th century A D Refusing to fit the Chinese historical narration into the modern Western discourse the author highlights the significant questions that concern traditional historians their philosophical foundations their development over three thousand years and their influence on the intelligentsia China is a country defined in terms of its history and its historians have worked hard to record the past However this book approaches Chinese history from the very beginning not only as a way of recording but also as a way of dealing with the past in order to orient the people of the present in the temporal dimension of their lives This book was listed as the key textbook of the Eleventh Five year Plan for college students in China Islam and China's Hong Kong Wai-Yip Ho,2013-06-07 Hong Kong is a global city state under the sovereignty of the People s Republic of China and is home to around 250 000 Muslims practicing Islam However existing studies of the Muslim majority communities in Asia and the Northwest China largely ignore the Muslim community in Hong Kong Islam and China s Hong Kong skillfully fills this gap and investigates how ethnic and Chinese speaking Muslims negotiate their identities and the increasing public attention to Islam in Hong Kong Examining a range of issues and challenges facing Muslims in Hong Kong this book focuses on the three different diasporic Muslim communities and reveals the city state s triple Islamic heritage and distinctive Islamic culture It begins with the transition from the colonial to the post colonial era and explores how this has impacted on the experiences of the Muslim diaspora and the ways this shift has compelled the community to adapt to Chinese nationalism whilst forging greater links with the Gulf Then with reference to the rise of new media and technology the book examines the heightened presence of Islam in the Chinese public sphere alongside the emergence of Chinese Islamic websites which have sought to balance transnational Muslim solidarity and sensitivity towards Chinese government s concern of external extremism Finally it concludes by investigating Hong Kong s growing awareness of the Muslim minorities demands for Islamic religious education and how this links with the city state s aspiration to become the new gateway for Islamic finance Indeed Wai Yip Ho posits that Hong Kong is now shifting from its role as the broker that bridged East and West during the Cold War to that of a new mediator between China and the Middle East Drawing on extensive ethnographic research this book thoughtfully charts a new area of inquiry and as such will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies Islamic studies Asian studies and ethnicity studies

The Opium War Julia Lovell,2015-11-10 This crisp and readable account of the nineteenth century British campaign sheds light on modern Chinese identity through a heartbreaking story of war The Wall Street Journal In October 1839 a Windsor cabinet meeting voted to begin the first Opium War against China Bureaucratic fumbling military missteps and a healthy dose of political opportunism and collaboration followed Rich in tragicomedy The Opium War explores the disastrous British foreign relations move that became a founding myth of modern Chinese nationalism and depicts China's heroic struggle against Western conspiracy Julia Lovell examines the causes and consequences of the Opium War interweaving tales of the opium pushers and dissidents More importantly she analyses how the Opium Wars shaped China's self image and created an enduring model for its interactions with the West plagued by delusion and prejudice

Hong Kong History Man-Kong Wong,Chi-Man Kwong,2021-11-10 This book aims at providing an accessible introduction to and summary of the major themes of Hong Kong history that has been studied in the past decades Each chapter also suggests a number of key historical figures and works that are essential for the understanding of a particular theme However the book is by no means merely a general survey of the recent studies of Hong Kong history it tries to suggest that the best way to approach Hong Kong history is to put it firmly in its international context

Empire in Asia: A New Global History Brian P. Farrell,Donna Brunero,2018-09-20 Asia was the principle focus of empire builders from Alexander and Akbar to Chinggis Khan and Qianlong and yet until now there has been no attempt to provide a comprehensive history of empire in the region Empire in Asia addresses the need for a thorough survey of the topic This volume covers the long 19th century commonly seen in terms of high imperialism and the global projection of Western power This volume explores the dynamic volatile and often contested processes by which by the early years of the 20th century Asian states space and peoples became deeply integrated into the wider dynamics of global reordering Drawing on case studies from across Asia the contributors discuss key themes including ideology concepts of identity religion and politics state building and state formation the relationships between space people and sovereignty the movements of goods money people and ideas and the influence and impact of conflict and military power The two volumes of Empire in Asia offer a significant contribution to the theory and practice of empire when considered globally and comparatively and are essential reading for all students and scholars of global imperial and Asian history

Hong Kong's Chinese History Curriculum from 1945 Flora L.F. Kan,2007-01-01 Hong Kong's Chinese History Curriculum from 1945 Politics and Identity investigates the ways in which Chinese history has evolved as a subject in Hong Kong secondary schools since 1945 and the various social political and economic factors that have shaped the curriculum through an examination of a wide range of primary and secondary source materials and interviews This book examines how the aims content teaching learning and assessment of the Chinese history curriculum have evolved since 1945

It describes how Chinese history became an independent subject in secondary schools in Hong Kong despite the political sensitivity of the subject how it consolidated its status during the colonial period and how it has faced threats to its independence since the return of Hong Kong to China in 1997 An important element of the book is its in depth analysis of the major socio political and socio economic forces that have been involved in the development of Chinese history This book will be of interest to all who are interested in history education and curriculum development and readers who are concerned with history education

After the Post-Cold War Jinhua Dai,2018-10-25 In After the Post Cold War eminent Chinese cultural critic Dai Jinhua interrogates history memory and the future of China as a global economic power in relation to its socialist past profoundly shaped by the Cold War Drawing on Marxism post structuralism psychoanalysis and feminist theory Dai examines recent Chinese films that erase the country s socialist history to show how such erasure resignifies socialism s past as failure and thus forecloses the imagining of a future beyond that of globalized capitalism She outlines the tension between China s embrace of the free market and a regime dependent on a socialist imprimatur She also offers a genealogy of China s transformation from a source of revolutionary power into a fountainhead of globalized modernity This narrative Dai contends leaves little hope of moving from the capitalist degradation of the present into a radical future that might offer a more socially just world
