Hebrew Alphabet Stickers:

Hebrew Alphabet Jill Dubin, 1992-11-01 Here's a fun way to introduce boys and girls to the Hebrew alphabet. Twenty-two brightly colored stickers, each representing a different letter, contain an illustration of a word beginning with that letter inside the clearly outlined letter. dalet d is a dahg fish, the letter zayin z contains a zuh AYV wolf. Ideal for use in the classroom or at home, these stickers will educate as well as entertain. The Publishers Weekly, 1998 The Jewish Educational Leader's Handbook Robert E. Tornberg, 1998 Classroom teaching it addresses supplementary school settings and features a noticeably larger section devoted to the growing day school sector. Jewish Every Day Behrman House, Maxine Segal Handelsman, 2005-06 Written in a warm and understanding tone, this guide takes the best in secular early childhood education and applies it to Jewish early childhood education. With extensive bibliographies as well as background information for teachers, individual chapters review developmentally appropriate practice, anti-bias education, storytelling, music, Jewish thematic units, reaching out to interfaith families, keeping kosher at school, and much more. Israel in the Making Hagar Salamon, 2017-03-27 The brilliant kaleidoscope of everyday creativity in Israel is thrown into relief in this study, which teases out the abiding national tensions and contradictions at work in the expressive acts of ordinary people. Hagar Salamon examines creativity in Israel's public sphere through the lively discourse of bumper stickers, which have become a potent medium for identity and commentary on national and religious issues. Exploring the more private expressive sphere of women's embroidery, she profiles a group of Jerusalem women who meet regularly and create folk embroidery. Salamon also considers the significance of folk expressions at the intersections of the public and private that rework change and embrace transformation. Far-ranging and insightful, Israel in the Making captures the complex creative essence of a nation-state and vividly demonstrates how its citizens go about defining themselves, others, and their country every day. My Fat Dad Dawn Lerman, 2015-09-29 From the author of the New York Times Well Blog series My Fat Dad, every story and every memory from my childhood is attached to food. Dawn Lerman spent her childhood constantly hungry. She craved good food as her father, 450 pounds at his heaviest, pursued endless fad diets from Atkins to Pritikin to all sorts of freeze-dried saccharin-laced concoctions and insisted the family do the same, even though no one else was overweight. Dawn's mother, on the other hand, could barely be bothered to eat a can of tuna over the sink. She was too busy ferrying her other daughter to acting auditions and scolding Dawn for cleaning the house. Whom are you trying to impress? It was chaotic and lonely, but Dawn had someone she could turn to: her grandmother, Beauty. Those days spent with Beauty, learning to cook, breathing in the scents of fresh dill or sharing the comfort of a warm pot of chicken soup, made it all bearable. Even after Dawn's father took a prestigious ad job in New York City and moved the family away, Beauty would send a card from Chicago every week with a recipe, a shopping list, and a twenty-dollar bill. She continued to cultivate Dawn's love of wholesome food and ultimately taught her how to make her own way in the world, one recipe at a time. In My Fat Dad, Dawn reflects on her colorful family and culinary-centric
