Travels in Translation Ken Frieden, 2016-07-25 For centuries before its rebirth as a spoken language Hebrew writing was like a magical ship in a bottle that gradually changed design but never voyaged out into the world Isolated the ancient Hebrew ship was torpid because the language of the Bible was inadequate to represent modern life in Europe Early modern speakers of Yiddish and German gave Hebrew the breath of life when they translated dialogues descriptions and thought processes from their vernaculars into Hebrew By narrating tales of pilgrimage and adventure Jews pulled the ship out of the bottle and sent modern Hebrew into the world In Travels in Translation Frieden analyzes this emergence of modern Hebrew literature after 1780 a time when Jews were moving beyond their conventional Torah and Zion centered worldview Enlightened authors diverged from pilgrimage narrative traditions and appropriated travel narratives to America the Pacific and the Arctic The effort to translate sea travel stories from European languages with their nautical terms wide horizons and exotic occurrences made particular demands on Hebrew writers They had to overcome their tendency to introduce biblical phrases at every turn in order to develop a new vivid descriptive language As Frieden explains through deft linguistic analysis by 1818 a radically new travel literature in Hebrew had arisen Authors such as Moses Mendelsohn Frankfurt and Mendel Lefin published books that charted a new literary path through the world and in European history Taking a fresh look at the origins of modern Jewish literature Frieden launches a new approach to literary studies one that lies at the intersection of translation studies and travel writing

Atlantean Dan Frishling, 2021-09-22 Atlantis You re kidding No I m not Doctor Wolfcub retorted Examine the facts Falcon Other than this single recollection we know nothing about you Except that a team of assassins put a slug through your brain That the damage was extensive That you've spent the last twenty six years in a coma and awakened with no memories of your past life In fact if not for your medical bracelet we wouldn't even know your name And lastly or perhaps a better word would be strangely your appearance hasn't changed since the day you were shot But coma or not Doctor We're talking about me participating in events that took place thousands of years ago I countered rolling my eyes Which suggests that either I'm an immortal or else we must consider this recollection as an imaginative fantasy And yet as inexplicable as it may be I am serious the doctor insisted What you've described through the eyes of a fourteen year old is no less than the creation history and culture of the legendary Atlantis Join Falcon on her exciting journeys As a young girl we follow her tribe's transformation from European cave dwellers into the Island's advanced society As a teenager she sails to ancient Egypt as a seeker of knowledge and technologies ending up participating in activities that lead to the elevation of Osiris Isis and Horus to the status of gods And upon maturity she witnesses events that are enshrined in the Bible Are these journeys just a convalescing woman's hallucinations or is Falcon an immortal

The Regional Travel Guide for Jerusalem (Israel) , Traveler's Guide to Hebrew Dan Levy,2014-02-01 The Traveler's Guide to Hebrew is a quick start way to learn Hebrew This pronunciation guide uses transliteration to help you learn spoken Hebrew quickly without having to master Hebrew script This guide will let you rapidly learn Hebrew words so that you can understand and converse in Hebrew The guide includes vocabulary and phrases for many situations you may encounter during your trip It also includes the Hebrew alphabet Alef Bet as well as mini English Hebrew and Hebrew English dictionaries and a set of verb tables Whether you are traveling to Israel for business or pleasure this guide will enhance your experience Unwitting Zionists Haya Gavish,2010 A study of the Iraqi Jewish community of Zakho that investigates the community's attachment to the Land of Israel the effects of Zionist activity and immigration to Palestine and Israel Unwitting Zionists examines the Jewish community in the northern Kurdistan town of Zakho from the end of the Ottoman period until the disappearance of the community through aliyah by 1951 Because of its remote location Zakho was far removed from the influence of the Jewish religious leadership in Iraq and preserved many of its religious traditions independently becoming the most important Jewish community in the region and known as Jerusalem of Kurdistan Author Haya Gavish argues therefore that when the community was exposed to Zionism it began to open up to external influences and activity Originally published in Hebrew Unwitting Zionists uses personal memoirs historical records and interviews to investigate the duality between Jewish tradition and Zionism among Zakho's Jews Gavish consults a variety of sources to examine the changes undergone by the Jewish community as a result of its religious affiliation with Eretz Israel its exposure to Zionist efforts and its eventual immigration to Israel Because relatively little written documentation about Zakho exists Gavish relies heavily on folkloristic sources like personal recollections and traditional stories including extensive material from her own fieldwork with an economically and demographically diverse group of men and women from Zakho She analyzes this firsthand information within a historical framework to reconstruct a communal reality and lifestyle that was virtually unknown to anyone outside of the community. Appendixes contain biographical details of the interviewees for additional background. Gavish also addresses the relative merits of personal memoirs, optimal interviewer-interviewee relationships, and the problem of relying on the interviewees' memories in her study. Folklore, oral history, anthropology, and Israeli studies scholars, as well as anyone wanting to learn more about religion, community, and nationality in the Middle East, will appreciate Unwitting Zionists. Hebrew language guide for travelers, Jews and Journeys Joshua Levinson, Orit Bashkin, 2021-08-06. What happens when Jewish authors, whether by force or of their own free will, whether in reality or in the imagination, travel from one place to another? Jews and Journeys explores what it is about travel writing that enables it to become a central mechanism for exploring the realities and fictions of individual and collective identity. Traveling Through Text Elka Weber, 2014-02-04. Traveling through Text compares religious travel writing by Muslims, Christians, and Jews in later Middle Ages. This comparative approach allows us to see that writers in all three religious communities used travel writing in the same way to shape the perceptions of their readers by asserting the author's authority. The central paradox of religious travel writing is that the travel writer reads about a place usually in a sacred text, decides to supplement the reading with the empirical experience of visiting and describing the place, and then creates his own descriptive text. But in writing this new book and in letting his readers know his authorial authority, the travel writer himself is daring the reader to challenge the new text. Is a book ever enough? For societies that value their sacred texts, this question is a challenge. But it is a challenge posed by writers who live firmly in the religious tradition. Reorienting the East Martin Jacobs, 2014-09-30. Reorienting the East explores the Islamic world as it was encountered, envisioned, and elaborated by Jewish travelers from the Middle Ages to the early modern period. The first comprehensive investigation of Jewish travel writing from this era, this study engages with questions raised by postcolonial studies and contributes to the debate over the nature and history of Orientalism as defined by Edward Said. Examining two dozen Hebrew and Judeo-Arabic travel accounts from the mid-twelfth to the early sixteenth centuries, Martin Jacobs asks whether Jewish travelers shared Western perceptions of the Islamic world with their Christian counterparts. Most Jews who detailed their journeys during this period hailed from Christian lands and many sailed to the Eastern Mediterranean aboard Christian-owned vessels. Yet Jacobs finds that their descriptions of the Near East subvert or reorient a decidedly Christian vision of the region. The accounts from the crusader era, in particular, are often critical of the Christian church and present glowing portraits of Muslim-Jewish relations. By contrast, some of the later travelers discussed in the book express condescending attitudes toward Islam, Muslims, and Near Eastern Jews. Placing shifting perspectives on the Muslim world in their historical, social, and literary contexts, Jacobs interprets these texts as mirrors of changing Jewish self-perceptions. As he argues, the travel accounts echo the various ways in which premodern Jews negotiated their mingled identities, which were neither exclusively Western nor entirely Eastern. What Really Happened in the Garden of Eden? Ziony Zevit, 2013-11-26 A provocative new interpretation of the Adam and Eve story from an expert in Biblical literature The Garden of Eden story one of the most famous narratives in Western history is typically read as an ancient account of original sin and humanity's fall from divine grace In this highly innovative study Ziony Zevit argues that this is not how ancient Israelites understood the early biblical text Drawing on such diverse disciplines as biblical studies geography archaeology mythology anthropology biology poetics law linguistics and literary theory he clarifies the worldview of the ancient Israelite readers during the First Temple period and elucidates what the story likely meant in its original context Most provocatively he contends that our ideas about original sin are based upon misconceptions originating in the Second Temple period under the influence of Hellenism He shows how for ancient Israelites the story was really about how humans achieved ethical discernment He argues further that Adam was not made from dust and that Eve was not made from Adam's rib His study unsettles much of what has been taken for granted about the story for more than two millennia and has far reaching implications for both literary and theological interpreters Classical Hebrew in the hands of Ziony Zevit is like a cello in the hands of a master cellist He knows all the hidden subtleties of the instrument and he makes you hear them in this rendition of the profoundly simple story of Adam Eve the Serpent and their Creator in the Garden of Eden Zevit brings a great deal of other biblical learning to bear in a surprisingly light hearted book Jack Miles author of God: A Biography
