Selected Essays, Volume II Andrew Louth, 2023 These two volumes contain selected essays written over forty years by Andrew Louth a major scholar in the fields of Theology and Patristics early Christian thought Many of the essays in volume II concern the nature of theology drawing from a famous group of twentieth century Russian thinkers exiled after the 1917 Communist revolution

Famous Affinities of History, Vol 2 Lyndon Orr, 2004-10 It has often been said that the greatest Frenchman who ever lived was in reality an Italian It might with equal truth be asserted that the greatest Russian woman who ever lived was in reality a German But the Emperor Napoleon and the Empress Catharine II resemble each other in something else Napoleon though Italian in blood and lineage made himself so French in sympathy and understanding as to be able to play upon the imagination of all France as a great musician plays upon a splendid instrument with absolute sureness of touch and an ability to extract from it every one of its varied harmonies So the Empress Catharine of Russia perhaps the greatest woman who ever ruled a nation though born of German parents became Russian to the core and made herself the embodiment of Russian feeling and Russian aspiration At the middle of the eighteenth century Russia was governed by the Empress Elizabeth daughter of Peter the Great In her own time and for a long while afterward her real capacity was obscured by her apparent indolence her fondness for display and her seeming vacillation but now a very high place is accorded her in the history of Russian rulers She softened the brutality that had reigned supreme in Russia She patronized the arts Her armies twice defeated Frederick the Great and raided his capital Berlin Had Elizabeth lived she would probably have crushed him

The Nature of Love, Volume 2 Irving Singer, 2009-02-20 An examination of ideas and ideals of medieval courtly love and the transition into later Romantic love analyzing the work of Dante Shakespeare and Schopenhauer among many others Review monumental Boston Globe one of the major works of philosophy in our century Nous wise and magisterial Times Literary Supplement and a masterpiece of critical thinking that is a timely eloquent and scrupulous account of what after all still makes the world go round Christian Science Monitor In the second volume Singer studies the ideas and ideals of medieval courtly love and nineteenth century Romantic love as well as the transition between these two perspectives According to the traditions of courtly love in the twelfth century and thereafter not only God but also human beings in themselves are capable of authentic love The pursuit of love between man and woman was seen as a splendid ideal that ennobles both the lover and the beloved It was something more than libidinal sexuality and involved sophisticated and highly refined courtliness that emulated religious love in its ability to create a holy union between the participants Adherents to Romantic love in later centuries affirmed the capacity of love to effect a merging between two people who thus became one Singer analyzes the transition from courtly to Romantic by reference to the writings of many artists beginning with Dante and ending with Richard Wagner as well as Neoplatonist philosophers of the Italian Renaissance Descartes Spinoza Rousseau Hume Kant Hegel and Schopenhauer In relation to romanticism itself he distinguishes between two aspects benign romanticism and Romantic pessimism that took on renewed importance in the twentieth century
