Slomovitz, Michael Tutterow,Jenny Kiehl,2025-01-24 In a world increasingly filled with ignorance prejudice and violence The Life of Jewish Jesus offers a word of hope This guide provides historical lessons that emphasize education religious connections and mutual respect Authors Jenny Kiehl a Catholic religious school administrator Rabbi Dr Albert Slomovitz a retired military chaplain and college professor and Reverend Michael Tutterow a retired Baptist pastor reflect the values espoused in this work They collaborated for more than 18 months in a respectful sharing caring environment On occasion they felt God s spirit hovering over them Throughout his life Jesus studied his Jewish faith deeply practiced it intensively and preached about it passionately Using key celebrations and customs of Jewish life our goal is to educate children about this essential reality of his life From birth to death his religious values influenced him daily It is these lifelong connections that this work shares with students More importantly The Life of Jewish Jesus provides students of all ages an historical basis to appreciate the numerous connections between Judaism and Christianity Each phase of Jesus s life is linked with comparable Christian beliefs and practices Those studying this book will realize we are all spiritual siblings striving to fulfill the biblical imperative to love your neighbor as yourself Service ,1916 Family Worship Church of Scotland,1842 Life and Death in Freud and Heidegger Havi Carel,2006-01-01 Life and Death in Freud and Heidegger argues that mortality is a fundamental structuring element in human life The ordinary view of life and death regards them as dichotomous and separate This book explains why this view is unsatisfactory and presents a new model of the relationship between life and death that sees them as interlinked Using Heidegger s concept of being towards death and Freud s notion of the death drive it demonstrates the extensive influence death has on everyday life and gives an account of its structural and existential significance. By bringing the two perspectives together, this book presents a reading of death that establishes its significance for life, creates a meeting point for philosophical and psychoanalytical perspectives, and examines the problems and strengths of each. It then puts forth a unified view based on the strengths of each position and overcoming the problems of each. Finally, it works out the ethical consequences of this view. This volume is of interest for philosophers, mental health practitioners, and those working in the field of death studies.

Dying and Death Asa Kasher, 2007. Death is a topic people are reluctant to ponder. Neither is dying a process that is usually being openly discussed. However, on a variety of occasions, dying and death are on a person's mind. Under some sensitive circumstances, he or she is eager to discuss with a close person, a friend, a professional. The present volume, the second in the Series on Dying and Death, is meant to enrich personal experience of dying or death by providing its reader with knowledge and understanding of some aspects of dying or death. Section 1 describes practices of mourning in different times and places: USA during the Civil War, Ashley Byock, the Island of Viz between Croatia and Italy, Kathleen Young, present-day Israel, Asa Kasher, medieval Serbia, Mira Crouch, and post-Holocaust USA, Paula David. Section 2 consists of reflections on mourning. It includes philosophical discussions of Friendship (Gary Peters, Grace Dana, Freibach, Heifetz) and the Other (Havi Carel), all in the context of mourning, as well as Mourning itself as a skill (Marguerite, Peggy Flynn). Section 3 brings papers on culture and suicide in early modern Holland (Laura Cruz), in historical Japan (Lawrence Fouraker), as well as in the Jazz age (Kathleen Jones). Section 4 discusses different predicaments of medics facing death and dying: terminal diagnosis (Angela Armstrong), Coster, palliative patients (Anna Taube), and the hospice setting (Elizabeth Gill).

Embracing Life Again After the Death of a Spouse Dr. Anniekie Ravhudzulo, 2011-01-12. When someone we love dies, our whole world is knocked off balance. One of the most common and yet difficult feelings you experience is isolation. It seems no one understands what you are going through. And many of us are so busy you don't take the time to fully grieve and therefore heal from your losses. It is very true that people who are grieving often feel extremely tired because the process of grieving usually requires physical and emotional energy. The grief you are feeling is not just for the person who died but also for the unfulfilled wishes and plans for the relationship with the person. Death often reminds most of the people of past losses or separations. Remember, there are a number of conditions that can make it harder for you as a person to successfully make it through the grief process. For example, sudden losses are harder to deal with than ones that have been anticipated. With anticipated losses, the knowledge that a loss will occur allows people to prepare both by feeling grief before the fact of the loss and also by planning ways to minimize the negative impact of the loss when it does occur. The loss of a spouse, lover, child, parent, or best friend is usually more deeply felt than the loss of more distant relations and friends. This is because such central relationships have long and deeply felt histories and an intensity of attachment that does not occur with more distant relationships. Central relationships are more deeply and significantly knitted into the grieving person's sense of self and thus leave a bigger hole in the grieving persons sense of self when they are lost I discovered that when things are going badly whether in the family or work environment most of us strive mightily to improve our situations But what if the way to overcome a series of losses and failures is just to sink into them We all go through trials and tribulations Everyone has difficult situations in their life It is the way we look at them and the way we handle those situations I believe it is the struggle we must endure to gain the strength needed to break through the barriers With every victory comes the strength we need to overcome the obstacles and move forward Most people today give up easily because of what you may call emotional downturn This book in your hand has been written and carefully thought out with you in mind It has been written to bring you out of your sociological pit and emotional defeat I therefore gladly recommend this book to your reading that you may be built in His grace I believe that God will never give you more than you can handle You often wonder how some people cope with their situations in life I often hear people saying IdontthinkIcoulddealwiththat but we dont know what strength lies within us until the time comes to face the challenge The harder the struggle the sweeter the victory No test no rewards
