The brazilian CFIA model as a mechanism for enhancing protection and respect for socio-economic rights Marina Martins Martes, 2023-09-28 This research evaluates whether the new model of investment agreement developed by Brazil CFIA is a mechanism for enhancing protection and respect for social and economic rights The research starts by exploring the origins of investment treaties their development and main characteristics It examines why investment treaties and socio economic rights are related by mapping cases in which investment treaties have already impaired the protection of such rights The research then analyzes how these two issues shall be jointly handled It considers international organizations initiatives to regulate business and human rights and investment treaties frameworks that foster sustainable development as well as new investment agreements models developed by different countries and then suggests criteria for evaluating whether an investment treaty is adequate from the socio economic rights standpoint Finally this research investigates the CFIA model brings a brief historical overview evaluates CFIA's wording and examines how some CFIA's institutional mechanisms consider corporate social responsibility issues In conclusion this research asserts that the CFIA model can be a mechanism for enhancing protection and respect for socio economic rights but some concerns particularly related to safeguarding States regulatory space and providing for stronger obligations to investors and States to protect human rights need to be addressed Need, Risk and Protection in Social Work Practice Steve Hothersall, Mike Maas-Lowit, 2010-05-06 This book provides a detailed and comprehensive guide to working with risk It begins by looking at notions of need vulnerability and protection and looks at the theoretical concepts of each before applying them to practice By using this combination of theory and practice the authors are able to integrate policy for a wide range of services users from older people to children families and younger adults Case studies accompany and illustrate each method and the reader is invited to engage in a number of exercises and activities to consolidate learning

Consumer Insurance (Disclosure and Representations) Bill [HL] Great Britain: Parliament: Special Public Bill Committee, 2011-12 Consumer Insurance Disclosure and Representations Bill HL Working with Risk Hazel Kemshall, Bernadette Wilkinson, Kerry Baker, 2013-10-30 Assessing and managing risk is a daily challenge for social workers Working with risk can be anxiety provoking and demanding requiring great skill and high levels of confidence In these complex situations social workers have to work hard to get the balance right This innovative book focuses on the development and use of skills for work with risk Using a range of case studies examples and reflective exercises the authors examine the key skills required to work effectively with risk Various chapters focus on assessment skills gathering and evaluation of information decision making challenges and ethical issues Recognising the difficulties presented in the context of busy statutory work there is a strong focus on practical skills and tips for improving risk management plans The book also pays careful attention to the emotional impact of working with risk with a final chapter on the management of self in the challenging and sometimes distressing world of social work Written in a reader friendly accessible style the book will be essential reading for students and staff across a range of social work settings including community care adult services child protection and mental health The Governance Gap Penelope Simons, Audrey Macklin, 2014-07-11 This book explores the persistence of the governance gap with respect to the human rights impacting conduct of transnational extractive corporations operating in zones of weak governance The authors launch their account with a fascinating case study of Talisman Energy's experience in Sudan informed by their own experience as members of the 1999 Canadian Assessment Mission to Sudan Harker Mission Drawing on new governance reflexive law and responsive law theories the authors assess legal and other non binding governance mechanisms that have emerged since that time including the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights They conclude that such mechanisms are incapable of systematically preventing human rights violating behaviour by transnational corporations or of assuring accountability of these actors or recompense for victims of such violations The authors contend that home state regulation while not a silver bullet has a crucial role to play in regulating such conduct They pick up where UN Special Representative John Ruggie s Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights left off and propose an innovative robust and adaptable template for strengthening the regulatory framework of home states Their model draws insights from the theoretical literature leverages existing public private transnational national soft and hard regulatory tools and harnesses the specific strengths of state based governance This book will be of interest to academics policy makers students civil society and business leaders

Environmental Law Dimensions of Human Rights Ben Boer, 2015-03-12 How can we guarantee a right to life or a right to health without also guaranteeing a decent environment in which to exercise these rights It is becoming increasingly obvious that a high quality environment is key to the fundamental human rights of life and health and associated rights such as the right to clean water adequate housing and food This book canvasses a range of law and policy issues concerning human rights and the environment Each chapter examines an aspect of the links between environmental law and human rights in substantive and or procedural terms loosely falling into four themes human rights and the environment in the context of the private sector analysis of decisions of the European and Inter American courts in respect of substantive and procedural aspects human rights and the environment in the Asian region including the issue of human displacement and the future direction of human rights and environment law

Contested Issues in the Evaluation of Child Sexual Abuse Kathleen Faller, Mark Everson, 2016-01-08 This book represents a significant contribution to the highly contested debate surrounding how allegations of child sexual abuse should be evaluated Despite decades of substantial research in this sensitive area professional consensus remains elusive A particular source of contention is the sensitivity vs specificity debate whether evaluators should aim to reduce the number of true allegations that are labelled false or to reduce the number of false allegations that are labelled true This edited collection aims to address directly and offer new insights into this debate It responds directly to Kuehnle and Connell s edited volume The Evaluation of Child Sexual Abuse Allegations A Comprehensive Guide to Assessment and Testimony 2009 which included chapters which advocated strong specificity positions at the expense of sensitivity The chapters in this collection feature both challenges to and replies by the authors in Kuehnle and Connell s book making this an essential resource that moves the debate forward This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Child Sexual Abuse
