Good Women Of China Hidden Voices:

The Good Women of China Xinran, 2008-11-26 When Deng Xiaoping's efforts to open up China took root in the late 1980s Xinran recognized an invaluable opportunity. As an employee for the state radio system she had long wanted to help improve the lives of Chinese women. But when she was given clearance to host a radio call-in show she barely anticipated the enthusiasm it would quickly generate. Operating within the constraints imposed by government censors, Words on the Night Breeze sparked a tremendous outpouring and the hours of tape on her answering machines were soon filled every night. Whether angry or muted posing questions or simply relating experiences, these anonymous women bore witness to decades of civil strife and of halting attempts at self-understanding in a painfully restrictive society. In this collection by turns heartrending and inspiring, Xinran brings us the stories that affected her most and offers a graphically detailed, altogether unprecedented work of oral history.

The Good Women of China Xinran, 2009 This work presents women's stories collected by Xinran Xue when she was hosting a radio phone-in programme about women's lives in China. The stories reveal what it means to be a woman in today's China, telling of almost inconceivable suffering as well as love in the face of cruelty and politics.

The Good Women of China Xinran, 2011-03-18 An unprecedented intimate account of the lives of modern Chinese women told by the women themselves: true stories of the political and personal upheavals they have endured in their chaotic and repressive society. For eight groundbreaking years Xinran hosted a radio program in China during which she invited women to call in and talk about themselves. Broadcast every evening, Words on the Night Breeze became famous throughout the country for its unflinching portrayal of what it meant to be a woman in modern China. Centuries of obedience to their fathers, husbands, and sons followed by years of fear under Communism had made women terrified of talking openly about their feelings. Xinran won their trust and through her compassion and ability to listen became the first woman to hear their true stories. This unforgettable book is the story of how Xinran negotiated the minefield of restrictions imposed on Chinese journalists to reach out to women across the country. Through the vivid intimacy of her writing, these women confide in the reader, sharing their deepest secrets. Whether they are the privileged wives of party leaders or peasants in a forgotten corner of the countryside, they tell of almost inconceivable suffering: forced marriages, sexual abuse, separation of parents from their children, extreme poverty. But they also talk about love, about how, despite cruelty, despite politics, the urge to nurture and cherish remains. Their stories changed Xinran's understanding of China forever. Her book will reveal the lives of Chinese women to the West as never before.

, Life in a Kam Village in Southwest China Chao Quan Ou, 2007 This insider's account is an unparalleled study of the culture in a Kam Dong village in Southwest China during the 1930s and 1940s before Liberation in 1949. It describes the culture objectively and anecdotally and is distinctive for its honesty and clarity.

Translating Chinese Fiction Tan Yesheng, 2024-06-28 Drawing on the cognitive-translatological paradigm, this book introduces a situation-embedded cognitive construction model of translation.

and explores the thinking portfolios of British and American sinologists cum translators to re-examine their multiple voices and cognition in translating Chinese fiction. By placing sinologists cum translators in the same discourse space, the study transcends the limitations of previous case studies and offers a comprehensive cognitive panorama of how Chinese novels are rendered. The author explores the challenges and difficulties of translating Chinese fiction from the insider perspectives of British and American sinologists and cross-validates their multiple voices by aligning them with cross-cultural communication scenarios. Based on the cognitive construction model of translation, the book provides a systematic review of the translation thoughts and ideas of the community of sinologists in terms of linguistic conventions, narrative styles, contextual and cultural frames, readership categories, and metaphorical models of translation. It envisions a new research path to enhance empirical research on translators' cognition in a dynamic translation ecosystem. The title will be an essential read for students and scholars of translation studies and Chinese studies. It will also appeal to translators and researchers interested in cognitive stylistics, literary studies, and intercultural communication studies. Being a Mother in a Strange Land Shu-Yi Huang, 2019-05-21

This text provides an alternative narrative to the humble and often exclusively male voices of the first generation Chinese migrants. Despite Chinese migrants having migrated to the Netherlands since 1911, particularly after World War Two, and female migrants outnumbering male migrants, their everyday life and transnational motherhood experiences have remained largely unknown. Based on the narratives of 38 Chinese migrant women from Taiwan, Hong Kong, and China, this book brings women, their lives, and opinions to the center of Dutch migration history. Women Interned in World War Two Sumatra Barbara Coombes, 2022-08-25

Thousands of women and children were among those who struggled to leave Singapore just before capitulation on February 15, 1942. Their hope was to reach safety. For many, that hope was never realized; countless numbers drowned as ships were bombed and sunk on their way to safety. The lucky ones who survived the onslaught of the ships would become guests of the Japanese; many of these would not live to see the end of the war. Two very different women fleeing on those last ships and subsequently interned in camps throughout Sumatra were Margaret Dryburgh, a missionary and teacher, and Shelagh Brown, a secretary at the Singapore Naval Base. Their paths crossed briefly prior to the catastrophic events of 1942 and met again in internment. The Captives Hymn, composed by Margaret Dryburgh, was initially sung by herself along with Shelagh Brown and friend Dorothy MacLeod on 5 July 1942. It has since been sung at services throughout internment and continues to be sung at services all over the world. Music and faith were fundamental to both their lives, and Margaret's creative talents lifted the spirits of everyone during those dark and difficult days. In a remarkable partnership when the women were struggling to find something new that would lift their flagging spirits, Margaret and fellow internee Norah Chambers produced a Vocal Orchestra using women's voices in place of instruments. The first performance stunned the entire camp; they had never heard anything so beautiful and momentarily made them feel that they were free and floating away with the music. This true account, using personal diaries and family documents, traces Margaret Dryburgh and Shelagh Brown's journey from childhood through to adulthood and internment. Early life shapes adult life and perhaps contributed to their response to captivity which showed courage, tenacity, perseverance and surprisingly given the appalling conditions a good deal of humour. Telling Stories to Change the World Rickie Solinger, Madeline Fox, Kayhan Irani, 2010-11-16 Telling Stories to Change the World is a powerful collection of essays about community based and interest based projects where storytelling is used as a strategy for speaking out for justice. Contributors from locations across the globe including Uganda, Darfur, China, Afghanistan, South Africa, New Orleans and Chicago describe grassroots projects in which communities use narrative as a way of exploring what a more just society might look like and what civic engagement means. These compelling accounts of resistance, hope and vision showcase the power of the storytelling form to generate critique and collective action. Together these projects demonstrate the contemporary power of stories to stimulate engagement, active citizenship, the pride of identity and the humility of human connectedness.

The Asian Mystique Sheridan Prasso, 2009-04-29 Few Westerners escape the images, expectations and misperceptions that lead us to see Asia as exotic, sensual, decadent, dangerous and mysterious. Despite and because of centuries of East-West interaction, the stereotypes of Western literature, stage and screen remain pervasive icons: the tea-pouring, submissive, sexually available geisha girl; the steely cold dragon lady dominatrix; as well as the portrayal of the Asian male as effeminate and asexual. These Oriental illusions color our relations and relationships in ways even well-respected professional Asia hands and scholars don't necessarily see. The Asian Mystique lays out a provocative challenge to see Asia and Asians as they really are, with unclouded, de-eroticized eyes. It traces the origins of Western stereotypes in history and in Hollywood, examines the phenomenon of yellow fever, then goes on a reality tour of Asia's go-go bars, middle class homes, college campuses, business districts and corridors of power, providing intimate profiles of women's lives and vivid portraits of the human side of an Asia we usually mythologize too well to really understand. It strips away our misconceptions and stereotypes, revealing instead the fully dimensional human beings beyond our usual perceptions. The Asian Mystique is required reading for anyone with interest in or interaction with Asia or Asian origin people, as well as any serious student or practitioner of East-West relations.

Teachers' Identities and Life Choices Pattie Luk-Fong, 2012-11-08 This book discusses issues related to teachers' identities and life choices when globalisation and localisation are enmeshed. It examines how competing cultural traditions and contexts acted as resources or constraints in framing teachers' identities and their negotiations in the family and the work domains according to their gender, positioning their roles in the family such as husband, wife, father, mother, brother, sister, son and daughter, and roles in the school such as principal, senior teacher or regular teacher. Contrary to an essentialist approach to identity and culture, teachers' stories show that their identities and life choices were hardly free choices but were often part and parcel of the culture and contexts in which they were embedded. Teachers' identities are found to be fluid, complex, hybrid and multifaceted. Using Hong Kong as a case study, this book provides not only traces of the continuity and changes of Confucian self and cardinal relationships but also a glimpse of how educational reform as neo capitalist discourses in the workplace interacts with Confucian cultural traditions creating new hybrid practices problems or possibilities or both in the school and in the daily lives of teachers

Translation and Global Spaces of Power Stefan Baumgarten, Jordi Cornellà-Detrell, 2018-10-09 This book focuses on the role of translation in a globalising world It presents a series of case studies that explore the ways in which translation is subject to ideology and power play across diverging domains and genres Broadly based on a discussion of translation and the economies of power the chapters examine an array of contextual and textual factors ranging from global regional and institutional power relations to the linguistic stylistic and rhetorical implications of translation decisions The book maps the multiple ways in which power relations and ideological positions affect cross cultural communication with special reference to repressive practices in history translation policies media power and commercial hegemonies It concludes that future translation research will benefit from a more sustained emphasis on the power of technology and economic capital

Revolution and Witchcraft Gordon C. Chang, 2023-01-20 Ideas influence people In particular extremely well developed sets of ideas shape individuals groups and societies in far reaching ways This book establishes these idea systems as an academic concept Through three intense episodes of manipulation and mayhem connected to idea systems Europe s witch hunts the Mao Zedong era revolutions and the early campaign of the U S War on Terror this book charts the cognitive and informational matrices that seize control of people s mentalities and behaviors across societies Through these the author reaches two conclusions The first that we are all vulnerable to the dominating influence of our own matrices of ideas and to those woven by others in the social system The second that even the most masterful manipulators of idea programs may lose control of the outcomes of programmatic manipulation Amongst this analysis sixty plus central conceptual terminologies are provided for readers to analyze multiform idea systems that exist across space time and cultural contexts This is an open access book

Capitalism, For and Against Ann E. Cudd,Nancy Holmstrom,2011-01-06 Political philosophy and feminist theory have rarely examined in detail how capitalism affects the lives of women Ann Cudd and Nancy Holmstrom take up opposing sides of the issue debating whether capitalism is valuable as an ideal and whether as an actually existing economic system it is good for women In a discussion covering a broad range of social and economic issues including unequal pay industrial reforms and sweatshops they examine how these and other issues relate to women and how effectively to analyze what constitutes capitalism and women's interests. Each author also responds to the opposing arguments providing a thorough debate of the topics covered. The resulting volume will interest a wide range of readers in philosophy, political theory, women's studies and global affairs.

The Story Behind Anne Holm's I Am David Mary Colson, 2006-07-01. Provides a background for Anne Holm's novel by looking at relevant biographical details about her life and providing historical details that place the story in context with a literary analysis of the novel.
