

Toast by Leonard Nathan

There was a woman in Ithaca who cried softly all night in the next room and helpless I fell in love with her under the blanket of snow that settled on all the roofs of the town, filling up every dark depression.

Next morning in the motel coffee shop I studied all the made-up faces of women. Was it the middle-aged blonde who kidded the waitress or the young brunette lifting her cup like a toast?

Love, whoever you are, your courage was my companion for many cold towns after the betrayal of Ithaca, and when I order coffee in a strange place, still I say, lifting, this is for you.

You, Too, Could Write a Poem David Orr, 2017-02-07 A collection of reviews and essays by David Orr the New York Times poetry columnist and one of the most respected critics in America today his best work of the past fifteen years in one place Poetry is never more vital meaningful or accessible than in the hands of David Orr In the pieces collected here most of them written originally for the New York Times Orr is at his rigorous conversational and edifying best Whether he is considering the careers of contemporary masters such as Louise Glück or Frederick Seidel sizing up younger American poets like Matthea Harvey and Matthew Zapruder or even turning his attention to celebrities and public figures namely Oprah Winfrey and Stephen Fry when they choose to wade into the hotly contested waters of the poetry world Orr is never any less than fully persuasive in arguing what makes a poem or poet great or not After all as Orr points out in his introduction Poetry is a lot like America in the sense that liking all of it means that you probably shouldn't be trusted with money or scissors Orr's prose is devoted to common sense and clarity and in every case he brings to bear an impeccable ear an openhandedness of spirit and a deep wealth of technical knowledge to say nothing of his shrewd sense of humor As pleasurable as it is informative Orr's journalism represents a high watermark in the public discussion of literature You Too Could Write a Poem is at heart a love note to poetry itself

Simul Mark Patrick Odland, 2007-08 While serving at a church in 2005 I began to dream about publishing an anthology of poetry written by Lutherans After personally contacting 28 Lutheran colleges 8 Lutheran seminaries and almost 8 000 Lutheran congregations the poetry submissions poured in by the hundreds making my dream a reality When the final deadline had passed I had received over 1 200 poems written by pastors professors and dozens of everyday Lutherans from all walks of life Selected authors range from newly discovered talent to well known Lutheran poets and hymn writers To hear their stories and read their poetry was a great gift to me and I will be forever grateful for the experience It is my hope and prayer that these poems might find a special place in your heart and that they might be a blessing to you and your family now and for years to come Mark Odland editor Mark Patrick Odland is a published poet and visual artist from Alexandria MN A graduate of Augustana College and Luther Seminary Mark currently serves as pastor of outreach and new ministry development at Living Waters Lutheran Church in Sauk Rapids MN He is happily married to Rachel and they are expecting their first child a little girl in September of 2007 Mark feels a strong calling to encourage inspire and nourish the arts within the larger church and believes that the creation of SIMUL Lutheran Voices in Poetry is simply one of many ways to help make this a reality

Wreading Jed Rasula, 2022-03-29 Jed Rasula is a preeminent scholar of avant garde poetics noted for his erudition intellectual range and critical independence He's also a gifted writer his recent books have won praise for their entertaining clear prose in addition to their scholarship He is also an alumnus of UAP's distinguished Modern and Contemporary Poetics series which published his Syncopations fifteen years ago Rasula returns to the MCP series with Wreading A collection of essays interviews and occasional writings that reflects the breadth and diversity of his curiosity One of the referees likened Wreading to a victory lap but one that sets its own further record in the taking This is a collection of highlights from Rasula's shorter critical pieces but also a carefully assembled and revised intellectual autobiography Wreading consists of two parts an assortment of Rasula's solo criticism and selected interviews and conversations with other critics and scholars Evelyn Reilly Leonard Schwartz Tony Tost Mike Chasar Joel Bettridge and Ming Qian Ma The collection opens with a trio of essays that complicate the idea of a poet By interrogating the selection of poets for anthologies in the 20th century Rasula identifies a host of forgotten poets once prominent but now forgotten Another essay on the state of the poetry anthology reveals how much influence literary gatekeepers have and what a reimagination of the anthology form could make possible In subsequent chapters Rasula finds surprising overlap between Dada and Ralph Waldo Emerson charts the deep links between image and poetic inspiration and reckons with Ron Silliman's The Alphabet a UAP classic In the book's second half Rasula engages in detailed conversations with a roster of fellow critics Their exchanges confront ecopoetics the corporate university the sheer volume of contemporary poetry and more This substantial set of dialogues gives readers a glimpse inside a master critic's deeply informed critical practice and lists his intellectual touchstones The balance between essay and interview achieves a distillation of Rasula's long established idea of wreading In his original use the term denotes how any act of criticism inherently adds to the body of writing that it purports to read how Rasula couldn't help but participate in his favorite poems In this latest form Wreading captures a critical perception that sparks insight and imagination no matter what it sees
