Stakeholder Engagement Aimee L. Franklin, 2020-06-18 This book analyses the relationship between stakeholder engagement practices and organizational sustainability across sectors and disciplines It illuminates the relationships between the inputs and processes vital for all kinds of organizations to engage stakeholders Then it describes the mutually valued outcomes that can produce broader organizational impacts and sustainability Each chapter is structured around a logic model that provides an analytical framework to engage the reader in strategic analysis and offer practical applications for adaptation and implementation in any organization The book encourages the reader to systematically consider the descriptive instrumental and normative aspects of stakeholder theory as a precursor to designing stakeholder engagement practices

Globalism and Local Democracy R. Hambleton, H. Savitch, M. Stewart, 2002-06-06 This new book argues that cities and citizens are not helpless victims in a global flow of events Three crucial questions are addressed through the three part structure What is the nature of the globalization What resulting challenges now confront cities and localities How can local leaders respond to this changing environment in ways which strengthen local democracy Written by leading urban scholars in Europe and North America the book draws on a range of disciplines to enhance academic understanding and illuminate lessons for policy and practice

Utopia Between Corrupted Public Responsibility and Contested Modernisation Peter Herrmann, 2005 In the present volume Cathal O Connel looks at the retreat of the public in the area of housing The changing ownership structures actually affect largely the entire modes of living together societally and socially accommodation and settlement structures are reconstructed under a certain aegis of privatised options of which an enforced opting out is one of the forms of the de civilising role of the regulated de regulation by which the state is backing out public responsibility creating space for a new invisible hand though this is highly visible in form of multinational capital The same shift of the individualisation of the social is pertinent in third level education which Deirdre Ryan and Peter Herrmann are investigating In the EU the current debate on what is called Services of General Interests the focus is on access and quality Ryan Herrmann clarify in a distinguished way that in this educational context economy matters not only in regard of accessibility but as well in quality not least in the meaning of trimming substance What in these cases is more linked to individual policy areas radiating and affecting indirectly the entire societal and social fabric is mirrored and coined by the wider mechanisms of policy making and actually politics Catherine Forde points on respective mechanisms in local government making clear that formal restructuration actually does not open closed systems instead they create a kind of black whole claims of opening spaces for participation degenerate into unlevelled playgrounds Problems of balancing such open spaces between the formal openness and the actually available real living space are topical in Rosie Meade s contribution It is getting obvious that responsibility is both a question of rights and personal commitment Joe Finnerty in his contribution points on the most important fact that the role of scientific research and the measurement of social and societal processes is as well not least a matter of commitment it has to be guaranteed and clarified and objective reason is not concerned with expelling subjective factors and artificially reducing complexity by constructing arithmetical constraints instead the development of indicator oriented methods has to sublate and supersede complexity
