Routledge Handbook on the European Union and International Institutions Knud Erik Jørgensen, Katie Verlin Laatikainen, 2013 This Handbook addresses the increasingly contested issue of profound political importance: Europe's presence in multilateral institutions. The International Relations of the European Union G. Wyn Rees, Michael Smith, 2008 The European Union's Roles in International Politics Ole Elgström, Michael Smith, 2006-08-21 This volume sets out explicitly and systematically to bring together the two strands of political science: the study of the EU's international activities and IR theory, and thus to make a significant original contribution to a developing literature. It provides both a conceptual and empirical argument: the volume provides an innovative perspective on the analysis of the European Union as an international actor and on the ways in which EU actions are formed and have impact. The volume deals with a number of topical issues in such areas as human rights, global governance and the roles of international organizations. It offers a research agenda based on rigorous development of the framework for role analysis and demonstrates the ways in which this agenda might be furthered.

Perceptions of the European Union's Identity in International Relations Anna Skolimowska, 2018-12-07 This book examines the perception of European Union's identity by the main actors in international relations. Analysing issues related to public discourse in third countries as demonstrated by amongst others their political elites, civil society and think tanks, the book highlights a normative gap with regards to the European Union's self-definition, perception and its perception in the international environment. It also shows that the European Union's perception of normative power in international relations is not shared consistently by the main principal actor yet is differentiated relative to geographical area and scope of activities undertaken by the EU. It demonstrates that the perception of the EU's normative identity is a source of the crisis of the European Union as an effective and significant player in the international arena. This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of European Union politics, European politics studies, European integration, identity politics and international relations.

The EU as a State-builder in International Affairs Labinot Greiçevci, 2021-11-04 This book presents a systematic in depth and comparative analysis of the role of the EU in the process of international state building and is one of the first comprehensive books to do so at an international level. Taking the case of Kosovo, it examines the EU's role in the birth of a state in comparison to other international actors from 1999 to 2008 and moves on to analyse the EU's role in norm diffusion in the post-independence period 2008 2020 Throughout the book the author draws parallel analyses with broader debates and scholarly literature regarding the EU's role as a state builder or norm diffuser Combining a liberal peace thesis framework with the normative power Europe NPE approach it analyses how successful the EU and other international actors were in the diffusion of tangible and normative impacts in the process of state building in Kosovo 1999 2008 along with the EU's diffusion of normative impact from 2008 to 2020 Finally it scrutinises the role of the EU and other international actors in the processes of state building through transference tools funding and overt tools political role This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of EU foreign policy European politics peace and conflict studies the Western Balkans state building international organisations and more broadly to international relations

European Union Communities of Practice Maren Hofius, 2022-12-22 This book provides a practice based analysis of European Union EU diplomacy and community building Unlike studies focusing on how EU community building proceeds centrally in Brussels this book turns to EU diplomacy in its bordering state of Ukraine At a time when the EU's internal cohesion is being put to the test this book provides novel insights into how feelings of belonging are produced amongst its members in the absence of a homogenous we Transcending the traditional dichotomy between macro structures and micro processes of interaction the book demonstrates that the EU's large scale community depends for its existence on practical instantiations of community building in distinct communities of practice Using the case of an EU diplomatic community of practice in Kyiv Ukraine takes these questions to the EU's margins highlighting that the boundaries of community are key sites in which community materialises The in depth case study identifies diplomats boundary work as the constitutive rule that makes the local community of practice cohere and create feelings of belonging to the large scale polity of the EU This book will be of interest to researchers of European studies as well as to those working on global cooperation and international relations more broadly

European Union Enlargement Thomas Mehlhausen, 2015-08-11 The continuous expansion of the European Union has transformed its very own self conception While Eastern enlargement was widely celebrated as the reuniting of Europe the sheer number of applicants their low economic development and the need for new states to transform in accordance with EU values required considerable adjustments to the EU's self image By examining the European Council's contentious approval of the Mediterranean and Central and Eastern European countries in the 1970s and 1990s this book investigates why the European Union enlarges Based on new and hitherto not analysed data it introduces the concept of anomie to the discourse and in doing so makes a timely contribution to the literature of constitutional politics and enlargement of the European Union This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of the European Union area studies European studies central and east European studies Mediterranean studies and more broadly comparative politics and constitutional politics
