Rapping, 1988 Trade Reorganization Act of 1983 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Governmental Affairs, 1984 Restructuring American Foreign Policy John D. Steinbruner, 2010-12-01 In the final days of this century the United States will need to amend the core of its foreign policy a formidable task in a large democracy American thinking still grounded in post World War II perceptions has failed to keep pace with the demands of a changing world New realities in the U S and international economies in security conditions and in world politics call for restructuring American foreign policy The policy experts contributing to this volume state the process of public debate that must precede the hard political choices ahead Barry P Bosworth and Robert Z Lawrence consider the ramifications of an American economy no longer an implicit source of leverage in pursuing policy objectives William W Kaufmann prescribes ways to preserve international commitments and ensure American security in spite of fiscally constrained defense budgets John D Steinbruner discusses efforts to achieve a more stable military balance In a related chapters Kenneth Flamm and Thomas L McNaugher propose a redraft of American investment patterns to make the defense technology more consistent with contemporary security requirements All of this domestic restructuring will take place within the constraints and opportunities created by recent changes in China and the Soviet Union continued economic expansion in Japan and persistent unrest in the Middle East Harry Harding and Ed A Hewett review the prospects for reform in China and the Soviet Union Harry Harding and Edward Lincoln describe the surge in many Asian economies and the increased importance of Japan as a world power And in the final chapter Harold H Saunders turns attention to the Middle East where identifying desirable solutions continues to be far easier than finding realistic methods for achieving them The inauguration of a new administration creates an opportunity for political debate a new conceptual focus and effective political consensus Restructuring American F Reorganizing the Government's International Trade and Investment Functions United States. Speculation And The Dollar Laurence Krause, 2019-07-11 I began serious consideration of the issues and subject matter that comprise this book as a graduate student at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst In need of a dissertation topic and vaguely curious about international monetary economics I decided to sit in on Leonard Rapping's undergraduate course on international finance Needless to say I was soon hooked Within several months I was teaching my own course on international money and beginning to write an outline of what would become my doctoral dissertation on foreign exchange speculation Once completed the dissertation thesis became the basis for this book

The State and American Foreign Economic Policy G. John Ikenberry, David A. Lake, Michael Mastanduno, 1988 How has the U S government made the nation's foreign economic policy over the last hundred years Social scientists have traditionally presented the American state as relatively weak its policies as directly reflecting the domestic balance of strength among interested social groups and economic sectors This collection of essays by seven notable young political scientists provides a theoretical reevaluation of the forces at work in national policy making and present evidence that the effectiveness of the national government in shaping U S policy has been greatly underestimated

Restructuring Hegemony in the Global Political Economy Henk W Overbeek, 1993-05-06 Since the late 1970s the spread of Neo liberalism and the failure of socialist economies and systems in Eastern Europe have resulted in a practically unchallenged hegemony of international capital across the globe Neo liberalism is now the dominant ideology legitimizing the privatisation of state controlled economies and the substitution of the International Capitalism and Industrial Restructuring Richard Peet, 2024-09-30 First published in 1987 International Capitalism and Industrial Restructuring counters the idea that industrial restructuring is a relatively problem free stage in the evolution to a post industrial society The editor argues that the permanent loss of eight million manufacturing jobs in the advanced industrial countries over the past ten years has had extremely serious effects on people economies and societies and that it is a major cause of economic recession The six million jobs gained in the newly industrializing countries pay low wages expose workers to hazards destroy local cultures and fail in generating integrated development for the Third World Many outstanding articles are included drawn from a wide variety of radical journals with introductions that set the scene and pose challenging questions All students and researchers concerned with industrial restructuring in the capitalist world will find the book valuable as a radical critique of widespread current economic problems Business America ,1980 Includes articles on international business opportunities

Restructuring the French Economy William James Adams,2010-12-01 At the end of World War II experts on both sides of the Atlantic believed that France was doomed to economic stagnation French culture and institutions they argued inhibited the changes in economic structure that sustained growth would require But in spite of these predictions and the occasional volatility of the world economy the French economy grew rapidly Only the Japanese of the major economies has grown faster and by 1975 the French standard of living matched that of West Germany Restructuring the French Economy looks at the four decades of the structural changes that fostered growth and explores explanations of why such changes occurred Drawing on many and diverse primary materials including government statistics judicial decisions and professional memoirs Adams examines three different explanations of France s postwar economic success The first downplays the extent of structural change during the surge of growth The second emphasizes the importance of government policies to compensate for inadequate private initiative The third suggests that European economic integration and French decolonization created enough market competition to push the private sector into its own restructuring Adams stresses that if government initiatives worked well they did so in an environment of strong market competition if competition seemed to work wonders it occurred only as a result of government actions He also devotes considerable attention to the implications of his findings for U S policy concerning European protectionism and the health and growth of American industries Industrial Restructuring and Trade Reorientation in Eastern Europe Michael A. Landesmann,István P. Székely,1995-04-13 This book examines the reorientation of foreign trade and industrial restructuring in Eastern Europe

Restructuring, Stabilizing and Modernizing the New Russia Paul J.J. Welfens,Evgeny Gavrilencov,2012-12-06 Russia has embarked upon a difficult process of systemic transformation and economic opening up While the initial strong GDP decline seemed to have ended in 1997 the real development was facing even more difficult problems as output declined sharply after the Ruble and banking crisis of August 1998 inflation started to increase again exports and imports were falling capital flight increasing and unemployment rising There is broad disappointment in Russia regarding the transformation failure in 1998 since so many people had hoped that the end of the Soviet command economy would bring democracy prosperity and international integration While Poland has been able to double per capita income in the 1990s it has fallen by 50% in Russia and this despite considerable IMF involvement and some modest support from other international organizations What were the reasons for transformation failure in the 1990s What are the ingredients for long term sustainable transformation What are the internal and international requirements to avoid a second possibly tragic failure of transformation in Russia An international group of researchers has focussed on these problems during a two year research project financed by the Alfried Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach Foundation A series of papers were presented at workshops in Potsdam Bonn and Moscow in 1999 where this book is devoted to four important issues the Russian transformation crisis the topic of restructuring the need for stabilizing Russia and the requirements for modernizing Russia
