Interpersonal Skills For Helping Professionals An Interactive Online Guide For Students Blackboard Version:

Interpersonal Skills for Helping Professionals Beverly B. Palmer, 2003-02 Help your students develop the interpersonal skills necessary for all helping relationships by providing them with access to this interactive Web site. This maximally interactive and mastery based online supplement develops the interpersonal skills necessary for all human relationships: counseling, communication, conflict resolution, and intercultural competencies. Developed by counselor educators for educators and their students, Interpersonal Skills for Helping Professionals features the most advanced educational technology and instructional design available today. Most faculty will be using a main textbook in the course, and this online supplement will augment and enrich that text, offering pre-loaded course material in an interactive and experiential format. To make use of this supplement even easier for instructor and students, the author provides chapter correlations for several widely used main texts. The physical product shipped to college bookstores will consist of a 32 page Interactive Guide for Students 0 205 38667 9 which contains an access code to the Web site. The Web site houses all content within either the Pearson CourseCompass course management tool or the Blackboard course management format, instructor's choice. Instructors may use Interpersonal Skills for Helping Professionals as is for a ready-made supplementary mini-course in counseling or communication skills, or they can customize it by adding their own content, Web links, and images. They may personalize this modular mastery-based course to meet individual student needs by using its rich set of tools such as course management and tracking of student progress, threaded discussion groups, and integrated e-mail.

Learning from the COVID-19 Pandemic RC Sobti,Vipin Sobti,Aditi Sobti,2023-08-24 COVID 19 is a highly contagious viral illness caused by severe acute respiratory syndrome SARSCoV 2 It has had a devastating effect on the world s demographics with high morbidity and mortality worldwide After the influenza pandemic of 1918 it has emerged as the most consequential global health crisis After the first cases of this predominantly respiratory viral illness were first reported in Wuhan Hubei Province China in late December 2019 SARS CoV 2 rapidly disseminated across the world in a short span of time compelling the World Health Organization WHO to declare it a global pandemic on March 11 2020 The outbreak of COVID 19 has proven to be a worldwide unprecedented disaster It has physically psychologically socially and economically afflicted billions of people across the globe Its transmission is significantly high Serious postrecovery has been noticed in a large number of people The virus is highly mutable and new and new strains are appearing and many of them such as delta BA1 and BA2 subvariants as well as their hybrids have been considered by the WHO as concerning. The virus has exhibited deleterious impacts on bodily systems other than the respiratory system, primary target such as the brain, hematological system, liver, kidneys, endocrine system, etc. Right after its declaration as a pandemic by the WHO in March 2020, governments in various countries declared lockdowns to combat the spread of disease, causing major disruption to the lives of billions of people. Besides the impact on health and healthcare systems, education was changed with the introduction of online and/or hybrid systems to help students continue to learn. Though the pandemic has subsided, now the emergence of new variants continues, and lifestyle changes such as online learning and work from home have continued. Researchers who successfully mitigated the negative impact of social media and effectively used it for acceptance of medicinal or non-medicinal measures during pandemics by developing a realtime information sharing system and assembling a multidisciplinary team of experts to collect and analyze data from a variety of social media platforms across the global diaspora to better understand people's perceptions and attitudes, as well as to spot early warning signs of error and correct them before they proliferate. They also emphasized the necessity of addressing people's perceptions in order to increase awareness and education so that social media may be used to promote public trust, collaboration, and improved adherence to epidemic control measures. In totality, the pandemic affected the environment and ecosystem as a whole positively due to a decrease in vehicles on roads and less movement of persons from one place to another. However, medical waste was increased, and new measures were needed to handle it. People have had to change their habits in everyday life in order to live with the pandemic and protect themselves and others. This volume focuses on the implications of COVID-19 on education, environment, and lifestyle. It includes chapters on the transformation of education systems and introduction of hybrid modes of education, impact on environment, management of solid wastes, and development of innovative gadgets and architectural designs to help deal with the pandemic. Other chapters cover diet, family systems, and adoption of new norms in pandemic times. This book will be a valued resource for students, teachers, and researchers of social science and science, as well as public health workers.
