Departing from a Roman Catholic perspective, Lieven Boeve offers a theological reflection upon the challenges faced by the Church amidst the contemporary chasm between faith and culture. In Western Europe, the Church's power and influence over society has been weakened. At the start of the twenty-first century, the Christian tradition in Europe confronts the modernizing forces of secularism, pluralism, and capitalism. Amidst these social conditions, Boeve argues that the Church must present the Christian faith's meaning and purpose in a more persuasive fashion. This book presents the latest results of Boeve's study as the coordinator of the research group 'Theology in a Postmodern Context' and as professor of fundamental theology at the Catholic University of Leuven in Belgium.

Similar to the Lutheran scholar George Lindbeck, Boeve approaches the Christian tradition as a kind of linguistic system. Boeve draws from discourse theory in order to describe how the Catholic Church linguistically constructs and negotiates its identity today. Boeve regards the Christian tradition as both historically situated and flexible amidst changing circumstances. He engages in an interdisciplinary dialogue with the results of cultural, sociological, and philosophical analysis. His essay contends that theology should be reflexive and dedicated to critically understanding social change in Europe. Thus, he cautions believers to avoid the extremes of fundamentalism and atheism as they confront modernity.

This book prompts readers to revisit the missiological question of what exactly constitutes the Gospel's inculturation in a particular society. In order to evangelize, pastoral initiatives need to be carried on from within the thought-patterns of a specific culture. As Boeve indicates, the Church's efforts to achieve such integration, in the years since the Second Vatican Council, have not been very productive in Europe. Much work needs to be done. He urges the Church to re-contextualize the Christian message and way of life so that it addresses the social conditions of contemporary Europe. For example, in the location of Flanders, as in many other places around the world, there has been an ongoing crisis of confidence in the Christian tradition, illustrated by the massive decline in Church attendance, the prevalence of 'New Age' spirituality, and a popular turn to other world religions. It seems that Christian culture is worn out.

In light of the Church's condition of diaspora, this book proposes a framework to renew the dialogue between faith and culture. For Boeve, the 'open-narrative' or interrupted-tradition is based upon three structural factors: (1) faith

Interrupting Tradition Lieven Boeve, 2003 Not so long ago it would have been fair to say that the Catholic Church and the Catholic faith determined human life and social existence more or less unquestioned in Flanders and in a large part of Western Europe The Catholic faith community in Flanders today however is struggling with the fact that the transmission of the Christian tradition has been flagging in recent years This has not only led to diminished faith engagement and a massive decline in church attendance it has also had its effects in the cultural domain culture has become de traditionalised traditional Christian culture is worn out Even convinced Christians are having problems reflecting on the plausibility of their faith precisely because of the chasm that has opened up between faith and culture The author of the present study argues that every new context challenges the Christian tradition to recontextualise its presentation of meaning and purpose in a cogent and credible fashion Christians today do themselves a disservice when they withdraw into a world of absolute self justification At the same time however the author avoids any form of appeal for an extensive adaptation to the postmodern context Only a new dialogue between tradition and culture respectful of and indeed thanks to the growing division between both can claim to offer a future In the first part of the book the author provides a pithy description of the vicissitudes of the Christian tradition in modernity and postmodernity Against this background he attempts to clarify the situation in which the Christian tradition finds itself today The second part of the book is devoted to an analysis of the actual context with a view to establishing points of intersection on the basis of which the dialogue between faith and culture may be revived The third part of the book endeavours to provide this dialogue with concrete form The reader is introduced to a challenging image of Jesus an image that is contextual and theologically motivated prior to being invited by the author into a reopened reflection on God The volume concludes by drawing renewed attention to the place of the Christian faith in relation to the other world religions The results of Boeve's study reveal that Christians do indeed have the capacity to reflect on their faith in a credible and relevant manner in relation to the actual context in which they find themselves and without relapsing into the extremes of traditionalism or relativism Lieven Boeve is professor of Fundamental Theology at the Faculty of Theology K U Leuven Belgium He is also co ordinator of the research group Theology in a postmodern context

McGravey, 2023-07-03 Theology in the postmodern era has encountered various cultural and narrative shifts which have helped shape the Roman Catholic Church and Christianity at large Negatively the Church has been affected by external factors e g globalization immigration emigration increased access to technology etc and internal struggles e g reduced church attendance an aging population etc Positively postmodernity has ushered in a return to religion through new philosophical and theological ideas e g phenomenology existentialism post metaphysics etc This book aims to contribute to the ongoing postmodern concerns addressed in the cultural and narrative shifts by focusing on the work of Jean Luc Marion and Gianni Vattimo The emphasis of this project focuses on the use of metaphysics as the foundational tool of theology and its corresponding limitations while also addressing the Christian virtue of caritas Addressing this attribute of Christianity this project observes the possibility of a return to religion one that reflects the postmodern exploration of religion by the several philosophers addressed herein While Michael J McGravey avoids offering a reconstruction of theology or more specifically ecclesiology he aims to re establish the importance of philosophy metaphysics and caritas in the postmodern context

Dialectics of Faith-Culture Integration Michael Muonwe, 2014-02-21 This book navigates the contours of cultural and theological hermeneutics in order to critique affirm as well as reconceptualise the vital underpinnings and subtleties of faith culture intercourse and reciprocation It questions claims to effective inculturation by theologians and church authorities even as it acknowledges the inevitability of the tension between inculturation process and syncretic formations It is an irresistible asset for teachers and students of theology cultural and religious studies for pastors and missionaries and for all Christians in need of finding Christian beliefs and practices more meaningful to them in their daily lives The hope is that it challenges the straitjacketed conceptual and pastoral frameworks that have often characterised the church's evangelisation initiatives and assists in making Christian faith a concrete and living possession of every age and culture Michael Muonwe is a priest of the Catholic diocese of Awka Nigeria He holds Licentiate and Doctorate in Theology and Religious Studies from the Catholic University of Leuven Belgium He

Catholicism and the Spirit Stephen Ebo Annan, 2018-02-22 The resurgence of Pentecostal charismatic Christianity epitomized in the global South has thrown Catholicism back on itself and has challenged it to reassess its ecclesial self understanding The Catholic Church has been accused of having forgotten the Spirit Despite the progress made by the Catholic Church to redress this so called pneumatological deficit it nonetheless remains the case that Roman Catholicism and charismatic Christianity seems to be mutually exclusive Why and how does the Roman Catholic Church today still lack a fully developed pneumatological charismatic ecclesiology Catholicism and the Spirit sets out to address such questions and argues that the Church must overcome its ultraconservatism and re envision a robust Spirit led ecclesiology to meet the demands of ecclesial renewal

Beyond Intolerance Stella Adamma Nneji, 2018-04-20 There is no gainsaying the fact that the problem of religious intolerance has become a worldwide problem In today's pluralistic society the dialogical tension between openness and identity has become a major challenge for interreligious dialogue and peaceful co existence This tension is expressed in the question Can one maintain one's own religious identity without one closing oneself off from the other This question is central to the challenges posed on how religious education can contribute to sustainable peace in Nigeria and the world over In this book Stella Nneji critically assesses the various models of religious pedagogy mono religious multi religious and inter religious by asking how these models relate to the dialogical tension between openness and identity in Nigeria a nation perceivably confronted with an enduring history of post colonial strife religious intolerance and violence The contention is that the mono religious and multi religious models which while dominant in current practice and in academia nevertheless fall short of expressing the authentic challenges and opportunities religious intolerance presents in Nigerian multi religious cultural context In this connection this book provides a clear notion of the theological foundation principles and framework of inter religious education and a practical guide for authentic dialogue in a plural context She calls for a paradigm shift for confessional religious pedagogy to a model of inter religious learning as incorporated within the hermeneutical communicative education On this basis the book proposes a new model for the role of religious education in Nigeria This model in a critical enculturated way attempts to recognize the tensions of authentic religious difference presupposing a broad spectrum of difference in the classroom in a way that also incorporates genuine religious encounters and expressions of identity

Between Philosophy and Theology Christophe Brabant, 2017-03-02 Long past the time when philosophers from different perspectives had joined the funeral procession that declared the death of God a renewed interest has arisen in regard to the questions of God and religion in philosophy The turn to secularization has produced its own opposing force Although they declared themselves from the start as not being religious thinkers such as Derrida Vattimo Zizek and Badiou have nonetheless maintained an interest in religion This book brings some of these philosophical views together to present an overview of the philosophical scene in its dealings with religion but also to move beyond the outsider's perspective Reflecting on these philosophical interpretations from a fundamental theological perspective the authors discover in what way these interpretations can challenge an understanding of today's faith Bringing together thinkers with an established reputation Kearney Caputo Ward Desmond Hart Armour along with young scholars this book challenges a range of perspectives by putting them in a new context
