Into The Daylight A Wholistic Approach To Healing:

Into the Daylight Calvin Morrisseau, 1998-01-01 This book is an account of the personal and collective struggles of First Nations people and how the principles which held traditional societies together can be used today to promote harmonious and cooperative relationships by both aboriginals and non aboriginals Calvin Morrisseau provides in it the fundamentals for healing that he has learned over twenty years through his training in counselling and addiction studies his education in traditional practices by aboriginal elders healers and teachers and his personal recovery from alcoholism drug addiction abuse and the effects of assimilation racism and poverty The model of healing Morrisseau advocates is simple insightful and based on the values that allowed aboriginal people to live in accord with each other in the past His approach centres on people accepting responsibility and making choices that give them the freedom required to enter into recovery by recapturing their sense of harmony cooperation sharing balance and spirituality The deepest healing takes place on a spiritual level Morrisseau describes an interdependent system of individual family and community in which needs desires values and purpose are communicated and the responsibility to ensure everyone has an opportunity to grow to their full potential is shared The book is unique in that it offers guidance on ways in which communities can heal While the book was written for people who work with aboriginal people the wholistic approach Morrisseau uses can benefit anyone The healing model can be used by an individual seeking to heal himself by a professional as a tool for assessment and treatment and by a community in crisis

Into the Daylight Calvin Morrisseau, 2021 Spirituality and Health Augustine Meier, Thomas St. James O'Connor, Peter L. VanKatwyk, 2006-01-01 Spirituality and Health Multidisciplinary Explorations examines the relationship between health well being and spirituality Chap lains and pastoral counsellors offer evidence based research on the importance of spirituality in holistic health care and practitioners in the fields of occupational therapy clinical psychology nursing and oncology share how spirituality enters into their healing practices Unique for its diversity this collection explores the relationship between biomedical psychological and spiritual points of view about health and healing Addictions and Healing in Aboriginal Country Gregory Phillips, 2003 Working with communities Introducing illness Grog gunga and gambling Reasons for use Strategies to address use Solutions from Canada Factors involved in healing and change Seeking Mino-Pimatisiwin Michael Hart, 2020-07-25T00:00:00Z Historically social work and psychology professions have pressured and coerced Aboriginal peoples to follow the euro centric ways of society The needs of Aboriginal peoples have not been successfully addressed by helping profession due to a limited attempt to incorporate Aboriginal perspectives and practices of helping Michael Hart briefly discusses colonization from an Aboriginal perspective ontological imperialism social work s role in colonial oppression and the dynamic of resistance Seeking Mino Pimatisiwin encourages Aboriginal concepts values and perspectives to be effectively incorporated by helpers trained in counselling supporting and teaching disciplines Micheal Hart uses his own personal and professional experiences and that of other Aboriginal helpers Throughout the book he outlines ways of adopting an Aboriginal Approach to helping The closing chapter examines one such approach the sharing circle and how it can be used to guide practice with individuals families and groups in several contexts Case Critical Ben Carniol,2005 A classic text in social work education Case Critical opens the door on Canada s social services from the perspective of social workers themselves and service users or cases people whose voices we rarely hear This completely revised and updated fifth edition includes new interviews and topics of discussion to reinforce Carniol s passionate case for social work as liberation practice Social Issues in Contemporary Native America Hilary N. Weaver,2016-04-01 Hilary Weaver has drawn together leading Native American social workers researchers and academics to provide current information on a variety of social issues related to Native American children families and reservations both in the USA and in Canada Divided into four major sections each containing an introduction this book places the historical foundations of Native American social work in context in order to fully provide the reader with a comprehensive survey on various aspects of working with Native American families community health and wellness and community revitalization and decolonization This groundbreaking volume should be read by both educators and students in social work and other helping professions in the USA and Canada as well as all human service professionals working with Native Americans Father Involvement in Canada Jessica Ball,Kerry J. Daly,2012-12-01 Father Involvement in Canada brings together almost two dozen leading scholars of fatherhood issues to examine the roles of Canadian fathers They look at the experiences of fathers from many angles considering different ages ethnicities marital statuses gender partnering and economic brackets and examining issues such as the impact of poverty access to paternity leave and the availability of support from social institutions By considering these dimensions and viewpoints the book creates a map of interlocking individual familial and socio economic systems in which fathers are embedded National in scope Fatherhood Involvement in Canada is the first book to summarize and challenge current scholarship of Canadian fatherhood and offer new concepts theoretical frameworks and research directions Creating the Third Force Maureen P. Flaherty,Hamdesa Tusso,2016-11-21 The profession of peacemaking has been practiced by indigenous communities around the world for many centuries however the ethnocentric world view of the West which dominated the world of ideas for the last five centuries dismissed indigenous forms of peacemaking as irrelevant and backward tribal rituals Neither did indigenous forms of peacemaking fit the conception of modernization and development of the new ruling elites who inherited the postcolonial state The new profession of Alternative Dispute Resolution ADR which emerged in the West as a new profession during the 1970s neglected the tradition and practice of indigenous forms of peacemaking The scant literature which has appeared on this critical subject tends to focus on the ritual aspect of the indigenous practices of peacemaking The goal of this book is to fill this lacuna in scholarship More specifically this work focuses on the process of peacemaking exploring the major steps of process of peacemaking which the peacemakers follow in dislodging antagonists from the stage of hostile confrontation to peaceful resolution of disputes and eventual reconciliation The book commences with a critique of ADR for neglecting indigenous processes of peacemaking and then utilizes case studies from different communities around the world to focus on the following major themes the basic structure of peacemaking process change and continuity in the traditions of peacemaking the role of indigenous women in peacemaking the nature of the tools peacemakers deploy common features found in indigenous processes of peacemaking and the overarching goals of peacemaking activities in indigenous communities Spirituality and Social Work John Russell Graham, John Coates, Barbara Swartzentruber, Brian Ouellette, 2007 Spirituality is an area of thought and practice that is attracting an increasing amount of attention and interest from social work practitioners theorists and instructors This book explores the history practice and diversity of faith traditions with which spirituality and social work are intertwined A Recognition of Being Kim Anderson, 2016-05-02 Over 15 years ago Kim Anderson set out to explore how Indigenous womanhood had been constructed and reconstructed in Canada weaving her own journey as a Cree M tis woman with the insights knowledge and stories of the forty Indigenous women she interviewed The result was A Recognition of Being a powerful work that identified both the painful legacy of colonialism and the vital potential of self definition In this second edition Anderson revisits her groundbreaking text to include recent literature on Indigenous feminism and two spirited theory and to document the efforts of Indigenous women to resist heteropatriarchy Beginning with a look at the positions of women in traditional Indigenous societies and their status after colonization this text shows how Indigenous women have since resisted imposed roles reclaimed their traditions and reconstructed a powerful Native womanhood Featuring a new foreword by Maria Campbell and an updated closing dialogue with Bonita Lawrence this revised edition will be a vital text for courses in women and gender studies and Indigenous studies as well as an important resource for anyone committed to the process of decolonization Indigenous Social Work around the World John Coates, 2016-05-23 How can mainstream Western social work learn from and in turn help advance indigenous practice This volume brings together prominent international scholars involved in both Western and indigenous social work across the globe including James Midgley Linda Briskman Alean Al Krenawi and John R Graham to discuss some of the most significant global trends and issues relating to indigenous and cross cultural social work The contributors identify ways in which indigenization is shaping professional social work practice and education and examine how social work can better address diversity in international exchanges and cross cultural issues within and between countries Key theoretical methodological and service issues and challenges in the indigenization of social work are reviewed including the way in which adaptation can lead to more effective practices within indigenous communities and emerging economies and how adaptation can provide greater insight into cross cultural understanding and practice Conversation Analysis for Social Work Gerald de Montigny, 2018-10-11 What do the stories youth in state care tell about life in their family of origin What stories do they tell us about coming into care living in care and relationships with foster parents and social workers This book presents the stories of youth in care though not in splendid isolation but as interactively produced turn by turn in interviews and in conversations with other youth By using tools from conversation analysis CA the author examines interviews with youth in care and social workers to unfold the essential and incorrigible reflexivity of story production CA allows us to grasp the ways that a youth s story emerges turn by turn and is an artefact of a social relation between a youth and an interviewer This text provides social work readers with a sense of art artistry and ambiguity at the heart of social interaction It will be required reading for all social work students and academics looking for a deeper more philosophical understanding of the profession
