Into the Forest Anthony Browne, 2004 After his father seems to disappear a boy takes a cake to his ill grandmother traveling through the forest in a journey reminiscent of the story of Little Red Riding Hood The Forest Edward Rutherfurd, 2001 An epic multigenerational novel of England focuses on a family living on the southern coast and spans the period from the Norman conquest to the nineteenth century By the author of Russia and London Reprint Into the Forest Christina Henry, 2022-11-08 A collection of new and exclusive short stories inspired by the Baba Yaga Featuring Gwendolyn Kiste Stephanie M Wytovich Mercedes M Yardley Monique Snyman Donna Lynch Lisa Quigley and R J Joseph with an introduction by Christina Henry Deep in the dark forest in a cottage that spins on birds legs behind a fence topped with human skulls lives the Baba Yaga A guardian of the water of life she lives with her sisters and takes to the skies in a giant mortar and pestle creating tempests as she goes Those who come across the Baba Yaga may find help or hindrance or horror She is wild she is woman she is witch and these are her tales Edited by Lindy Ryan this collection brings together some of today's leading voices of women in horror as they pay tribute to the Baba Yaga and go Into the Forest Perfect for horror fans who can't get enough of folklore and fairy tale retellings that veer in unexpected directions Booklist Starred Review Fans of folklore retellings will find plenty to enjoy Publishers Weekly The stories in Into the Forest collect the guts and bones of some of the world's oldest witch tales and refashion them into something new beautiful and gruesome Foreword Reviews A powerful literary reflection Outstanding in its diversity and interpretations Into the Forest is very highly recommended not just for horror collections but for libraries strong in women's literature as well as for readers' book groups who would study the legend and realities of the Baba Yaga folktale as it journeys into the heart and soul of women's experiences and psychology Midwest Book Review Far in the forest, a story Silas Weir Mitchell, 1913 The Girl In The Forest Carmen Weiz, 2020-12-06 From the pine tree forests in Switzerland a thriller romance which will take your sleep away A sad twist of the destiny catapults Anna a young Brazilian woman into a reality greater than her Driven by desire to help and make the good she'll find herself slave of human trafficking gangs in the hands of merciless torturers ready to sell her to the richest bidder Only using her cunning she'll be able to escape helped by the Swiss officer Thomas Graff a man with an icy heart and past he can't leave behind The crash between two different cultures that will make sparks fly This is Anna's story undeservedly a victim like many other women Among intrigues betrayal crimes and games of fate the young lady will fight for freedom and love First volume of the Swiss Stories which can be read on its own Recommended for an adult audience

The Romance of the Forest Ann Radcliffe, 2011-10-21 Ann Radcliffe's The Romance of the Forest first published in 1791 is the epitome of the Gothic novel a beautiful orphaned heiress a dashing hero a dissolute aristocratic villain and a ruined abbey deep in a great forest are combined by the author in a tale of suspense where danger lurks behind every secret trap door Reprinted four times between 1791 and 1795 and satirised as represented of the Gothic genre by Jane Austen in Northanger Abbey Radcliffe's tense masterpiece in which the heroine is afraid even to look in the mirror for fear of what she might see behind her established her reputation as a writer and her brilliant descriptions of both characters and scenes serve to create the perfect atmosphere for a novel packed with emotional intensity The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-09-05 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume's 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others The Last Woman in the Forest Diane Les Becquets, 2019-03-05 From the national bestselling author of Breaking Wild a riveting and powerful thriller about a woman whose greatest threat could be the man she loves Marian Engstrom has found her true calling working with rescue dogs to help protect endangered wildlife Her first assignment takes her to northern Alberta where she falls in love with her mentor the daring and brilliant Tate After they re separated from each other on another assignment Marian is shattered to learn of Tate's tragic death Worse still is the aftermath in which Marian discovers disturbing inconsistencies about Tate's life and begins to wonder if the man she loved could have been responsible for the unsolved murders of at least four women Hoping to clear Tate's name Marian reaches out to a retired forensic profiler who's haunted by the open cases But as Marian relives her relationship with Tate and circles ever closer to the truth evil stalks her every move

Readings in the Anthropocene Sabine Wilke, Japhet Johnstone, 2017-09-21 Readings in the Anthropocene brings together scholars from German Studies and beyond to interpret the German tradition of the last two hundred years from a perspective that is mindful of the challenge posed by the concept of the Anthropocene This new age of man unofficially pronounced in 2000 holds that humans are becoming a geological force in shaping the Earth's future Among the biggest challenges facing our future are climate change accelerated species loss and a radical transformation of land use What are the historical philosophical cultural literary and artistic responses to this new concept The essays in this volume bring German culture to bear on what it means to live in the Anthropocene from a historical ethical and aesthetic perspective

Balcony in the Forest Julien Gracq, 2017-11-21 It is the fall of 1939 and Lieutenant Grange and his men are living in a chalet above a concrete bunker deep in the Ardennes forest charged with defending the French Belgian border against the Germans in a war that seems unreal distant and unlikely Far more immediate is the earthy life of the forest itself and the deep sensations of childhood it recalls from Grange's memory Ostensibly readying for war Grange instead spends his time observing the change in seasons falling in love with a young free spirited widow and contemplating the absurd stasis of his present condition This novel of long takes dream states and little dramatic action culminates abruptly in battle an event that is as much the real incursion of the German army into France as it is the sudden intrusion of death into the suspended disbelief of life Richard Howard's skilled translation captures the fairy tale otherworldliness and existential dread of this unusual elusive novel first published in 1958 by the supreme prose stylist Julien Gracq

Beasts of the Forest Jon Hackett, Seán Harrington, 2019-12-02 An interdisciplinary engagement with the forest and its monsters through critical readings of folklore fiction film music video and animation Within the text there are a multitude of convergent critical perspectives used to engage and explore fictional and real monsters of the forest in media and folklore The collection features chapters from a variety of academic perspectives film and media studies cultural studies queer theory Tolkien studies mythology and popular music are featured Under examination are a wide range of narratives and media forms that represent reimagine and create the werewolves witches and weird apparitions that inhabit the forest along with the forest as a monstrous entity in itself Whether they be our shelter and safe haven or the domain of malevolent spirits and sprites forests have the capacity to horrify and threaten those that venture into them without permission Human interference has continually threatened forests across the world yet this threat is reversed in myth folklore and more recent cultural forms This collection ranges widely to analyze how forests figure in contemporary culture as well as the wider contexts in which such representations are inserted

Gone to the Forest Katie Kitamura, 2012-08-07 FROM THE CRITICALLY ACCLAIMED AUTHOR OF THE LONGSHOT comes this gripping saga about the destruction of a family a home and a way of life Set on a struggling farm in a colonial country teetering on the brink of civil war Gone to the Forest is a tale of family drama and political turmoil in which fiery storytelling melds with daring original prose Since his mother's death Tom and his father have fashioned a strained domestic peace where everything is frozen under the old man's vicious control But when a young woman named Carine arrives at the farm the tension between the two men escalates to the breaking point Hailed by the Boston Globe as a major talent Kitamura shines in this powerful new novel

Nonhuman Agencies in the Twenty-First-Century Anglophone Novel Yvonne Liebermann, Judith Rahn, Bettina Burger, 2021-09-25 This book offers an overview on the growing field of nonhuman studies in relation to Anglophone novels It illuminates the variety of nonhuman actors that take centre stage in the twenty first century novel and the formal changes that the Anthropocene the digital turn the animal rights movement and research into plant consciousness have brought to the novel as a form The book is divided into four sections each focusing on a different aspect of twenty first century literature that engages with the nonhuman The collection investigates how the environmental changes and the increasing use of AI technologies have fostered the flourishing of genres like the New Weird Climate Fiction and speculative fiction how it makes us embrace new perceptions of life in relation to genetic engineering and how it forces us to engage with newly emerging political contexts

Into the Forest Shadows J.A. Marlow, 2011-03-10 Grandmother's house A red cape A planet wide conspiracy An invitation to visit Grandmother's house among the renowned giant trees of the planet gives Kate a welcome respite from her overbearing Uncle Travis After Grandma goes missing she joins forces with a local Gatherer boy to confront a deadly threat to the human colonists forest inhabitants and even the moving trees themselves Before the conspiracy kills them all A Science Fiction novel retelling of the fairy tale Little Red Riding Hood

A Critic at Large in the Multiverse, A Spell in the Forest Roselle Angwin, 2021-06-25 This book gently leads the reader into a new and deeper understanding of the forest and our ancient and intrinsic connection with the trees that has been largely forgotten in this modern age If you wish to develop and nurture a true affinity and knowledge of trees then Tongues in Trees will most definitely help you to do that Luke Eastwood author of The Druid Garden and The Druid's Primer Trees occupy a place of enormous significance not only in our planet's web of life but also in our psyche A Spell in the Forest Tongues in Trees is part love song part poetic guidebook and part exploration of thirteen native sacred British tree species Tongues in Trees is a multi layered contribution to the current awareness of the importance and significance of trees and the resurgence of interest in their place on our planet and in our hearts FROM THE BOOK Trees have always figured in human consciousness I believe that when we walk among trees or notice a particular tree a kind of exchange happens Trees love to be met Trees somehow mediate between ourselves and a different reality a different order of consciousness pre verbal post verbal trans verbal non verbal such a relief sometimes Trees in a natural forest mirror and speak to something of the wild soul in a human As we visit we encounter and are supported by the elemental powers that reside in such places and can more readily connect with our own instinctual natures and the wild soul Wildness is not to be confused with a state of chaos being out of control savage It's a question of relinquishing the ego's grip to larger natural rhythms cycles surroundings an essential aspect of thriving When one does this one is more receptive to one's environment physical or more numinous Woodland forest strikes me as a perfect example of the individual and the community being gracefully harmoniously and inextricably part of each other I walk the forest listen for birds rivers cascades stories of the wildwood rustling in the leaves try and stay aware of the great mycorrhizal web beneath my feet connecting us all The ancients knew that spending time among trees is one of the best approaches to health and healing Recently Japan has spent millions researching the health benefits of shinrin yoku forest bathing In the forest I step into a different kind of time It's not simply that it so clearly stretches back so far into the past but also that it allows me what Thoreau described as a broad margin to my day Mother trees we know from work by Suzanne Simard will reduce their own root competition to make room for their own offspring Trees will also help neighbours of their own species if necessary Forests are liminal places thresholds into a meeting of the physical and metaphysical where we're on the cusp of another reality In our past our physical survival and some of our sense of meaning came from an awareness and direct experience of our connectedness with the more than human We need that awareness more than ever now Our being here our walking on this earth is a co creation a mutual belonging How to live if not in reciprocal affinity
