Into The Maelstrom The Wreck Of Hmhs Rohilla:

Into the Maelstrom Colin Brittain, 2014-09-22 On 29 October 1914 the hospital ship Rohilla left Queensferry with 229 persons on board the vessel was bound for Dunkirk on an errand of mercy under wartime restrictions and in deteriorating weather Just after 4 a m there was a tremendous impact as the ship ran on to rocks at Saltwick Nab a mile south of Whitby Rohilla was mortally wounded 600 yards from shore so close to land yet so far from safety Over the ensuing days the heartrending loss of 92 lives in terrible circumstances would prove to be Whitby's greatest maritime disaster still regarded as one of the worst amongst the annals of the RNLi This book reveals the heroic actions of the public who waded out into icy turbulent waters to reach those who made the swim to shore and the gallant efforts of lifeboatmen forced to manhandle lifeboats over piers rocks overland and down a 200ft cliff In Titanic's Shadow David L. Williams, 2012-10-01 While the near 1 500 victims of Titanic accounted for a huge loss of life each of the ships here had a greater number of casualties in some cases more than five times as many In total these 27 merchant ship sinkings resulted in a staggering loss of life at sea more than 96 000 in total 3 840 per ship While the circumstances were different to Titanic the outcome in each case was no less tragic Yet despite the fact that Titanic ranks behind so many other losses so powerful has her name become that it was the inevitable choice to describe some of these other events Germany's Titanic and The Titanic of Japan being two examples Ships include the Lancastria Britain's worst maritime disaster with 3 000 lost the Ryusei Maru a Japanese Hellship loaded with 6 000 Allied POWs torpedoed by a US submarine and the Wilhelm Gustloff a German liner packed with 7 800 civilians sunk by a Russian submarine There were no survivors and this tragedy was the worst maritime disaster of all time The Rise and Fall of Harland and Wolff Tom McCluskie MBE, 2013-03-01 Harland and Wolff once acknowledged as the greatest and best known shipbuilding company in the world for many years enjoyed a mighty eminence before a gradual descent into near obscurity This illustrated book told from the unique perspective of someone who was there at the time chronicles the history of the organisation from its creation to the present day from its halcyon days to its present incarnation Today the company is no longer involved in shipbuilding maintaining only a small ship repair and engineering facility and occupying a fraction of its previously vast complex At its peak Harland and Wolff directly employed over 45 000 people with even more in its subsidiary companies Well known Harland and Wolff former employee Tom McCluskie who was a technical consultant to James Cameron on the movie Titanic sheds light on many little known facts about the business delves into the human interest stories and recounts both the mighty zenith and ignominious demise of this great enterprise Heroes of the RNLi Martyn R. Beardsley, 2021-05-14 This maritime history recounts dramatic tales of rescue at sea by the brave members of the 200 year old Royal National Lifeboat Institution Whenever vessels have foundered off the coasts of Britain there have been brave individuals willing to give their all to save those in peril But in 1823 Sir William Hillary decided that this impromptu approach was not enough He believed that many more lives could be saved by the establishment of a national organized rescue service His idea was realized the following year with the Royal National Lifeboat Institution From the days of oar powered open boats to modern hi tech vessels rescuers have battled storms and unimaginable conditions risking and sometimes forfeiting their own lives in efforts to save others The most outstanding of these operations led to the awarding of gold medals for gallantry the RNLi version of the Victoria Cross Drawn from archives contemporary newspaper accounts and genealogical records this book looks not just at the details of the rescues but into the people behind them RMS Titanic in 50 Objects Bruce Beveridge, Steve Hall, 2022-09-29 On 15 April 1912 passengers stood on a dimly lit Boat Deck looking down at the lifeboats they were told to enter In the freezing air away from the warmth of the interior they had to decide whether to enter a boat that would be lowered into darkness or remain on an unsinkable ship RMS Titanic in 50 Objects is a look at the world famous liner through the objects that tell her story Sheet music recovered from the body of a musician a full sized replica of her First Class Entrance Hall clock a lifeboat from a fellow White Star Line ship all of these objects and more come together to tell not only the tragedy of the ship herself but also that of her passengers and crew Lavishly illustrated and extensively researched by two of the world s most foremost Titanic experts this is her history brought to life like never before

The Pre-Dreadnought Revolution Warren Berry, 2013-08-01 The late nineteenth century saw an unparalleled revolution in warship development as the Victorian navy found itself grappling with intense technical change to ensure its survival in the modern theatre From the wooden battleships of the 1800s naval architecture underwent great change to produce a very different form of capital ship which would have a huge impact and change naval design forever The pre dreadnought was constructed of steel wholly driven by steam power and carried its rifled ordnance in armoured turrets operated by hydraulics Electrics mechanical computers mines and torpedo weapons were also utilised to create an immensely powerful fighting ship the likes of which had never been seen before This well illustrated and fascinating history reveals the process involved in that most rapid development which in such a short time totally altered the naval forces of Britain and ensured that the British Navy remained the most powerful in the world The Rise and Fall of British Shipbuilding Anthony Burton, 2013-05-01 From modest beginnings Britain rose throughout the nineteenth century to become the greatest shipbuilding nation in the world yet by the end of the following century the British merchant fleet ranked just 38 in the world The glory days of sail had given way to the introduction of the steam age Traditional shipwrights had railed against new industrial methods resulting in the infamous demarcation disputes Talented men like Brunel and Armstrong had always sought change and development but too many shipbuilders were relying on old technologies From building mighty battleships and extravagant ocean liners the nation became complacent and its yards were eventually no longer as innovative as their foreign competitors In the twenty first century British shipbuilding has shrunk to a mere fraction of its former size and has become almost totally dependent on government contracts The popularity of and fascination with this subject has prompted a new edition of Anthony Burton s successful book With fresh images and a new final chapter the story of the rise and cataclysmic fall of British shipbuilding has been brought right up to date Wooden Fishing Boats of Scotland James A. Pottinger,2013-01-01 With the gradual phasing out of wooden fishing boats of Scotland it is timely to record some of these handsome vessels In the years from 1960 80 boat builders produced some of their most shapely and graceful craft a testament to the skill of both the builders and designers Initially the designs were a collaboration of builders and skippers but later the implementation of statutory rules demanded a more structured approach by qualified naval architects which inevitably resulted in a certain degree of standardisation James A Pottinger s new illustrated volume concentrates solely on the graceful wooden boats large and small regarded by many to be the best looking boats of all Many boats are photographed at sea while other views range from repairs being carried out to the more melancholy sight of beautiful craft being cut up Boats were once scrapped only due to old age but sadly political factors now often dictate the destruction of the classic wooden craft included here Tropics Bound James Seay Dean,2010-09-01 In the popular imagination English colonisation in the Americas began with the founding of Jamestown in Virginia in 1607 which recently celebrated its 400th anniversary But the focus of English voyages to the far side of the Atlantic for 100 years before that had been much further south in defiance of Pope Alexander VI s decree that South America would be divided between Spain and Portugal Tropics Bound examines not only the oft forgotten history of this period of English exploration between the Tropics of Cancer and Capricorn but also looks at the voyages themselves through the eyes of the sailors who faced that daunting journey It is a story of adventure hardship and courage Written by an historian with a practical knowledge of seamanship this is an important contribution to our understanding of the early period of failed English attempts at colonisation Ships Monthly ,2003 Marine News ,2004 Fowey Lifeboats Nicholas Leach,2002 This is a comprehensive copiously illustrated history of Fowey s lifeboats with many photographs in color Chatham Dockyard Philip Macdougall,2012-05-30 Founded in 1570 Chatham Dockyard quickly became one of the most important naval yards for the repair and building of warships maintaining a pre eminent position for the next 400 years Located on the River Medway in all the yard was responsible for the construction of over 500 warships these ranging from simple naval pinnaces through to first rates that fought at Trafalgar and concluding with the hunter killer submarines of the nuclear age In this detailed new history of the yard from experienced local and maritime author Philip MacDougall particular attention is given to the final two hundred years of the yard s history the artisans and labourers who worked there and the changing methods used in the construction of some of the finest warships to enter naval service Coinciding with the dockyard s seeking status as a World Heritage site this fascinating history places Chatham firmly in its overall historical context The Portsmouth Dockyard Story Dr Paul Brown,2018-09-24 From muddy creek to naval industrial powerhouse from constructing wooden walls to building Dreadnoughts from maintaining King John s galleys to servicing the enormous new Queen Elizabeth class aircraft carriers this is the story of Portsmouth Dockyard Respected maritime historian Paul Brown s unique 800 year history of what was once the largest industrial organisation in the world is a combination of extensive original research and stunning images

The most comprehensive history of the dockyard to date it is sure to become the definitive work on this important heritage site and modern naval base
