Cox, 2018-11-21 Arts Programming for the Anthropocene argues for a role for the arts as an engaged professional practice in contemporary culture charting the evolution of arts over the previous half century from a primarily solitary practice involved with its own internal dialogue to one actively seeking a larger discourse. The chapters investigate the origin and evolution of five academic field programs on three continents mapping developments in field pedagogy in the arts over the past twenty years. Drawing upon the collective experience of artists and academicians in the United States, Australia, and Greece operating in a wide range of social and environmental contexts, it makes the case for the necessity of an update to ensure the real world relevance and applicability of tertiary arts education. Based on thirty years of experimentation in arts pedagogy including the creation of the Land Arts of the American West (LAAW) program and Art and Ecology discipline at the University of New Mexico, this book is written for arts practitioners, aspiring artists, art educators, and those interested in how the arts can contribute to strengthening cultural resiliency in the face of rapid environmental change. Historical Dictionary of Somalia

Mohamed Haji Mukhtar, 2003-02-25 Despite advances in modern communication and the proliferation of information, there remain areas of the world about which little is known. One such place is Somalia. The informed public is aware of a political meltdown and consequent chaos there, but few comprehend the causes of this tragic crisis. This new edition covers Somalia's origin, history, culture, and language, as well as current economic and political issues. The alphabetical arrangement of this Dictionary, with a complete chronology, list of acronyms, and in-depth bibliography, provides useful information about the country in a convenient format. A vital addition to reference collections supporting undergraduate and graduate programs on Africa and the Middle East, international relations, and economics, a useful fact-filled compendium for government and public libraries, NGOs, and other special libraries. American Photo, 1997-11 Formations

Dan Fleming, Henry A. Giroux, Lawrence Grossberg, 2000 Formations is a comprehensive textbook designed for students moving to a deeper engagement with media studies. The original essays are organized around the broad themes of public knowledge, cultural identity, broadcasting, film, and pop tech. An introductory section explores the fundamentals of the field, and a section on method examines how knowledge is constructed within media studies. Throughout, the material is structured into a combination of case studies and integrative essays, punctuated at key moments by stop-and-think advice aimed directly at students. With contributions from well-known scholars, Formations offers a deep engagement with issues, theories, and methods, especially new technologies transforming landscapes of popular culture. Twenty-Two

Allison Trowbridge, 2017-04-04 Over the course of twenty-two letters, author Allison Trowbridge addresses a wide range of practical issues and ties them to larger concerns such as identity loss, social impact, and a lifestyle wisdom in the ordinary moments, and the profound way God's work is realized in how we live every day. Subtly weaving in today's pressing social concerns, from poverty in our neighborhoods to human trafficking across the globe, Twenty-Two will inspire a greater sense of mission and a passion to live more fully as young women embark on their own remarkable journeys. Allison Trowbridge harnesses the power of story in a series of letters to an imagined young woman wrestling with the questions that arise as she stands on the precipice of adulthood. Never in history has a young woman had so many options before her yet never has she had less direction or guidance on what to do with them. A woman at the precipice of adulthood often finds herself with more questions than answers with more disenchantment than direction. How is she supposed to lean in to a successful career while also building deeply meaningful relationships? How can she care for the community around her while simultaneously developing a global mindset and changing the world? How can she be all that she is destined to be without feeling paralyzed by the pressure of so many prospects? Allison Trowbridge knows this dilemma well. She remembers stepping into her twenties and wishing for a mentor to guide her through this dizzying season of life. In Twenty Two she becomes the mentor she was looking for. Drawing from her own experience and from the wisdom of others, she offers advice and counsel in a series of personal letters to Ashley, a fictional college student looking for mentorship from someone one step ahead in life. SAGE Visual Methods Jason Hughes, 2012-07-23 In contemporary Western societies the visual domain has come to assume a hitherto unprecedented cultural centrality. Daily life is replete with a potentially endless stream of images and other visual messages from the electronic and paper-based billboards of the street to the TV and Internet feeds of the home. The visual has become imbued with a symbolic potency, a signifying power that seemingly eclipses that of all other sensory data. The central aim of this four-volume collection is to explore key approaches to visual research methods and to consider some of the core principles, issues, debates, and controversies surrounding the use of visual techniques in relation to three key enterprises: 1. documentation and representation, 2. interpretation and classification, and 3. elicitation and collaboration. Volume One: Principles, Issues, Debates, and Controversies in Visual Research serves as a theoretical backdrop to the field as a whole. It introduces core epistemological, ethical, and methodological debates that effectively cut across the four-volume collection as a whole. Volume Two: Documentation and Representation illustrates approaches to visual documentation and representation from classical documentaries to contemporary state-of-the-art modes of visual anthropology and ethnography. Volume Three: Interpretation and Classification examines core debates surrounding and approaches to visual analysis. Volume Four: Elicitation and Collaboration explores participative approaches to visual inquiry. Black Nonfiction Books, Their Authors, and Their Publishers Harry B. Dunbar, 2001-11-06 The Flâneur and Education Research Alexandra Lasczik Cutcher, Rita L. Irwin, 2018-04-18 This book creatively and critically explores the figure of the flâneur and its place within educational scholarship. The flâneur is used as a generative metaphor and a prompt for engaging the unknown through embodied engagement, the politics of space, mindful walking, and ritual. The chapters in this collection explore sensorial qualities of place and place-making, urban spaces and places, walking as relational practice, walking as ritual, thinking photographically, the creative and narrative qualities of flâneurial walking, and issues of power, gender, and class in research practices. In doing so, the editors and contributors examine how flâneurial walking can be viewed as a creative relational place-making practice.

Engaging the fl neur as an influential and recurring historical figure allows and expands upon generative ways of thinking about educational inquiry Furthermore attending to the fl neur provides a way of provoking researchers to recognize and consider salient political issues that impact educational access and equity Dan Eldon Jennifer New,2001-08 Only 22 when he lost his life while on assignment in Somalia Eldon left behind journals and photos that make up this fascinating biography Illustrations The Bleep Test Luke Austen,2023-05-31 What does it mean to help save someone s life How does it feel to nearly kill a patient Can we keep our patients safe at night In the face of overwhelming pressures can we thrive or only survive And is a happy life as a doctor still possible In the early months and years of work it is these kinds of questions rather than any technical or knowledge based queries which preoccupy many new doctors This elusive hidden curriculum is pervasive within departments around hospitals and across health systems but is rarely if ever explicitly examined and discussed At its core is the issue that should matter above all others how we can keep our patients as safe as possible The Bleep Test combines gripping and startlingly vulnerable recollections of early experiences on the wards with an array of research findings from psychology and human biology to anthropology business and behavioural economics Acknowledging that the truly complex challenges facing new doctors lie far beyond the realms of the traditional medical sciences in which they were trained the book explains that the shift to being a doctor depends on first understanding how we think reason and behave as someone we have been all our lives a human amongst humans Focused on the experiences of and the issues facing recently qualified medics The Bleep Test is not only for young doctors but also for anyone who manages them works with them cares for them or may one day depend on them Sociological Re-Imaginations in & of Universities Mohammad H.
