

WHAT'S INFLUENCING PURCHASE?

A Google ZMOT x McKinsey&Company Mash-up

What kind of brand foot-print is your brand and the consumer making?

Purchase is no longer funnel orientated - people add and subtract both brands and products - to be effective marketing requires a thorough appreciation of buyer behaviour prior to, during and after transaction.

Complex consumer journeys demand brands to think beyond a transaction goal, instead infusing themselves into the consumer's community and across multiple touch-points.

Whether it's a new Honda Civic or a can of Diet Coke brands create a footprint, directly and indirectly by the experience they engender, building influence - good and bad - over time at one or more touch-points.
