Facing Limits Ethics And Health Care For The Elderly:

Facing Limits Gerald R. Winslow, 2019-03-08 Advances in medical technology and the rapidly increasing population of older Americans are causing people to question the ethical limits of life extending interventions How do we weigh issues involving equity efficiency autonomy natural life span and responsibility for the financial burdens of health care for the elderly In this collection of essays Setting Limits Daniel Callahan, 1995-03-01 A provocative call to rethink America's values in health care
Care of the Aged James M. Humber, Robert F. Almeder, 2002-12-03 The growing population of elderly and infirm has given rise to serious questions about their proper care and treatment What responsibility does society have to its aging citizens What duties if any do grown children owe their parents What should be done with severely demented patients When is a person elderly Among the issues discussed in Care of the Aged are disrespecting our elders ethical dilemmas in community based care duties to aging parents a feminist ethics of care and the ethic of pain management in older people

The Elderly Martin Lyon Levine, 2017-05-15 Aging is a public health priority that is becoming increasingly important in both developed and less developed nations with individual health care providers and law makers each facing difficult ethical and policy dilemmas The complex issues physicians deal with include informed consent and patient decision making capacity use of advance care planning and decision making by family and medical staff and withdrawing and withholding life sustaining interventions Broader questions include has aging been over medicalized Is it ethical for older patients to receive less medical care than younger ones through unspoken practice or formal rationing Is there inevitable conflict between the generations over scarce medical resources How should physician patient and family confront end of life decisions How have different nations responded to increasing numbers of the elderly Have social values changed as to family responsibility and individual autonomy This volume brings together the most significant published essays in the field Ways of Knowing and Caring for Older Adults Mary M. Burke, 1993 These are exciting and challenging times for gerontological nursing Nurses are at center stage for defining and improving health care for our nation's older adults Ways of Knowing and Caring for the Older Adult is a powerful resource on the broad range of issues that face nurses seeking excellence in this increasingly important specialty Any health care professional who works with the elderly will benefit greatly from this outstanding collection of scholarly and experiential papers
And a Time to Die Sharon Kaufman, 2005-04-19 A reassuring and illuminating examination on our conflicting wishes about the end of life how the politics and routines of the American hospital have formed our understanding and experience of death and ultimately why what we consider a good death is so hard to attain In a penetrating and revelatory study medical anthropologist Dr Sharon Kaufman uses two years of intensive observations and interviews with scores of patients family members physicians nurses social workers and other staff at several community hospitals in California to explore the heart of a science driven yet fractured and often irrational world of health care delivery where empathetic yet frustrated hard working yet constrained professionals both respond to and create the anxieties and often inchoate expectations of patients and families who must make decisions they are ill prepared to make. She sought out the critically ill, the dying, and their friends and relatives. She followed patients from admission to death, days, weeks, or sometimes months later, through what is often for them and their families a Kafkaesque journey. She asked hospital staff what they were doing and why, and stood beside doctors and nurses observing their work, cynicism, compassion, and frustration. And she paid close attention to the most important player of all, the hospital bureaucracy, and how it impacts the manner and timing of patient death. Her investigative research links together the emotional experiences of patients and families, the dedicated work of hospital staff, and the ramifications of institutional bureaucracy to show the invisible power of the hospital system itself, its rules, mandates, and daily activity in organizing death and individual experience of it. The book is the story of real patients and their families, an account of what drives the American hospital today, and a report on the complex sources and implications of doing something about death. Principles of Biomedical Ethics Tom L.

Beauchamp, James F. Childress, 2001. For many years this has been a leading textbook of bioethics. It established the framework of principles within the field. This is a very thorough revision with a new chapter on methods and moral justification. Aging: Culture, Health, and Social Change David N. Weisstub, David C. Thomasma, S. Gauthier, G.F. Tomossy, 2013-06-29. Culture, Health, and Social Change is the first of three volumes on Aging conceived for the International Library of Ethics, Law, and the New Medicine. Leading scholars from a range of disciplines contest some of the predominant paradigms on aging and critically assess modern trends in social health policy. How we approach and understand aging will have indelible effects on existing and future elder citizens. Acknowledging the cultural variances that exist in the human experience of aging is therefore of vital importance in order to respond to individual needs in a manner that is not paternalistic, discriminatory, or exclusionary. National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1993. The Praeger Handbook of Social Justice and Psychology Chad V. Johnson, Harris L. Friedman, 2014-07-23. By introducing and explaining the intersection of two exciting and important areas of study, this landmark work unleashes their potential to address some of the most complex and globally relevant challenges of our time. In this unique handbook, experts team up to explain the many innovative ways psychology is being applied to promote social justice. The wide-ranging three-volume work addresses such significant issues as social justice ideology and critical psychology, war and trauma, poverty and classism, environmental justice, and well-being and suffering. It showcases approaches for integrating social justice into psychology and examines psychology's application of social justice within special populations such as sexual minorities, youth, women, disabled persons, prisoners, older adults, people of color, and many others. Chapter authors represent a diversity of perspectives, making the handbook an ideal resource for those who want information on a specific concern as well as for those looking for an introduction to the subject as a whole. Combining the practical with the theoretical, the work provides culturally sensitive tools that can effectively combat injustices locally and globally Aging Harry R. Moody, 2010 The sixth edition of this student friendly textbook provides both a thorough explanation of the issues as well as current research and controversies exploring health care socioeconomic trends and the life course This thoroughly revised new edition contains nine new readings over 35 new photographs and an instructor resource CD Aging, Spirituality, and Pastoral Care James W Ellor, 2013-05-13 How can you foster spiritual growth in older people This multidisciplinary work re examines issues of aging with dignity and spiritual meaning Aging Spirituality and Pastoral Care A Multi National Perspective brings together chaplains pastors counselors and health care practitioners in all walks of gerontology from around the world to present a fully rounded picture of the spiritual needs and potentialities of this fast growing population It also includes a study of the spiritual awareness of nurses working in six different nursing homes as well as a model for a parish nursing practice that focuses on the aged Aging Spirituality and Pastoral Care addresses urgent issues for older people including social and spiritual isolation the wisdom of the aging the need for intimacy sexuality among older people living with dementia the spiritual dimensions of caregiving Transplantation Ethics Robert M. Veatch, Lainie F. Ross, 2015-01-22 Although the history of organ transplant has its roots in ancient Christian mythology it is only in the past fifty years that body parts from a dead person have successfully been procured and transplanted into a living person After fourteen years the three main issues that Robert Veatch first outlined in his seminal study Transplantation Ethics still remain deciding when human beings are dead deciding when it is ethical to procure organs and deciding how to allocate organs once procured However much has changed Enormous strides have been made in immunosuppression Alternatives to the donation model are debated much more openly living donors are used more widely and hand and face transplants have become more common raising issues of personal identity In this second edition of Transplantation Ethics coauthored by Lainie F Ross transplant professionals and advocates will find a comprehensive update of this critical work on transplantation policies Angles Of Vision Leonard Beeghley, 2018-02-13 Angles of Vision is a compact text that provides students with basic information about social problems and teaches them a strategy for understanding these issues Students learn how to distinguish between individual and structural analyses and the importance of placing issues in a historical and international context to gain a clearer understanding In so doing students come to appreciate that sociology is a hypothesis testing discipline The author uses metaphors vignettes and humor to convey the fundamental concepts key findings and methods by which sociologists understand social problems Angles of Vision is a compact text that provides students with basic information about social problems and teaches them a strategy for understanding these issues Students learn how to distinguish between individual and structural analyses and the importance of placing issues in a historical and international context to gain a clearer understanding In so doing students come to appreciate that sociology is a hypothesis testing discipline The author uses metaphors vignettes and humor to convey the fundamental concepts key findings and methods by which sociologists understand social problems Each chapter is organized to facilitate students understanding First the issue

What's with Free Will? Philip Clayton, James W. Walters, 2020-03-10 Are humans free or are we determined by our genes and the world around us The question of freedom is not only one of philosophy's greatest conundrums but also one of the most fundamental questions of human existence It's particularly pressing in societies like ours where our core institutions of law ethics and religion are built around the belief in individual freedom Can one still affirm human freedom in an age of science And if free will doesn't exist does it make sense to act as though it does These are the issues that are presented probed and debated in the following chapters A dozen experts specialists in medicine psychology ethics theology and philosophy grapple with the multiple and often profound challenges presented by today's brain science After examining the arguments against traditional notions of free will several of the authors champion the idea of a chastened but robust free will for today one that allows us still to affirm the value of first person experience

Australia's New Aged John McCallum, 2023-04-28 The idea that our society is ageing is a popular source of gloomy predictions for the future We see today's youth struggling in their mature years to pay for the masses of geriatric baby boomers whose productive years lie far behind Australia's New Aged shows that this belief is part reality and part myth While there will be an increase in the proportion of aged people in the next 20 years this is a temporary phenomenon and it is likely that tomorrow's elderly will quite differently from their parents Australia's New Aged examines public policy for the aged in the context of an increasingly vocal and active elderly population and cutbacks to health and welfare spending The authors argue that policy makers have become trapped in a social problem approach to ageing that assumes the elderly are a homogeneous disadvantaged group with common interests They examine a range of cases and identify negative consequences of inappropriate assumptions in terms of structural blindness and brutality They show that this approach is no longer viable and argue that both policy makers and the aged care industry will need to be more sensitive to diversity and more flexible than ever before Australia's New Aged is essential reading for students policy makers and anyone working with the aged John McCallum is Professor of Public Health and Dean of the Faculty of Health at the University of Western Sydney Macarthur and co editor of Grey Policy 1990 Karin Geiselhart is a journalist previously employed by the Office for the Status of Women in Canberra Choosing Who's to Live James William Walters, 1996 The population is rapidly aging while access to proper and affordable medical treatment is becoming more and more limited This impasse challenges us to make ethical decisions regarding the rationing of health care Arguing that de facto rationing is already taking place due to economic necessity and that proper management of this rationing is essential to the fair and ethical treatment of all seeking care Choosing Who's to Live directly addresses one of the most challenging moral questions of our day Appearing in the wake of increasing awareness of health care reform this volume identifies four compelling arguments for managed health care rationing the number of citizens over age eighty five will increase 500 percent by the year 2040 current baby boomers could live longer than today's elderly by seven to fifteen years new medical technologies are appearing every day and the ratio of workers to retirees will be 1.4 in forty years instead of the current 1.25 In this volume six leading scholars take the discussion of rationing health care beyond the simple idea of withholding government funded life saving treatment from the very old to a more ethical effective treatment plan for all Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1993 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 The Price of Life Robert H. Blank, 1997-02-14 How can America become a healthy nation Blank asks when it is beset by poverty illiteracy and crime No new health care system can succeed unless or until the links between social problems and sickness are understood and addressed On the national level Blank calls for a more aggressive redistribution of social and public health resources to the poor and elderly at the same time he describes sanctions that would encourage individuals to be more careful about their own health and limit or change destructive behavior Disability Studies Quarterly, 1994
