The Parent's Handbook to Unschooling Yourself Esther Jones, 2025-08-21 To unschool your child you must first unschool yourself. Many parents are aware that their child is unhappy at school but they assume that if their child were to leave school they would need to recreate school at home which can feel impossible. However, when the parent is willing to move beyond their own conditioning, learning beyond school can offer exactly what their child needs to grow into the full potential of who they are. Esther Jones gently encourages you to navigate this journey with curiosity and self-compassion and provides you with a clear path forward in your next step in accompanying your child in their learning. Extremely relevant for parents of a neurodivergent child, this book is packed with practical suggestions and exercises as well as stories from parents who have walked this path before, including Esther's own lived experiences. Consisting of two parts, this book will first guide you through how children learn and then offers you a four-step solution to unlocking your freedom from traditional schooling, providing you with all the tools you need to understand what it means to unschool and help your child thrive in a home setting.

The Everything Parent's Guide to Dealing with Bullies Deborah Carpenter, Christopher J. Ferguson, 2009-06-18 Mocking, Name-calling, Physical aggression. These experiences are all forms of bullying that can wreak havoc on a child's self-esteem, safety and general happiness. Both parents of bullied children and parents of bullies are in a difficult situation. They want to protect their children and control their behavior without making the problem worse. Parents need a comprehensive, up-to-date guide to ensure that their children's education and quality of life are not compromised. This book helps parents learn to recognize the signs of bullying, find out where bullying is taking place at school, at a friend's house or on the Internet. Understand the differences between bullying among boys and girls. Teach social skills and assertiveness techniques. Communicate with the parents of bullies. Get support from teachers, counselors and other school administrators. Handle bullying situations involving children with special needs. Written by Deborah Carpenter, a social worker and assistant principal, this guide gives parents all the tools they need to recognize the problem, treat it properly and prevent it from happening again.
