Riding with John Wayne Aaron Latham, 2006-05-02 In his latest triumphant novel Aaron Latham pits Texas guts against Hollywood glitz when a modern day cowboy turned screenwriter dusts off his Stetson in order to solve a murder Chick Goodnight has arrived in Hollywood to write a screenplay about his great great great ever so great grandfather Jimmy Goodnight the legend who more or less invented the Texas cowboy during the 1870s and who was featured in Latham's Code of the West and The Cowboy with the Tiffany Gun. As the film's director, smart and beautiful Hollywood veteran Jamie Stone shows Chick how to write for the screen, he finds his quaint Western-inspired code of ethics challenged by an industry in which casting departments pimp for their producers and overzealous method actors feel obliged to seduce their costars. But culture shock becomes the least of Chick's worries when his cousin, a young aspiring actress, dies under suspicious circumstances. Shortly after taking a few heroic pages from his own script, Chick is forced to investigate before someone else meets his maker. As Chick's misadventures take him from Hollywood to Texas and back again, Aaron Latham treats us to a bravura piece in which art imitates life imitating art.

The Education of Frank Glenn G. Tucker, 2016-03-18 THE EDUCATION OF FRANK: A STORY OF WWII. Frank Talley was a young, industrious boy living in a well-to-do family until his parents' sister and brother were killed in an automobile accident while taking his older sister to start her college studies. His family's closest friends have a contract that, in case of an accident, to either set of parents, the remaining parents would serve as guardians to the others' children. He and Rosie, the daughter of his adoptive parents, fall in love, but Frank starts to think of Rosie as a sister and fights falling in love with her and soon comes to regard her as his sister. His guardian finds the family's former maid, Iris, and rehires her to take care of the house Frank inherited and serve as his live-in caretaker. He falls in love with Iris but realizes their age difference thwarts his love. His first sexual encounters occur when three gold diggers seduce him. He has several other sexual encounters as he matures and soon learns the difference between girls who would be his friend and those who would rather share his wealth. Frank, as he matures, becomes aware of the moral implications of sex with young females and cleans up his act. When he graduates from high school, he enlists in the navy. He discovers his love for his housekeeper, Iris, is now mutual.
