Politics Go to the Movies Joel R. Campbell, 2024-05-15 Movies and television series are excellent tools for teaching political science and international relations Understanding how stories in various film and television genres illustrate political ideas can better assist students and fans understand and appreciate the political subtext of these media products This book examines politics through five film genres and their variants Gangster movies focus on American and other organized crime They reached their zenith in the films of Francis Ford Coppola and Martin Scorsese Political thrillers express paranoia about secrecy and political conspiracies while action movies channel anger at foreign and domestic threats to order Superhero films and TV present modern characters who seek to serve society as they face personal struggles about their individual identities War movies promote positive images of wars when conflicts are perceived as successful but often include antiwar messages when wars turn out badly Western movies fell out of favor in the 1970s and 1980s but have undergone a renaissance since the 1990s Westerns can be taken as either political parables or as meditations on policing anarchy community organization The author argues that while these genres all offer escape they also offer important political lessons

Van Munster, Casper Sylvest, 2015-02-11. As a central component of contemporary culture, films mirror and shape political debate. Reflecting on this development, scholars in the field of International Relations (IR) increasingly explore the intersection of TV series, fiction film, and global politics. So far, however, virtually no systematic scholarly attention has been given to documentary film within IR. This book fills this void by offering a critical companion to the subject, aimed at assisting students, teachers, and scholars of IR in understanding and assessing the various ways in which documentary films matter in global politics. The authors of this volume argue that much can be gained if we do not just think of documentaries as a window on or intervention in reality, but as a political epistemology that like theories involves particular postures, strategies, and methodologies towards the world to which they provide access. This work will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations, popular culture, and world politics, and media studies alike. Modern Japanese Political Thought and International Relations Felix Rösch, Atsuko Watanabe, 2018-09-16. In an ever more globalized world, sustainable global development requires effective intercultural co-operations. This dialogue between non-western and western cultures is essential to identifying global solutions for global socio-political challenges. Modern Japanese Political Thought and International Relations critiques the formation of non-western International Relations by assessing Japanese political concepts to contemporary IR discourses since the Meiji Restoration to better understand knowledge exchanges in intercultural contexts. Each chapter focuses on a particular aspect of this dialogue, from international law and nationalism to concepts of peace and Daoism. This collection grapples with postcolonial questions of Japan's indigenous IR theory.

Hollywood, the Pentagon and Washington Jean-Michel Valantin, 2005 This timely volume explores prevailing ideas of the threat to homeland USA that are put forward by the national security network a threat that is seen as the justification for and legitimization of America's military operations and strategic choices Valantin reveals how in the last 20 years there has been a consistent collaboration between the US Department of Defense and Hollywood film studios Drones and the Annihilation-Image in Contemporary Warfare Gabriel F. Caetano, 2024-10-26 This book analyses the entanglement between Washington and Hollywood to shed light on the violence inherent in the image as a semiotic material agent in contemporary warfare In the 21st century the weaponized military drone an image centered machine has spearheaded the geopolitical curatorship of the USA in the context of the war on terror Drone violence shares the same characteristics as cinema image and movement However a drone's image is not purely a reflection of the nature of war it is more than representational it is performative Building upon the concept of annihilation image this book argues that the image wields a destructive agency as it transitions from reflection to diffraction Rather than mirroring reality the annihilation image creates a brutal pattern of difference in the world It is a destructive ontology in which seeing and annihilating are in a state of superposition Therefore everything that is framed is potentially dead That is to say by framing bodies and objects in the terrain a state of superpositional violence is created in which one is alive but virtually dead International Organizations and
