Before Speech Margaret Bullowa,1979-09-27

Long before they can make any sounds approaching language infants can share in communication though what this means is the subject of much scrutiny This 1979 volume deliberately draws on people whose different backgrounds have brought them to explore questions that have a bearing on communication in this earliest phase of human infancy This is then as Dr Bullowa says in her introduction primarily a book about how scientists go about finding out how infants and adults communicate with one another It is nowhere dogmatic contributors have all been encouraged to say why they came to do the research reported how they set about it and what they discovered Dr Bullowa herself provides a useful introduction which makes its own substantial contribution while surveying the broad context of the particular research discussing some of the themes that recur in the book and relating them to the wider literature

Development of Perception Psychobiological Perspectives Richard Aslin,2012-12-02 Development of Perception

Psychobiological Perspectives Volume 1 Audition Somatic Perception and the Chemical Senses is the first of a two part series covering vision audition olfaction taste tactile sensitivity and sensory motor activity during ontogenesis The focus is on approaches to perceptual development that incorporate a psychobiological perspective The present volume contains both overviews and specific discussions of audition somatic perception and the chemical senses aimed at the anatomical neurophysiological and behavioral levels The book is organized into four parts Parts A and B are devoted to aspects of auditory perceptual development in animals and humans respectively These include studies on the development of species specificity in duckling auditory perception the functional role of auditory perception in parent offspring recognition in birds the development of auditory localization in human infants and experiential components in the development of speech perception Part C covers issues of somatosensory and sensorimotor development including pioneering studies of development and plasticity in the neural structures of specialized somatosensory areas Part D contains chapters on the development of olfaction and taste Journal of Rehabilitation Research & Development ,1988 Auditory Prostheses Fan-Gang Zeng,Arthur N. Popper,Richard R. Fay,2011-09-15 Cochlear implants are currently the standard treatment for profound sensorineural hearing loss In the last decade advances in auditory science and technology have not only greatly expanded the utility of electric stimulation to other parts of the auditory nervous system in addition to the cochlea but have also demonstrated drastic changes in the brain in responses to electric stimulation including changes in language development and music perception Volume 20 of SHAR focused on basic science and technology underlying the cochlear implant However due to the newness of the ideas and technology the volume did not cover any emerging applications such as bilateral cochlear implants combined acoustic electric stimulation and other types of auditory prostheses nor did it review brain plasticity in responses to electric stimulation and its perceptual and language consequences This proposed volume takes off from Volume 20 and expands the examination of implants into new and highlyexciting areas This edited book starts with an overview and introduction by Dr Fan Gang Zeng Chapters 2 9 cover technological development and the advances in treating the full spectrum of ear disorders in the last ten years Chapters 10 15 discuss brain responses to electric stimulation and their perceptual impact This volume is particularly exciting because there have been quantum leap from the traditional technology discussed in Volume 20 Thus this volume is timely and will be of real importance to the SHAR audience
