Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations, 1979 The Soviet Union and Communist China 1945-1950: The Arduous Road to the Alliance Dieter Heinzig, 2015-06-18 Drawing on a wealth of new sources this work documents the evolving relationship between Moscow and Peking in the twentieth century Using newly available Russian and Chinese archival documents memoirs written in the 1980s and 1990s and interviews with high ranking Soviet and Chinese eyewitnesses the book provides the basis for a new interpretation of this relationship and a glimpse of previously unknown events that shaped the Sino Soviet alliance An appendix contains translated Chinese and Soviet documents many of which are being published for the first time The book focuses mainly on Communist China s relationship with Moscow after the conclusion of the treaty between the Soviet Union and Kuomintang China in 1945 up until the signing of the treaty between Moscow and the Chinese Communist Party in 1950 It also looks at China s relationship with Moscow from 1920 to 1945 as well as developments from 1950 to the present The author reevaluates existing sources and literature on the topic and demonstrates that the alliance was reached despite disagreements and distrust on both sides and was not an inevitable conclusion He also shows that the relationship between the two Communist parties was based on national interest politics and not on similar ideological convictions Tracking the Dragon National Intelligence Council (U.S.), 2004 CD ROM containing these and 34 other such documents Introd The International Position of Communist China : Political and Ideological Directions of Foreign Policy , 1958 ABA Journal , 1966-05 The ABA Journal serves the legal profession Qualified recipients are lawyers and judges law students law librarians and associate members of the American Bar Association Ideology and Organization in Communist China Franz Schurmann, 2023-11-10 In 1949 a powerful political military movement led by the Chinese Communist party gained control of war ravaged China inheriting a disorganized administration and a society eroded by decades of revolution Within a short time China was so radically transformed politically economically and socially that it appeared to have cut all links with the past The instruments of that transformation were ideology and organization Today seventeen years later the ideology and the organizational network despite changes remain as powerful as they were in 1949 They still hold that vast country together politically and determine its economic and social development This book after a discussion of ideology in its first part attempts to answer the question how Chinese Communist organization functions and why it is so successful The second part analyzes the organization of Party and government emphasizing methods of command and administration The third part looks at industrial organization the problems of management and control especially the continuing struggle between the professionals and the politicians The fourth part investigates the Chinese Communist methods of organizing their cities and villages tracing the history of village organization from traditional times through the Yen-an period the land reform of the late 1940 s and the collectivization of the mid 1950 s to communization in 1958 Although organization has been constantly changing in China basic patterns are apparent The book analyzes the most characteristic pattern in all aspects of organization the conflict between two incompatible elements or in the Chinese Communist terms contradictions The basic contradiction is that between professional expert and political red elements This contradiction dominates the two distinctive periods in the short history of Communist China the First Five Year Plan 1953 1957 and the so called Great Leap Forward 1958 1960 The book describes how the Chinese Communists attempted during the former period to emulate the Soviet organizational experience with stress on techniques and technology and during the latter period to use their own organizational methods to achieve economic progress The presentation of the contrast between these two models of organization sheds light on the significant differences between the Soviet Union and Communist China This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1966 Communist China: a Strategic Survey Army Library (U.S.),1966 Sino-Soviet Relations Since the Death of Stalin Peter Mayer,1961
