Treatment Rules and Trade Rules and Social Justice this text advances the thesis that international trade law neither is as unjust toward poor countries as critics of the GATT and WTO claim nor is the law as just toward them as GATT WTO defenders contend Bhala uses tools from economic development theory specifically from the Marxist Leninist critique of trade and from the capitalist models of economic growth constructed by leading economists The book also uses tools from theology specifically Catholic and Islamic concepts and principles of social justice Additionally Trade Development and Social Justice proposes specific improvements to make international trade law more socially just This book is part of the Studies on Globalization and Society Series edited by Raj Bhala Rice Distinguished Professor The University of Kansas School of Law This particular assessment is a long overdue analysis of how many participants view the entrenched framework for modern international trade For anyone seeking balance this work is a venerable presentation of how nations talk past each other in the supposed world trade dialogue between the Haves and Have Nots American Society of International Law Newsletter March 2004
