Internationalizing China David Zweig, 2018-05-31 China began opening to the outside world in 1978 This process was designed to remain under the state's control But the relative value of goods and services inside and outside China drove cities enterprises local governments and individuals with comparative advantage in international transactions to seek global linkages These contacts David Zweig asserts led to the deregulation of China's mercantilist regime Through extensive field research Zweig surveys the extraordinary changes in four sectors of China's domestic political economy the establishment of development zones rural joint ventures the struggle over foreign aid and higher education He also addresses the crucial question of whether on balance internationalization weakens or strengthens state power

America's Trade Follies Bernard K. Gordon, 2002-01-04 America's Trade Follies controversially argues that the global political economy is hardening into regional blocs in North America Latin America Europe and the Asia Pacific organized around a powerful economic base and suspicious of each other Bernard K Gordon's masterful analysis shows that this division threatens American prosperity by limiting US access to the world's richest and largest markets and endangers US security by dividing the globe along economic and political lines Provocative original and stimulating this book is essential reading for all those interested in American politics trade and international political economy

Lardy,2004-05-13 China's accession to the World Trade Organization WTO has been hailed as the biggest coming out party in the history of capitalism Its membership eventually will contribute to higher standards of living for its citizens and increased growth for its economy But why would the Chinese communist regime voluntarily agree to comply with the many complex rules of the global trading system since it has already become the world's seventh largest trading country while avoiding these constraints by remaining outside the system The answer to this question forms the basis for this new book Nicholas Lardy explores the many pressures on the Chinese government both external and internal to comply with the standards of the rule based international trading system Lardy points out that prior to entry into the WTO China enjoyed high growth rates and more foreign direct investment than any other emerging economy He draws on a wealth of scholarship and experience to explain how China's leadership expects to leverage the increased foreign competition inherent in its WTO commitments to accelerate its domestic economic reform program leading to the shrinkage and transformation of inefficient money losing companies and hastening the development of a commercial credit culture in its banks Lardy answers a number of other questions about China's new WTO membership including its effects on bilateral trade with the United States the possibility that China will use its power to reshape the WTO in the future the degree to which the terms of China's entry were more or less demanding than those for other new members the ability of China's economy to successfully open to new imports and the prospects for new growth in various sectors of China's economy made possible by WTO accession This book will become an important tool for those who wish to understand China's new role in the global trading system to take advantage of the new opportunities for investment in China The Middle East and North Africa 2003 Eur, Eastern Europe, Russia and Central Asia 2003 ,2000 Africa South of the Sahara 2003 Europa Publications,2002-10-31 A one volume library of essential and comprehensive data on all the countries of sub Saharan Africa including essays on regional issues statistical surveys and directories of invaluable contact names and addresses The Far East and Australasia 2003 Europa Publications,2002 A unique survey of each country in the region It includes an extensive collection of facts statistics analysis and directory information in one accessible volume South America, Central America and the Caribbean 2002 Jacqueline
