New Cultural Studies Gary Hall, 2006-11-10 What should or could cultural studies look like in the 21st Century? New Cultural Studies is both an introductory reference work and an original study which explores some of the most exciting new directions currently being opened up in cultural studies. A new generation has begun to emerge from the shadow of the Birmingham School a generation who have turned to theory as a means to think through some of the crucial problems and issues in contemporary culture. New Cultural Studies Adventures in Theory collects for the first time the ideas of this generation and explains just why theory continues to be crucial for cultural studies. especially future role in cultural studies It does so by providing an authoritative and accessible guide for students and researchers alike to some of the most interesting members of this post Birmingham school generation the thinkers and theories currently influencing new work in cultural studies Agamben Badiou Deleuze Derrida Hardt and Negri Kittler Laclau Levinas Zizek the new territories being mapped out across the intersections of cultural studies and cultural theory anti capitalism ethics the posthumanities post Marxism new media technologies the transnational

Cultural Studies of Rights John Nguyet Erni, 2014-06-11 At a time of global uncertainties and erosion of liberties how will cultural studies clear a space for a parallel intellectual and political engagement with human rights practice How will human rights thinking be liberated from its doctrinal approach to ethics and legal justice This book forges an alliance between cultural studies and human rights scholarships to help us better understand the changing and complex political context that continuously shapes contemporary violence To date interdisciplinary dialogue or institutional collaboration remains rare across the two domains resulting in critical interpretive work appearing too vacuous at times and institutional legal work often trapped in doctrinalism By opening a door for a new and engaging scholarship this book will re ignite debates and passions within communication and critical cultural studies in the search for global justice This book was originally published as a special issue of Communication and Critical Cultural Studies

Law and Cultural Studies John Erni, 2018-12-07 New and unrelenting violence linked to state inter state and private actors has precipitated a renewal of social movements many of which act in concert with human rights ethos and legal conceptions Yet cultural studies has so far had little engagement or institutional connection with these movements How can cultural studies as a progressive discipline think with and make space for rights inflected legal and humanitarian practices This book considers the ways in which cultural humanism and the critical approach to rights and more broadly between culture and law can be brought together to open a new intellectual space to allow cultural studies to better engage with the current challenges presented by social and political struggles worldwide It lays out the central theses essential for constructing a critical view of human rights and then advances a distinctive critical model of analysis that incorporates insights of postcolonial legal theorists and jurists from the Global South and important cultural theorists from the North while rethinking law rights and social movements as something constituted by multiple legal modernities Through case studies covering questions relating to sovereignty citizenship refugee displacement human rights defenders and gender and sexual rights Law and Cultural Studies develops a means by which the practice of cultural studies can be reinvigorated around the legal spaces institutions and movements tied to human rights struggles As such it will appeal to scholars of cultural and media studies critical legal studies political theory postcolonial studies and human rights

Cultural Studies 50 Years On Kieran

Connell, Matthew Hilton, 2016-09-30 Stuart Hall conceptualized his time at the Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies as a series of interruptions It was this fluidity that gave rise to Hall's conception of cultural studies as a moving target a fusion of a range of disciplinary approaches that was uniquely influenced by politics in the world beyond the academy The political commitments of those at the Centre were wide ranging and from its embrace of collective ways of research and decision making to its deployment of various strands of European Marxist theory had a critical impact on the Centre's working practices Yet as the diverse work of many of these same scholars has shown the political climate of the present day is almost unrecognizable from that of the mid 1960s to the mid 1980s arguably the most productive period in the Centre's history Cultural Studies 50 Years On explores how the political social and cultural contexts of the early 21st century influenced the object and method of doing cultural studies In bringing together a historical reassessment of the Centre with present day questions regarding the future of the field the aim is not to reduce cultural studies to the work of a single now defunct institution Instead it aims to utilize what is a critical moment in the trajectory of the field in order to take stock of where it has come from and to explore where it might be going
