Intimate Commodity Food And The Development Of The Agroindustrial Complex In Canada:

The Intimate Commodity Anthony Winson, 1993 This is the first book to examine power and control within the Canadian food economy and to blend historical scholarship with new empirical research on the topic      Tortillas and Tomatoes Tanya Basok, 2002 Based on interviews with Leamington greenhouse growers and migrant Mexican workers Tanya Basok offers a timely analysis of why the Seasonal Agricultural Workers Program is needed She argues that while Mexican workers do not necessarily constitute cheap labour for Canadian growers they are vital for the survival of some agricultural sectors because they are always available for work even on holidays and weekends or when exhausted sick or injured Basok exposes the mechanisms that make Mexican seasonal workers unfree and shows that the workers virtual inability to refuse the employer s demand for their labour is related not only to economic need but to the rigid control exercised by the Mexican Ministry of Labour and Social Planning and Canadian growers over workers participation in the Canadian guest worker program as well as the paternalistic relationship between the Mexican harvesters and their Canadian employers

Consumption in the Age of Affluence Ben Fine, Michael Heasman, Judith Wright, 2002-03-11 With growing affluence in the developed world food has become an increasing focus for attention Here the authors argue that in order to understand the extensive and dramatic developments in the world of food a new interdisciplinary approach is necessary The Age of Affluence successfully addresses food consumption in this way The volume argues the importance of socioeconomic and cultural factors over diet in influencing the production marketing and consumption of different groups of foods places food systems theory on sound analytical foundations draws critically upon food systems literature includes case studies from the sugar dairy and meat systems employs novel statistical techniques to identify and explain distinct patterns of food consumption The book will help to revitalize the discipline of food studies and points the way forward for the continuing study of food consumption As such it will be invaluable to students researchers and policymakers engaged in the world of food      The Trajectories of Rural Life University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, Saskatchewan Institute of Public Policy, 2003 Rural communities have been profoundly affected by recent political economic demographic and cultural change In Canada the impacts of these changes are all about us in the absolute population declines in Saskatchewan and Newfoundland in the crises of the east and west coast fisheries in the farm crisis in serious ecological problems and in the reorientation of rural social services There is a tendency to view these problems in stark terms as part of a qualitatively new era in Canadian history triggered perhaps by the forces of globalization or urbanization or the rise of the service sector economy In important ways however the problems of rural Canada are not particularly new Rural migration pollution wildlife conservation and other matters have been long standing persistent concerns of rural Canadians This book attempts to both resist the seemingly persistent urge to romanticize and prognosticate about rural Canada and the people who live geographically outside the urban environment and suggest different ways of looking at rural life In this sense its goal is to build upon an increasingly strong base of research and writing on rural Canada to suggest different perspectives on the countryside the small town the environment and the landscape      For Hunger-proof Cities International Development Research Centre (Canada),1999 For Hunger Proof Cities Sustainable urban food systems      Globalization and Food Sovereignty Peter Andr  e,Jeffrey Ayres,Michael J. Bosia,Marie-Jos  e Massicotte,2014-01-01 This collection examines expressions of food sovereignty ranging from the direct action tactics of La V a Campesina in Brazil to the consumer activism of the Slow Food movement and the negotiating stances of states from the global South at WTO negotiations With each case the contributors explore how claiming food sovereignty allows individuals to challenge the power of global agribusiness and reject neoliberal market economics      Imagining Sustainable Food Systems Alison Blay-Palmer,2016-05-13 What defines a sustainable food system How can it be more inclusive How do local and global scales interact and how does power flow within food systems How to encourage an interdisciplinary approach to realizing sustainable food systems And how to activate change These questions are considered by EU and North American academics and practitioners in this book Using a wide range of case studies it provides a critical overview showing how and where theory and practice can converge to produce more sustainable food systems      Tangled Routes Deborah Barndt,2008 Now in a thoroughly revised and updated edition Tangled Routes offers a vivid interdisciplinary examination of the global food system through the journey of a corporate tomato Through case studies in the three NAFTA countries Mexico the United States and Canada Deborah Barndt examines the dynamic relationships between production and consumption work and technology biodiversity and cultural diversity and health and environment The compelling stories of women workers along the tomato trail humanize her analysis of globalization taking into account the intersections of gender race class family status and north south relations      Ringin in the Common Love of Good Kerry Badgely,2000-02-24 By the mid 1920s the UFO had gone into a period of decline from which it never recovered The promise of equality hoped for by UFWO members never materialized and the UFCC once a key component in the development of an alternative vision began to focus more on profits than on politics In Ringin in the Common Love of Good Kerry Badgely explores both the rise and the fall of the UFO focusing on the Ontario counties of Lambton Simcoe and Lanark He challenges the liberal capitalist interpretation that the movement was nothing more than a group of impatient Liberals as well as the Marxist view that the UFO consisted of self interested independent commodity producers Badgely argues that as the UFO broke free from hegemonic forces it developed alternative economic political and social visions but that it was these same forces combined with internal struggles and a conservative leadership that ultimately resulted in the decline of the movement as a vehicle for democratic change in Ontario      Ringin in the Common Love of Good Kerry Badgely,2000 Badgely archivist National Archives of Canada explores the rise and fall of the United Farmers of Ontario UFO a party that won a majority in the 1919 provincial election and formed a ruling coalition with the Independent Labor Party The author challenges views that the UFO was a group of impatient liberals or self interested commodity producers and instead argues that the UFO developed alternative economic political and social visions that led to internal struggles ushering in the demise of a movement fighting for democratic change Canadian card order number C99 9010468 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Oxford Handbook of Food History Jeffrey M. Pilcher, 2012-10-16 Food matters not only as a subject of study in its own right but also as a medium for conveying critical messages about capitalism the environment and social inequality to diverse audiences Recent scholarship on the subject draws from both a pathbreaking body of secondary literature and an inexhaustible wealth of primary sources from ancient Chinese philosophical tracts to McDonald's menus contributing new perspectives to the historical study of food culture and society and challenging the limits of history itself The Oxford Handbook of Food History places existing works in historiographical context crossing disciplinary chronological and geographic boundaries while also suggesting new routes for future research The twenty seven essays in this book are organized into five sections historiography disciplinary approaches production circulation and consumption of food The first two sections examine the foundations of food history not only in relation to key developments in the discipline of history itself such as the French Annales school and the cultural turn but also in anthropology sociology geography pedagogy and the emerging Critical Nutrition Studies The following three sections sketch various trajectories of food as it travels from farm to table factory to eatery nature to society Each section balances material cultural and intellectual concerns whether juxtaposing questions of agriculture and the environment with the notion of cookbooks as historical documents early human migrations with modern culinary tourism or religious customs with social activism In its vast interdisciplinary scope this handbook brings students and scholars an authoritative guide to a field with fresh insights into one of the most fundamental human concerns

Odysseys of Plates and Palates: Food, Society and Sociality Simeon S. Magliveras, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2014 Is food merely fuel to keep us alive Consuming food is not simply about biological and nutritional needs Rather food like anything people engage with is inherently multi faceted The context of food and its discourses involve an interplay of our cognition and is a medium for our memory and identity Food from its mundane modes of production to the consumption of a single meal or even to the global networks which bring foods from distant lands to one's plate reflects and creates hegemonic relations between groups and individuals defining good and bad behaviour Food has been discussed since ancient times appearing in numerous ancient texts It has both been described as art and is the subject of art Food then is an expression of how we understand our world and humanity's place in it Food Pedagogies Rick Flowers, Elaine Swan, 2016-04-22 In recent years everyone from politicians to celebrity chefs has been proselytizing about how we should grow buy prepare present cook taste eat and dispose of food In light of this contributors to this book argue that food has become the target of intensified pedagogical activity across a range of domains including schools supermarkets families advertising and TV media Illustrated with a range of empirical studies this edited and interdisciplinary volume the first book on food pedagogies develops innovative and theoretical perspectives to problematize the practices of teaching and learning about food While many different pedagogues policy makers churches activists health educators schools tourist agencies chefs think we do not know enough about food and what to do with it the aims effects and politics of these pedagogies has been much less studied Drawing on a range of international studies diverse contexts genres and different methods this book provides new sites of investigation and lines of inquiry As a result of its broad ranging critical evaluation of food as classroom and food as teacher it provides theoretical resources for opening up the concept of pedagogy and assessing the moralities and politics of teaching and learning about food in the classroom and beyond The Industrial Diet Anthony Winson, 2014 Provides all the evidence anyone needs to understand the problems with our current food system Marion Nestle Professor of Nutrition Food Studies and Public Health at New York University A hugely informative book stocked full of careful analysis Amy Best Associate Professor of Sociology George Mason University Women Working the NAFTA Food Chain Deborah Barndt, 2004 When we purchase fruit in a supermarket order take out or sit down to a meal in a local restaurant we become the end consumers of a global production and distribution process that depends heavily on women's labour How are these women faring What constructive alternatives can we use to feed our world in a more humane and sustainable way This collection of original research takes a provocative look at how NAFTA is affecting the food system and its women workers Book jacket

Genetically Modified Diplomacy Peter Andrée, 2011-11-01 When genetically engineered seeds were first deployed in the Americas in the mid 1990s the biotechnology industry and its partners envisaged a world in which their crops would be widely accepted as the food of the future Critics however raised a variety of social environmental economic and health concerns This book traces the emergence of the 2000 Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety and the discourse of precaution toward GEOs that the protocol institutionalized internationally Peter Andrée explains this reversal in the common sense understanding of genetic engineering and discusses the new debates it has engendered Coasts Under Stress Rosemary E. Ommer, 2007-08-08 Rosemary Ommer and her project team combine formal scientific natural and social and humanist analysis with an examination of the lived experience of coastal people They analyze community erosion created by economic decline and the ecosystem damage caused by unrelenting industrial pressure on natural resources and look at the history of coastal communities their resource bases their economies and the way the lives of people are embedded in their environments      Contingent Work, Disrupted Lives Anthony Winson, Belinda Leach, 2002-01-01 The new rural economy involves a fundamental shift in the stability and security of people's lives and ultimately causes wrenching change and an arduous struggle as rural dwellers struggle to rebuild their lives in the new economic terrain
