An Analytical Guide to Television's Battlestar Galactica John Kenneth Muir, 2015-09-15 When the space drama Battlestar Galactica debuted on ABC in 1978 it was expected to be the most popular new program of the year Instead it was attacked as a Star Wars rip off and canceled after a mere 17 stories The author acknowledges the show was full of dramatic cliches and scientific inaccuracies but despite these shortcomings Battlestar Galactica was a dramatically resonant series full of unique and individual characters such as Commander Adama Lorne Greene and ace warrior Captain Apollo Richard Hatch The author contends that Battlestar Galactica was a memorable attempt to make science fiction accessible to mainstream television audiences The brilliant work of artist John Dykstra brought a new world of special effects to network television Battlestar Galactica also skillfully exploited legends and names from both the Bible and ancient mythology which added a layer of depth and maturity to the weekly drama Television in Black-and-white America Alan Nadel, 2005 La couverture indigne Alan Nadel s new book reminds us that most of the images on early TV were decidedly Caucasian and directed at predominantly white audiences Television did not invent whiteness for America but it did reinforce it as the norm particularly during the Cold War years Nadel now shows just how instrumental it was in constructing a narrow conservative and very white vision of America During this era prime time TV was dominated by adult Westerns with heroes like The Rebel s Johnny Yuma reincarnating Southern values and Bonanza s Cartwright family reinforcing the notion of white patriarchy programs that Nadel shows bristled with Cold War messages even as they spoke to the nation s mythology America had become visually reconfigured as a vast Ponderosa crisscrossed by concrete highways designed to carry suburban white drivers beyond the moral challenge of racism racial poverty and increasingly vocal civil rights demands Programming for TV, Radio, and the Internet Philippe Perebinosoff, Brian Gross, Lynne S.
