The Two Faces of Liberalism Gordon Lloyd, 2006 Visions and Faces of the Tragic Paul M. Blowers, 2020-06-11 Despite the pervasive early Christian repudiation of pagan theatrical art especially prior to Constantine this monograph demonstrates the increasing attention of late ancient Christian authors to the genre of tragedy as a basis to explore the complexities of human finitude suffering and mortality in relation to the wisdom justice and providence of God The book argues that various Christian writers particularly in the post Constantinian era were keenly devoted to the mimesis or imaginative re presentation of the tragic dimension of creaturely existence more than with simply mimicking the poetics of the classical Greek and Roman tragedians It analyses a whole array of hermeneutical literary and rhetorical manifestations of tragical mimesis in early Christian writing which capitalizing on the elements of tragedy already perceptible in biblical revelation aspired to deepen and edify Christian engagement with multiform evil and with the extreme vicissitudes of historical existence Early Christian tragical mimetics included not only interpreting and often amplifying the Bible s own tragedies for contemporary audiences but also developing models of the Christian self as a tragic self revamping the Christian moral conscience as a tragical conscience and cultivating a distinctively Christian tragical pathos The study culminates in an extended consideration of the theological intelligence and accountability of tragical vision and tragical mimesis in early Christian literary culture and the unique role of the theological virtue of hope in its repertoire of tragical emotions

The Faces of Forgiveness F. LeRon Shults, Steven J. Sandage, 2003-05-01 While forgiveness has historically been regarded as a religious concern it has also become a popular topic in contemporary psychology Unfortunately there has been little effort to combine a Christian understanding of forgiveness with psychology The Faces of Forgiveness winner of the Narramore Award from the Christian Association for Psychological Studies steps in to fill this void The authors fuse Christian forgiveness and psychology with the unifying motif of the face thereby building on the considerable psychological research linking emotions related to forgiveness with the human face At a deeper level the face can serve as a metaphor for integrating forgiveness wholeness and salvation The authors argue that forgiveness should take a central role in our understanding of salvation because it is warranted by the Bible and engages our postmodern context Pastors psychologists family counselors and students of psychology and theology will find The Faces of Forgiveness a helpful resource

The Theology of Fear in Thomas Aquinas's Summa Theologiae Nathan Luis Cartagena, 2024-05-23 The Theology of Fear in Thomas Aquinas's Summa Theologiae excavates and explores Thomas Aquinas's comparatively expansive theology of fear that he develops in the Summa theologiae Whereas many classify fear under a single category e.g. an emotion passion or sentiment Thomas specifies seven major categories of fear including the passion and gift of fear And while many classify courage as the lone virtue indexed to fear Thomas argues that courage and perseverance perfect it adding that a Spirit empowered gift of courage also perfects human fears so that human beings may attain and remain in blessedness A work in retrieval theology designed for Thomas and non Thomas scholars operating within the interactions of theology and psychology this book argues that understanding this theology's motivations internal coherence and merits is necessary for understanding Thomas's instruction for beginners in the Christian religion and its ongoing relevance for today

Four Faces of Anger Gertrude Gillette, 2010-06-07 Four Faces of Anger brings to the modern age wisdom on the topic of anger by four ancient authors These authors are broadly representative of the classic views on anger in the tradition Seneca the first century A.D. stoic philosopher whose moral teaching won the admiration of pagans and Christians alike even that of the irascible Jerome Evagrius who represents the monastic anchoritic tradition of the desert and its emphasis on the spiritual growth of the individual Cassian who trained in the same desert shaped this tradition to speak to cenobites in the West Our last author Augustine treats of the subject both as monastic legislator for his monks and as bishop for his lay congregation His Rule for monks has one whole chapter devoted to the topic of how to deal with anger in a community setting Although his initial ideas expressed in abstractions and ideals are important foundations for communal living Augustine goes on to teach that the genuine work of building a loving and unified community is realized in the concrete struggles of human nature striving to overcome the tendencies of individualism and egoism Anger a force that often breaks down and prevents the growth of community must eventually be squarely faced and according to all of the monastic authors discussed in this book the sooner the better This chapter also includes several instances in Augustine s own life when he had to deal with anger in himself in his congregation or in the wider world that often solicited his help The reader will soon realize that the Christian authors are not much interested in what anger is from a psychological perspective though their treatment of anger is not entirely devoid of this element but their focus is rather on how the vice of anger inhibits the spiritual growth of the soul and its relationship with God Everyone whether monastic or not will glean from these pages the essential elements of detecting eliminating and controlling the negative side of this emotion
