Book

Photographs by B.A.KING • Text by JONATHAN ELA

An aerial photograph showing a rugged coastline. A narrow strip of land, densely covered in green forest, runs diagonally from the top left towards the bottom right. The land is characterized by a series of dark, jagged rock formations or cliffs that protrude into the water. The water on the left is a vibrant turquoise color, while the water on the right is a deeper blue. The sky is a clear, pale blue.

David Edmunds combines careful research with creative storytelling to give voice to indigenous individuals and families and to illustrate the impact of pivotal events on their lives A nonfiction account accompanies each narrative to provide necessary historical and cultural context Voices in the Drum features nine stories each of which focuses on a fictional character who is a composite or representation of historical people This series of portrayals takes the reader on an epic journey through time beginning in the early 1400s with the Mound Builder cultures and ending with the modern day urbanization of Native people Along the way we observe fictional characters interacting with real historical figures such as Anthony Wayne Tecumseh and John Sutter and taking part in actual events such as the Battle of Fallen Timbers the Trail of Tears the California gold rush and the forced removal of Native children to off reservation boarding schools The people portrayed in these pages belong to various tribes including Potawatomis Lakotas Oneidas and Cherokees Their individual stories ranging from humorous to tragic give readers a palpable sense of how tribal peoples reacted to the disruptive changes forced on them by European colonizers and U.S. government policies Both entertaining and insightful the stories in this volume traverse a range of time periods events themes and genres As such they reverberate like voices in the drum inviting readers of all backgrounds to engage anew with the rich history and cultures of indigenous peoples Lake Series United States.
