The Next Wave Elizabeth Rusch, 2014. Traces the innovative efforts of the scientific community to transform ocean waves into a renewable source of electrical power.

The Age of New Waves James Tweedie, 2013-09-02. The Age of New Waves examines the origins of the concept of the new wave in 1950s France and the proliferation of new waves in world cinema over the past three decades. The book suggests that youth cities and the construction of a global market have been the catalysts for the cinematic new waves of the past half century. It begins by describing the enthusiastic engagement between French nouvelle vague filmmakers and a globalizing American cinema and culture during the modernization of France after World War II. It then charts the growing and ultimately explosive disenchantment with the aftermath of that massive social, economic and spatial transformation in the late 1960s. Subsequent chapters focus on films and visual culture from Taiwan and contemporary mainland China during the 1980s and 1990s and they link the recent propagation of new waves on the international film festival circuit to the economic miracles and consumer revolutions accompanying the process of globalization. While it travels from France to East Asia, the book follows the transnational movement of a particular model of cinema organized around mise en scène or the interaction of bodies, objects and spaces within the frame rather than montage or narrative. The master shot style of directors like Hou Hsiao Hsien, Tsai Ming Liang and Jia Zhangke has reinvented a crucial but overlooked tendency in new wave film and this cinema of mise en scène has become a key aesthetic strategy for representing the changing relationships between people and the material world during the rise of a global market. The final chapter considers the interaction between two of the most global phenomena in recent film history: the transnational art cinema and Hollywood, and it searches for traces of an American New Wave.

Promoting conscious and active learning and aging: how to face current and future challenges? Albertina Lima de Oliveira, 2013-12-01. The European Union has committed itself to the goal of extending the healthy lifespan of its citizens by two years under the 2020 strategy. This book brings together a diverse range of overviews, reflections and empirical research in the area which arise from the contribution of professionals and researchers from different fields of knowledge. Together they undertake to suggest possible pathways and to inspire action in all those who see themselves as participants in the processes and endeavour of building a society which espouses active, dignified, healthy and mindful aging. The background perspective which informs this project, which is commonly referred to as Lifelong Education, calls for an integrated approach from diverse areas of knowledge in the service of building a more enlightened society, less susceptible to the influence of prejudices, enriched with human beings driven by ideals of health, justice, solidarity and nobility of spirit. Life must be understood as a totality that takes meaning from all its phases and which stimulates the vast potential that human beings including older people and society at large with its various systems have for the common good Let us face the challenge of building a new humanism placing human beings and the sustainability of all forms of life at the centre of the dynamic process of change      Aging Harold Cox,2007 Provides access to articles selected from the best of the public press This work s organizational features include an annotated listing of selected World Wide Web sites an annotated table of contents a topic guide a general introduction brief overviews for each section an index and an instructor s resource guide with testing materials      Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office United States. Wilcox,2019-01-16 Mother Teresa said to have courage for whatever comes in life everything lies in that When people think about courage they often think about those who put their lives on the line for us every day like first responders firefighters or police officers But there are so many others who quietly endure with steadfast courage whatever comes their way in life These people are like the anawhim in the Old Testament the good kind people whom very few know about but who trust in the Lord He is their strength It is because of their faith in him that they live their lives with courage to face whatever comes their way In over thirty years as a psychotherapist and spiritual director Wilcox has often been amazed at the strength and courage of so many of his clients Some have faced physical disabilities others struggle with mental emotional or psychological problems still others with personal family or career issues These people are what he calls the hidden faces of courage Often they are not well known They certainly receive no notoriety or press Yet they are always there doing the best they can each day This book is an invitation to understand and appreciate the unnoticed courage and strength of ordinary people If we can walk in their shoes it will help us to be courageous for whatever comes to us in life      Building Age ,1901      The Face Of God Joel Krupa,2016-02-28 Joel Krupa s book The Face of God is an absolute triumph and journey of a married man named Benjamin whose wife gets some of the worst news of her life This news impacts both of them and as they do their best to make sense of what has transpired they remember fondly the days of their youth and all the moments they got to share as a couple so madly in love could You will feel the joy You will taste the tears and you will be crushed with heartache This is Joel Krupa s The Face Of God      Age Matters Toni M. Calasanti,Kathleen F. Slevin,2013-10-11 This volume of original chapters is designed to bring attention to a neglected area of feminist scholarship aging After several decades of feminist studies we are now well informed of the complex ways that gender shapes the lives of women and men Similarly we know more about how gendered power relations interface with race and ethnicity class and sexual orientation Serious theorizing of old age and age relations to gender represents the next frontier of feminist scholarship In this volume leading national and international feminist scholars of aging take first steps in this direction illuminating how age relations interact with other social inequalities particularly gender In doing so the authors challenge and transform feminist scholarship and many taken for granted concepts in gender studies
