Ball,Kellie Carter Jackson,2017-04-15 This wide ranging interdisciplinary collection the first of its kind invites us to reconsider the politics and scope of the Roots phenomenon of the 1970s Alex Haley s 1976 book was a publishing sensation selling over a million copies in its first year and winning a National Book Award and a special Pulitzer Prize The 1977 television adaptation was more than a blockbuster miniseries it was a galvanizing national event drawing a record shattering viewership earning thirty eight Emmy nominations and changing overnight the discourse on race civil rights and slavery These essays from emerging and established scholars in history sociology film and media studies interrogate Roots assessing the ways that the book and its dramatization recast representations of slavery labor and the black family reflected on the promise of freedom and civil rights and engaged discourses of race gender violence and power in the United States and abroad Taken together the essays ask us to reconsider the limitations and possibilities of this work which although dogged by controversy must be understood as one of the most extraordinary media events of the late twentieth century a cultural touchstone of enduring significance Contributors Norvella P Carter Warren Chalklen Elise Chatelain Robert K Chester Clare Corbould C Richard King David J Leonard Delia Mellis Francesca Morgan Tyler D Parry Martin Stollery Dominic Meng Hsuan Yang Bhekuyise Zungu Reference Sources Linda Mark,1980 Militarization, Internal Repression and Social Welfare in the Third World Miles D Wolpin,2023-10-27 First published in 1986 Militarization Internal Repression and Social Welfare in the Third World argues that there is a relationship between the level of a regime s military spending and the degree of internal repression it inflicts This book presents a detailed empirical analysis of this situation and presents the results of more than three dozen researchers who have published comparative or case studies of the substitution effects of military expenditures in socio economic areas While the primary concern is with the Third World the book also analyses the costs to advanced capitalist and to state socialist systems and discusses their role in further militarization This book will be of interest to students of political science international relations colonialism and area studies American Book Publishing Record Cumulative, 1950-1977 R.R. Possible violation or circumvention of the Clark Amendment United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on Africa,1988 Israel, Jordan, and the Peace Process Yehuda Lukacs,1997 Israel and Jordan even though self proclaimed enemies of one another practiced a relationship of interdependence based on corresponding interests In the years following the 1967 war these two countries fates were delicately intertwined because of many factors like mutual reliance on natural resources especially water and parallel interests in the subordination of the Palestinian national movement These conditions of commonality led to extensive ties between the two countries and approximated a state of de facto peace that ironically made an official peace treaty almost impossible to sign A formal peace treaty would have required not only Israel's withdrawal from the West Bank but also Jordan's acknowledgment of the clandestine contacts between the two formal enemies Yehuda Lukacs gives us an account of how this relationship changed in 1988 when Jordan disengaged from the West Bank This event combined with the Palestinian uprising and the Gulf War paved the way for Israel and Jordan in 1994 to sign the Israeli Jordanian peace treaty By systematically examining the impact of functional cooperation between two official enemies Lukacs makes an important contribution to Middle East studies and international conflict resolution The Language of Foreign Affairs ,1987-10 Dictionary of International Relations Terms

Information Technology In The Third World William James Stover,2019-03-13 Mass media telecommunications and computer technology can effect change in poor countries but Third World leaders are often disappointed in the results Professor Stover looks closely at information technology and communication as agents of economic social and political development in Third World countries stressing that definitions of communication and development must include participation in the exchange of information and the attainment of humane values He examines reasons why the current world information order does not meet the needs of the Third World and argues that the major difficulty in achieving the potential of information technology for humane development is a cyclical pattern involving technology and values When countries acquire the physical means of communication their leaders are tempted to control them resulting in censorship that prevents genuine communication Breaking this cycle is a major requirement in using information technology for development and Dr Stover discusses how this may be accomplished practically in developmental Western and Soviet contexts
