Fair Exchange Humphrey S. Finney, Raleigh Burroughs, 1974-01-01 Fair Exchange; Recollections of a Life with Horses Humphrey S. Finney, Raleigh Burroughs, 1974 An Empire of Their Own Neal Gabler, 2010-11-17 A provocative original and richly entertaining group biography of the Jewish immigrants who were the moving forces behind the creation of America's motion picture industry The names Harry Cohn William Fox Carl Laemmle Louis B Mayer Jack and Harry Warner and Adolph Zucker are giants in the history of contemporary Hollywood outsiders who dared to invent their own vision of the American Dream Even to this day the American values defined largely by the movies of these migrants endure in American cinema and culture Who these men were how they came to dominate Hollywood and what they gained and lost in the process is the exhilarating story of An Empire of Their Own Letters from Country Life Josh Pons, 2024-08-06 Josh Pons a third generation horseman and owner of Country Life Farm depicts a century of life inside the horse business written from inside the fences of Maryland's oldest Thoroughbred farm In 2016 in the basement of his farmhouse Josh Pons discovered thousands of letters from his grandfather's life in the Thoroughbred horse business The son of a French cook who came to New York City in 1894 Adolphe Pons got his start working in the Fifth Avenue mansion of Gilded Age banker August Belmont II Adolphe became his personal secretary and later played a major role in Belmont's breeding and sale of the most famous horse in history Man o War During the Great Depression Adolphe left New York and bought a hundred acre horse farm in Maryland naming it Country Life after the station stop on the Long Island Railroad nearest his Garden City home In serial form Josh Pons expands on the column he wrote for the leading horse publication The BloodHorse inviting readers to once more step into the attic garret alongside him as he recovers long lost voices speaking out of letters telegrams and photos Upon the attic stage appear Gilded Age tycoons from whom the author's grandfather bought and sold horses against the backdrop of World War I the Great Depression and World War II As Josh draws from the farmhouse's rich archive he chronicles his grandfather's life and times and shares his own candid reflections The result is a fascinating and fresh look at the Golden Age of Horse Racing and how the past influences our present The Clarks of Cooperstown Nicholas Fox Weber, 2009-03-12 Nicholas Fox Weber author of the acclaimed Patron Saints Exhilarating avant garde entertainment Sam Hunter The New York Times Book Review and Balthus The authoritative account of his life and work Michael Ravitch Newsday gives us now the idiosyncratic lives of Sterling and Stephen Clark two of America's greatest art collectors heirs to the Singer sewing machine fortune and for decades enemies of each other He tells the story as well of the two generations that preceded theirs giving us an intimate portrait of one of the least known of America's richest families He begins with Edward Clark the brothers grandfather who amassed the Clark fortune in the late nineteenth century a man with nerves of steel a Sunday school teacher who became the business partner of the wild inventor and genius Isaac Merritt Singer And by the turn of the twentieth century was the major stockholder of the Singer Manufacturing Company We follow Edward's rise

as a real estate wizard making headlines in 1880 when he commissioned Manhattan's first luxury apartment building. The house was called Clark's Folly; today it's known as the Dakota. We see Clark's son Alfred, enigmatic and famously reclusive at thirty-eight, he inherited 50 million and became one of the country's richest men. An image of propriety, good husband, father of four in Europe, he led a secret homosexual life. Alfred was a man with a passion for art and charity, which he passed on to his four sons, in particular Sterling and Stephen. Clark Sterling, the second oldest, buccaneering and controversial, loved impressionism, created his own museum in Williamstown, Massachusetts, and shocked his family by marrying an actress from the Comedie Francaise. Together the Sterling Clarks collected thousands of paintings and bred racehorses. In a highly public case, Sterling sued his three brothers over issues of inheritance and then never spoke to them again. He was one of the central figures linked to a bizarre and little-known attempted coup against Franklin Delano Roosevelt's presidency. We are told what really happened and why and who in American politics was implicated but never prosecuted. Sterling's brother Stephen, self-effacing and responsible, became chairman and president of the Museum of Modern Art and gave that institution its first painting, Edward Hopper's House by the Railroad. Thirteen years later, in an act that provoked intense controversy, Stephen dismissed the Museum's visionary founding director Alfred Barr, who for more than a decade had single-handedly established the collection and exhibition programs that determined how the art of the twentieth century was regarded. Stephen gave or bequeathed to museums many of the paintings that today are still their greatest attractions. With authority, insight, and a flair for evoking time and place, Weber examines the depths of the brothers' passions, the vehemence of their lifelong feud, the great art they acquired, and the profound and lasting impact they had on artistic vision in America.

Maryland Thoroughbred Racing Brooke Gunning, Paige Horine, 2005. Thoroughbred racing has always played a central role in Maryland's identity and must continue into the 21st century. Gov. Bob Ehrlich and countless other Marylanders salute the cherished history of thoroughbred racing, though jousting is the official state sport. This volume highlights the people, places, races, faces, and most important of all, the horses that have held the public's attention and bolstered Maryland's economy for several centuries. Subjects range from the legendary to the forgotten and from millionaires to railbirds. Horse racing is a great equalizer, drawing fans of all ages and walks of life. Never Say Die James C. Nicholson, 2013-05-04. A history of the American horse that won Britain's greatest race and changed the Thoroughbred racing world. A quarter of a million people braved miserable conditions at Epsom Downs on June 2, 1954, to see the 175th running of the prestigious Derby Stakes. Queen Elizabeth II and Sir Winston Churchill were in attendance along with thousands of Britons who were all convinced of the unfailing superiority of English bloodstock and eager to see a British colt take the victory. They were shocked when a Kentucky-born chestnut named Never Say Die galloped to a two-length triumph at odds of 33-1, winning Britain's greatest race and beginning an important shift in the world of Thoroughbred racing. Never Say Die traces the history of this extraordinary colt beginning with his foaling in Lexington Kentucky as well as the stories of the influential individuals brought together by the horse and his victory from the heir to the Singer sewing machine fortune to the Aga Khan Most fascinating is the tale of Mona Best of Liverpool England whose well placed bet on the long shot Derby contender allowed her to open the Casbah Coffee Club There her son met musicians John Lennon Paul McCartney and George Harrison later joining their band Featuring a foreword by the original drummer for the Beatles Pete Best this remarkable book reveals how an underdog s surprise victory played a part in the formation of the most successful and influential rock band in history and made the Bluegrass region of Kentucky the center of the international Thoroughbred industry Praise for Never Say Die Nicholson has done a very fine job of placing the unique role of Never Say Die in perspective within the specific confines of Thoroughbred racing history while at the same time explaining how this horse was touched by a vivid array of characters in other social and historical contexts Who would have imagined that a racehorse would link such diverse institutions as the Singer sewing machine company the Epsom Derby and the Beatles Edward L Bowen author of The Lucky Thirteen As a reader I was left with a clear understanding of how the breeding industry has gone global and importantly how it will always follow the money Racing enthusiasts will enjoy how the author sews together this unusual patchwork of characters into a narrative John Eisenberg author of The Great Match Race When North Met South in America s First Sports Spectacle Enlightening and entertaining Nicholson s tale of close connections and global links is a yarn worth following Wall Street Journal
