Brooklands in 100 Objects Nigel Spooner, 2024-06-30 At the dawn of the twentieth century mankind had not yet achieved powered flight The main motive power then was provided by steam engines heavy dirty and inefficient If one wanted to travel over seas one had to travel on them A journey from London to New York by steam driven train and ship took more than 6 days By the time the same century drew to a close in December 1999 air travel was the normal choice for long journeys Millions of people every day flew comfortably and safely in pressurised aluminium airliners propelled by simple clean and efficient gas turbine engines The same journey from London to New York could be achieved at supersonic speed in less than 6 hours For much of that century many of the extraordinary developments that moved aviation from fragile wood and fabric biplanes to supersonic transports were achieved on 330 acres of low lying former estate farmland in Surrey England The estate was called Brooklands Those marshy acres were transformed from 1907 into the world's first custom built motor racing circuit then a rapidly developing aerodrome and finally one of the country's largest aircraft factories employing tens of thousands of people Nearly 19 000 aircraft of many different types were built at Brooklands during nine decades of peace and war By the 1980s however it was being eclipsed by larger manufacturing sites elsewhere with longer runways and better communications links its owner by then called British Aerospace finally closed the factory in 1989 This book tells the history of those amazing developments through 100 of the key aircraft engines places and other objects that can still be seen either in or near Brooklands Museum or in other locations around the country It also highlights the stories of six designers whose inspiring creativity produced aircraft engines and weapons ranging from Camel to Concorde Fury to Harrier Wellington to Viscount Merlin to Olympus Between them Thomas Sopwith Barnes Wallis Rex Pierson Sydney Camm Stanley Hooker and George Edwards were responsible for much of what was designed built and flown not only at Brooklands but elsewhere too The book is arranged in successive historical episodes but the many links between the objects and the designers should allow readers to follow different paths if they so wish It is not intended as a technical reference but rather to inspire the reader to seek out the objects and discover more about them

Pioneering Places of British Aviation Bruce Hales-Dutton,2020-03-30 From as early as the beginning of the nineteenth century Britain was at the forefront of powered flight Across the country many places became centres of innovation and experimentation as increasing numbers of daring men took to the skies It was in 1799 at Brompton Hall that Sir George Cayley Bart put forward ideas which formed the basis of powered flight Cayley is widely regarded as the father of aviation and his ancestral home the cradle of British aviation There were balloon flights at Hendon from 1862 although attempts at powered flights from the area later used as the famous airfield do not seem to have been particularly successful Despite this Louis Bleriot established a flying school there in 1910 It was gliders that Percy Pilcher flew from the grounds of Stamford Hall Leicestershire during the 1890s He was killed in a crash there in 1899 but Pilcher had plans for a powered aircraft which experts believe may well have enabled him to beat the Wright Brothers in becoming the first to make a fixed wing powered flight At Brooklands attempts were made to build and fly a powered aircraft in 1906 even before the banked racetrack was completed but these were unsuccessful But on 8 June 1908 A V Roe made what is considered to be the first powered flight in Britain from there in reality a short hop in a machine of his own design and construction enabling Brooklands to claim to be the birthplace of British aviation These are just a few of the many places investigated by Bruce Hales Dutton in this intriguing look at the early days of British aviation which includes the first ever aircraft factory in Britain in the railway arches at Battersea Larkhill on Salisbury Plain which became the British Army s first airfield and Barking Creek where Frederick Handley Page established his first factory
