United States Health Care Policymaking Sunday E. Ubokodom, 2012-04-12 Health care is a very important component of the American economy The United States Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services CMS put the 2008 direct health care expenditures at about 2.34 trillion or about 16.2 percent of the nation's gross domestic product GDP or an average of 7,681 spent for every man woman and child in the country Health care cost increases have caused very serious problems that threaten to bankrupt the system providers employers and the families that pay the costs that their health insurance plans do not cover Additionally cost increases have reduced access to health care services adversely affected the quality of care and resulted in avoidable illnesses premature deaths and in health disparities based on race ethnicity and income Consequently health care reform has continuously been on the public and governmental agendas It is out of this environment that several reform plans including the 1993 Health Security Act and the 2010 Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act PPACA were launched This book examines the ideological social cultural economic and several other factors that dictate the various measures and approaches employed to tackle the perceived problems The book has an index tables charts and figures lists of major terms and review questions for each chapter This book will appeal to students in Master of Health Administration MHA Master of Public Health MPH Master of Public Administration MPA Master of Science in Nursing MSN health certificate programs and junior and senior level undergraduate students in political science public administration public health and public policy In addition to serving as a core text for health policy and administration classes the book will serve as a supplementary text for graduate level courses
