Fragments of the European City Stephen Barber, 2013-06-01 This book explores the visual transformation of the contemporary European city focusing on the most emblematic and visibly wounded of all European cities Berlin Taking as its subject the intricately assembled relentlessly disassembling metropolitan screen it charts the virulent implosions of culture the distortions and violence that give city living its fractured and hallucinatory quality Provocatively written as a series of interlocking poetic fragments the text evokes the formation of metropolitan identity as it ricochets between the physical surface of the city and the vulnerable but manipulating consciousness of city dwellers Barber has discovered a powerful new vocabulary a vocabulary charged with the visual and sonic impact of the cinema Like the city the text pulsates creatively chaotic raw and exhilarating

Equivocal City Patrick Coleman, 2018-10-30 The study of Montreal as a specific location in French and English writings has long been subordinated to the demands of linguistically divided and politically contentious narratives about national development In this cross linguistic study Patrick Coleman models an inclusive and post national literary history of the city itself Tracing a sequence of moments in the emergence of the Montreal novel from World War II to the turbulent 1960s Equivocal City offers close readings of fourteen key works of fiction focusing on the inner dynamic of their construction as well as the unexpected convergences and contrasts in the narrative structures they adopt and the aesthetic perspective they seek to achieve Critically sophisticated but accessibly written this book gives a sympathetic account of how writers in both languages struggled to give integrated artistic expression to their experience of a city that was still linguistically compartmentalized and culturally insecure By analyzing the interplay between story and narrative form the book explores what French and English novelists could and could not imagine about the Montreal they sought to portray From the responsible realism of Hugh MacLennan and Gabrielle Roy to the fractious phantasmagorias of Jacques Ferron and Leonard Cohen Equivocal City traces the evolution of the Montreal novel with the aim of retrieving a shareable literary past

Self-Organization and the City Juval Portugali, 2012-12-06 Cities first came into existence more than five thousand years ago How to deal with these partly fascinating partly frightening creatures of mankind both practically and intellectually concerns all of us and in particular presents a real challenge to city planners Each historical epoch has had its own particular attitudes associated with the Zeitgeist Accordingly the planning and steering of cities were based on quite different criteria But in spite of these differences the concept of planning and steering was and still is the cornerstone of our dealing with cities Nevertheless the planner's dilemma is becoming more and more visible cities and megacities seem to be unplannable In this book Juval Portugali introduces a new idea Cities are self organizing systems To substantiate his revolutionary concept he uses several interlinked methods On the one hand and to my own delight he employs in his arguments theoretical tools developed in the interdisciplinary field of synergetics On the other hand jointly with his co workers he has performed detailed model calculations on cellular nets It has been a great pleasure and a wonderful experience for me to discuss these concepts with Juval Portugali over a number of years I was repeatedly and deeply impressed by the way he established profound and often surprising links to other fields of science Complexity, Cognition and the City Juval Portugali, 2011-07-06 Complexity Cognition and the City aims at a deeper understanding of urbanism while invoking on an equal footing the contributions both the hard and soft sciences have made and are still making when grappling with the many issues and facets of regional planning and dynamics In this work the author goes beyond merely seeing the city as a self organized emerging pattern of some collective interaction between many stylized urban agents he makes the crucial step of attributing cognition to his agents and thus raises for the first time the question on how to deal with a complex system composed of many interacting complex agents in clearly defined settings Accordingly the author eventually addresses issues of practical relevance for urban planners and decision makers The book unfolds its message in a largely nontechnical manner so as to provide a broad interdisciplinary readership with insights ideas and other stimuli to encourage further research with the twofold aim of further pushing back the boundaries of complexity science and emphasizing the all important interrelation of hard and soft sciences in recognizing the cognitive sciences as another necessary ingredient for meaningful urban studies
