Actors and Networks in the Megacity Prachi More, 2017-10-15 This study is a concise introduction to Bruno Latour's Actor Network Theory and its application in a literary analysis of urban narratives of the 21st century We encounter well known psycho geographers such as Iain Sinclair and Sam Miller and renowned authors Patrick Neate and Suketu Mehta Prachi More analyses these authors accounts of vastly different cities such as London Delhi Mumbai Johannesburg New York and Tokyo Are these urban narratives a contemporary solution to documenting an ever evasive urban reality If so how do they embody matters of concern as Latour would have put it laying bare modern day actors and networks rather than reporting mere matters of fact These questions are drawn into an inter disciplinary discussion that addresses concerns and questions of epistemology the sociology of knowledge as well as urban and documentary studies

Lizzie Lizard is so excited about trying out a trampoline that she forgets the most important safety rule

Building Communication Theories Fred L. Casmir,2013-10-16 Concern with various matters related to humans as they communicate has led to an increase in both research and theorizing during the second half of the 20th century As a matter of fact so many scholars and so many disciplines have become involved in this process that it is virtually impossible to understand and appreciate all that has been accomplished so far This book focuses on one important aspect of human sense making theory building and strives to clarify the thesis that theories do not develop in some sort of social intellectual or cultural vacuum They are necessarily the products of specific times insights and mindsets Theories dealing with the process of communication or communicating are tied to socio cultural value systems and historic factors that influence individuals in ways often inadequately understood by those who use them The process orientation of this book inevitably leads to an emphasis on the perceptions of human beings Thus the focus shifts from the subject or area called communication to the act of communicating Finally this volume offers insight into how the process of human sense making has evolved in those academic fields commonly identified as communication rhetoric speech communication or speech within specific socio cultural settings

Revising Fiction, Fact, and Faith Nathaniel Goldberg,Chris Gavalier,2020-07-01 This book addresses how our revisionary practices account for relations between texts and how they are read It offers an overarching philosophy of revision concerning works of fiction fact and faith revealing unexpected insights about the philosophy of language the metaphysics of fact and fiction and the history and philosophy of science and religion Using the novels of J R R Tolkien as exemplars the authors introduce a fundamental distinction between the purely physical and the linguistic aspects of texts They then demonstrate how two competing theories of reference descriptivism and referentialism are instead constitutive of a single semantic account needed to explain all kinds of revision The authors also propose their own metaphysical foundations of fiction and fact The next part of the book brings the authors philosophy of revision into dialogue with Thomas Kuhn s famous analysis of factual and specifically scientific change It also discusses a complex episode in the history of paleontology demonstrating how scientific and popular texts can diverge over time Finally the authors expand their philosophy of revision to religious texts arguing that rather than being distinct such texts are always read as other kinds that faith tends to be more important as evidence for religious texts than for others and that the latter explains why religious communities tend to have remarkable historical longevity Revising Fiction Fact and Faith offers a unique and comprehensive account of the philosophy of revision It will be of interest to a wide range of scholars and advanced students working in
