Girls who Like Boys who Like Boys Melissa De la Cruz, Tom Dolby, 2007 A collection of twenty eight essays celebrates the friendships between straight women and gay men and includes contributions by Andrew Solomon Simon Doonan and Cindy Chupack

Straight Skin, Gay Masks and Pretending to be Gay on Screen Gilad Padva, 2020-05-11 Straight Skin Gay Masks and Pretending to Be Gay on Screen examines cinematic depictions of pretending to be gay assessing performances that not only reflect heteronormative and explicitly homophobic attitudes but also offer depictions of gay selfhood with more nuanced multidirectional identifications The case of straight protagonists pretending to be gay on screen is the ideal context in which to study unanticipated progressivity and dissidence in regard to cultural construction of human sexualities in the face of theatricalized epistemological collapse Teasing apart the dynamics of depictions of both sexual stability and fluidity in cinematic images of men pretending to be gay offers new insights into such salient issues as sexual vulnerability and dynamics and long term queer visibility in a politically complicated mass culture which is mostly produced in a heteronormative and even hostile cultural environment Additionally this book initially examines queer uses of sexuality masquerade in Alternate Gay World Cinema that allegorically features a world pretending to be gay in which straights are harassed and persecuted in order to expose the tragic consequences of sexual intolerance. Films and TV series examined as part of the analysis include The Gay Deceivers, Victor Victoria, Happy Texas, William Friedkin's Cruising and many other straight and gay screens. This is a fascinating and important study relevant to students and researchers in Film Studies, Media Studies, Gender Studies, Queer Studies, Sexuality Studies, Communication Studies and Cultural Studies.

Angel Maker Sara Maitland, 2014-10-07. Women's lives are at the center of this stunning collection of short stories by the writer. The New Yorker says provides unexpected delights. Questions and answers alike shine with intelligence and an almost nineteenth century concern for ideals. Though Sara Maitland's interests are as varied as the people who inhabit her stories, there is a common theme to this work that extols risk taking over safety. Acrobats, women warriors, a girl who wants to become a garden, a long distance runner, housewives and mothers, and a reformed sixteenth century conquistador are among the characters revealed in this dazzling collection. By turns elegant and simple, erotic and elegiac, the stories draw on classical mythology, folktales, inexplicable accidents of history and disquieting experiences of the supernatural. And as Ann Beattie has written of Sara Maitland's wise and magical fiction, it speaks to today's reader in a voice that is irresistible. Familiar names from literature, Gretel, Eurydice of the green fields, the shepherd Prince Endymion, Lady Artemis, commingle with contemporary characters called David, Meg and Liz who desperately seek love and fulfillment and frequently have babies when they can't get what they want. Close by is the echo of Mary Magdalene teaching us about endurance and perseverance in a voice rich with the experiences of the sex object and the true love dichotomy. The author suggests she must have thought the crucifixion a bit mad too. Sara Maitland never holds back; instead she invites us again and again to a place of risks and we enter not because we must but because we will. And when you are about to lose heart, you meet Caroline who has learned what it is to be strong, how it feels to be free of fear, how it feels to be totally herself. Then she looked at Richard and he was smiling, not pityingly, not even kindly, but with open admiration.
