rights traditions monitored by the committees varies to the extent that their recommendations risk contradicting one another thereby undermining their credibility and potential to bring about real change on the ground Where some committees view religion singularly as a core individual right others see religion partly as an inherent threat to the realization of other rights but also as a potent social force to be reckoned with In order to remedy this situation rsheim proposes the publication of a joint general comment by all the committees spelling out their approach to the role of religion in the implementation of human rights
