Hazard Zone A Novel:

Dark Tourism and Place Identity Leanne White, Elspeth Frew, 2013 This timely book is the first to explore the physical and intangible legacies of historic and contemporary dark tourism sites and the contribution such sites make to place identity. It achieves this by critically reviewing the marketing management and interpretation of contemporary and historic sites associated with death, disaster, atrocity and related events from a wide range of geographical locations. In doing so, the book proposes a composite model for discussing place identity and dark tourism which will provide further understanding about these increasingly popular destinations.

This collection draws readers into the rugged landscapes of the American West through Grey's vivid prose, characterized by a romanticized depiction of frontier life, the struggle between civilization and the wilderness, and intricate character portraits. The anthology not only includes his celebrated Westerns such as Riders of the Purple Sage but also delves into historical narratives and his lesser-known baseball stories, reflecting the diverse tapestry of Grey's writing and the American spirit during a time of great change and unrest in the nation. Zane Grey, born in 1872, was influenced by his own experiences as a sportsman and adventurer, which deeply informed the landscapes and themes in his writings. Growing up in Pennsylvania and later moving to the West, he was drawn to the stories of cowboys, Native Americans, and the vanishing frontier, as well as his passion for baseball, an echo of Americana. These personal narratives culminated in creating a body of work that resonated with audiences looking for adventure, romance, and the essence of self-reliance. This ultimate collection is a must-read for fans of classic American literature and adventure enthusiasts alike. Grey's storytelling skill transports readers back to a time when the Wild West was both a setting and a state of mind.
