Healers Of Arnhem Land:

Healers of Arnhem Land John Cawte, 1996 For two decades from 1970 to 1990 Professor Cawte annually visited the Yolngu clan of northeast Arnhem Land During this time he recorded with the clan leaders permission traditional medicinal knowledge and healing scenes were specially enacted and photographed This information is now presented publicly for the first time in Healers of Arnhem Land In an attempt to span the gulf between European and Aboriginal cultures and to encourage tolerance and understanding this book presents anxieties and distress as intriguing mysteries threats and challenges that confront both cultures Healers of Arnhem Land John Cawte, 2001 Revised and completely updated this edition features additional chapters including individual and family considerations related to illness hypertension and neurological trauma Every chapter provides the reader with a glossary of key terms for quick access to definitions while gerontologic considerations are highlighted throughout A free CD ROM is included and a companion Web page on Lippincott's BookLink keeps content up to date and provides additional teaching and learning aids for the instructor and student Risk factors patient and community based nursing care collaborative problems and nursing research boxes are a few of the numerous features that help make this text a comprehensive and organised resource for modern medical surgical nurse A study guide and handbook are also sold separately to enhance teaching and learning techniques Blood and Guts, 2010 Today astonishing surgical breakthroughs are making face transplants limb transplants and a host of other cutting edge operations possible But getting to this point has been an extraordinary story of courage and mistakes stolen corpses crazy remedies medical fraud lobotomised patients and every now and then brave and extraordinary advances that have saved millions of lives across the world The brain from misguided psychosurgery to pioneering neurosurgery has taught us who we are But the most complex organ in the body hides its secrets well and surgeons have ended up travelling some dark roads on their extraordinary journey to map the human mind With a family history of heart problems presenter Michael Mosley takes a personal interest in these pioneers of heart surgery who teeter on the scalpel edge between saviour and executioner He meets a man with no heartbeat and witnesses an operation where the patient is cooled until their brain stops and has all of their blood sucked out Transplant surgery seemed a craze a one off experiment But pursuing fame prestige and worldwide acclaim surgeons took increasingly extraordinary risks What lay ahead of them was a battle to tame the world's most sophisticated fighting machine the body's immune system Plastic surgery is not a modern phenomenon It started over 400 years ago with a spate of botched nose jobs so badly engineered that the nose would fall off if the wind blew too hard It marked the birth of a whole new obsession surgeons gradually became entranced with the idea that not only could they fix the body but now they could even fix our sense of self esteem Macassan History and Heritage Marshall Clark, Sally May, 2013-06-01 This book presents inter disciplinary perspectives on the maritime journeys of the Macassan trepangers who sailed in fleets of wooden sailing vessels known as praus from the port city of Makassar in southern Sulawesi to the northern

Australian coastline These voyages date back to at least the 1700s and there is new evidence to suggest that the Macassan praus were visiting northern Australia even earlier This book examines the Macassan journeys to and from Australia their encounters with Indigenous communities in the north as well as the ongoing social and cultural impact of these connections both in Indonesia and Australia Blood and Guts Gloria Burley, 2008-11-28 As I walked into the operating theatre the sight that met my eyes made me catch my breath The patient was lying face down on the operating table The only part of him that was not covered in sterile green drapes was his bottom The surgeon had made a circular cut about the size of a dinner plate and the area inside the cut was a mass of warts and red nodular lumps And so begins Gloria Burley's compelling view of our hospital system A nurse with experience in urban and Outback hospitals Gloria tells it as she saw it the dedication of medical professionals doing their best for their patients but also the limitations of people who are after all only human Her story will ring true anywhere the pressures are high and the resources scarce We all end up in hospital sooner or later and myths about what we can expect abound which accounts for the popularity of medical TV shows Reading this book will show you what really happens after the anaesthetist turns up the gas Strange but True Monica-Maria Stapelberg, 2014-09-18 Why do we Christen ships and sailing vessels or refer to them as she Avoid the number thirteen breaking mirrors or walking under ladders Use the phrase having a skeleton in the cupboard Dress baby boys in blue speak of true blue or blue blooded Decorate the Christmas Tree or eat Easter Eggs Kiss under the mistletoe or trick or treat on Halloween In this easy to read book a revised and updated re publication of her previous book Curious and Curiouser author lecturer and public speaker Dr Monica Maria Stapelberg shares the results of her many years of research to uncover the historical background behind numerous commonly held beliefs and traditions These range from general popular beliefs to the more specific and enlightening traditions of western culture Strange but True also brings to light how many of our day to day words phrases and actions are anchored in past ritual or sacrificial observances or simply based on fearful superstitious notions This book is a must read for a curious mind Blood, Bones and Spirit Heather McDonald, 2001 In this fascinating and beautifully written book Heather McDonald examines Aboriginal people's experiences of colonialism and post colonialism in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Blood Bones and Spirit analyses how Aboriginal people have appropriated Biblical stories of land inheritance expansion and loss in order to make sense of their own dispossession It investigates the embodiment of Christianity by Aboriginal people through their appropriation of Christ's body his blood bones and spirit in order to replenish and heal their own colonised bodies Indeed this local study of Christianisation in a small East Kimberley town presents a challenge to the very history and philosophy of Western religion Heather McDonald spreads out before the reader various aspects of Aboriginal Christianity the way Aborigines have assimilated Christian stories to make sense of their history and their relationships with the dominant society their understanding of what it means to be Christian their church activities and their conflicting interpretations of the Christian way of life Aboriginal Christians are repossessing the land and reclaiming a traditional earth bound world immanent spirituality These Aboriginal understandings of colonisation including missionisation and Aboriginal ways of interpreting and understanding Christianity offer a unique contribution to the reconciliation process
