Henry James and the Darkest Abyss of Romance William R. Goetz, 1986-01-01 Henry James and the Darkest Abyss of Romance William R. Goetz, Henry James and the "Aliens" Gert Buelens, 2021-12-28 Henry James and the Aliens intervenes substantially in current debates in James studies most notably in the key areas of cultural studies ethnic studies and queer studies Focusing throughout on questions of identity and most prominently on how the latter is given shape in the very form of the late style the book finds that James's response to the ethnic other can be grasped neither as an attempt to police supervise and master the other nor as a politics of non identical surrender to that other Instead there is a continuum of identity akin to the criminal continuity that James registers throughout the American scene in which self and other native and alien subject and object adopt alternate roles of control and submission Both are at times in possession of the American scene and possessed by that scene Jamesian sexual identity too proves to be constantly reconstituted in transitive processes of signification that make it impossible to fix the I or the other within a fixed framework be that framework a heterosexual or a homosexual one The eroticism that strikingly informs the late James can therefore only be captured if at all under the rubric of the queer Inchbald, Hawthorne and the Romantic Moral Romance Ben P Robertson, 2015-10-06 Explores the connections between British and American Romanticism focusing on the novels of Elizabeth Inchbald 1753 1821 and Nathaniel Hawthorne 1804 64 This study argues that Inchbald and Hawthorne are representative of a larger British American cultural confluence during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Henry James's New York Edition David Bruce McWhirter, David McWhirter, 1998 Toward the end of James's career Charles Scribner's Sons offered to publish his collected work under the overall title The New York Edition of the Novels and Tales of Henry James This book is the first comprehensive effort to apprehend the full complexity of James's self performance there Performing the Everyday in Henry James's Late Novels Professor Maya Higashi Wakana, 2013-04-28 Focusing on James's last three completed novels The Ambassadors The Wings of the Dove and The Golden Bowl Maya Higashi Wakana shows how a microsociological approach to James's novels radically revises the widespread tradition of putting James's characters into historical and cultural contexts Wakana begins with the premise that day to day living is inherently theatrical and thus duplicitous and goes on to show that James's art relies significantly on his powerful sense of the agonizing and even dangerous complications of mundane face to face rituals that pervade his work Centrally informed by social thinkers such as G H Mead and Erving Goffman Wakana's study discloses the richness complexity and singularity of the interpersonal connections depicted in James's late novels Persuasively argued and rich in original close readings her book makes an important contribution to James's studies and to theories of social interaction Henry James and the Ghostly T. J. Lustig, 2011-02-03 The importance of ghosts and liminal experience in general in the fiction of Henry James A Thing Divided John Landau, 1996 The subject of the book is representation in the three major novels of the late phase of James's work The Ambassadors The Wings of the Dove and The
