Ghetto Heaven:

Ghetto Voices in Contemporary German Culture Maria Stehle, 2012 Illuminates tensions and transformations in today's Germany by examining literary, filmic and musical treatments of the ghetto metaphor. Accounts of how Germany has changed since unification often portray the Berlin Republic as a new Germany that has left the Nazi past and Cold War division behind and entered the new millennium as a peaceful, worldly and cautiously proud nation. Closer inspection however reveals tensions between such views and the realities of a country that continues to struggle with racism, provincialism and fear of the perceived Other. Mainstream media foster such fears by describing violence in ghetto schools, failed integration and the loss of society's core values. The city emerges as a key site not only of ethnic and political tension but of social change. Maria Stehle illuminates these tensions and transformations by following the metaphor of the ghetto in literary works from the 1990s by Feridun Zaimoglu in German ghetto-centric films from the late 1990s and the early twenty-first century and in hip hop and rap music of the same periods. In their representations of ghettos, authors, filmmakers, musicians and performers redefine and challenge provincialism and nationalism and employ transcultural frameworks for their diverging political agendas. By contextualizing these discussions within social and political developments, this study illuminates the complexities that define Germany today for scholars and students across the disciplines of German, European, cultural, urban and media studies. Maria Stehle is Assistant Professor of German at the University of Tennessee Knoxville.

Treasure Cynthia Barnett, 2016-08-23 I wrote this book to inspire others like myself. I have been appointed to deliver such a book by doing the works of the master, telling everything of himself. I haven't written a book or novel nor children's books. From the Psalm poems I wrote novel of poetry of everyday life. The poems are telling a story within itself. Some people don't recognize a God-given talent until a wakeup call comes. I was one of those people. I wrote many poems as a youngster and in my teens I cast them away in my closet shelf or trash them. My baby sister Alisa always told me I had a God-given gift. My baby sister Alisa reminded me of a little bitty person with an old soul, young but had insight like she had been here before. She had been getting my poems off the shelves and making her boyfriend cards with them. He was thinking she was writing them, she told me again you got to keep writing them because he liked them. I was shocked but nevertheless I said ok to my baby sister, calling herself in love. And my milestone started that day. Who would want to listen to what I had to say? The answer came later on who would listen other than my baby sister. The same people that went down the same path and has experienced spiritual struggles, racism and was a victim of rape, gang bangers, prisoners, addicts, childhood dream of becoming or a sense of want to belong. This book is inspired for all generations as well as the young, past, present and future. A reflection of fathers leaving homes, leaving mothers taking care of homes as single parents, not to mention separated that lead to divorce. In each of our lives we all are searching for our own path. Through our experience we live and learn either we make mistakes ourselves or wise up or simply learn from the mistakes and trials of others as well as self. I've always felt that in the company of others I find my
