Ghost Brian Mackay-Lyons, Peter Buchanan, 2008-05-15 Architecture is a social art If the practice of architecture is the art of what you can make happen then I believe that you are only as good as your bullpenthe builders the engineers the artisans the colleagues the staff who collaborate with you those who become possessed by the same urge to build by the same belief that we are working on something exceptional together Brian MacKay Lyons For two weeks each summer architect Brian MacKay

Lyons uses his family farm on the east coast of Nova Scotia for a special event. Among the stone ruins of a village almost four hundred years old, he assembles a community of architects, professors, and students for a design-build internship and educational initiative called Ghost Research Lab. The two-week project, one week of design and one week of construction, rests on the idea that architecture is not only about building but also about the landscape, its history, and the community. Based on the apprenticeship environment of ancient guilds where architectural knowledge was transferred through direct experience, Ghost redefines the architect as a builder who cultivates and contributes to the quality of the native landscape. Published to celebrate the event's tenth anniversary, Ghost offers a thorough documentation of the past decade's design-build events, including drawings, models, and final photographs of completed structures. Organized chronologically and interwoven with MacKay Lyons's simple and accessible personal narratives, Ghost also features essays by some of the most eminent figures in architectural criticism, including Christine Macy, Brian Carter, Karl Habermann, Robert Ivy, Kenneth Frampton, Thomas Fisher, Juhani Pallasmaa, Peter Buchanan, and Robert McCarter. In an architectural climate full of trends and egos, Ghost is the rare manifesto that does not preach but rather inspires quietly with simple ideas that unexpectedly unsettle and arouse.
