Hans S. Reinders, 2008-04-14 Does what we are capable of doing define us as human beings If this basic anthropological assumption is true where can that leave those with intellectual disabilities unable to accomplish the things that we propose give us our very humanity Hans Reinders here makes an unusual claim about unusual people those who are profoundly disabled are people just like the rest of us He acknowledges that at first glance this is not an unusual claim given the steps taken within the last few decades to bring the rights of those with disabilities into line with the rights of the mainstream But he argues that cannot be the end of the matter because the disabled are human beings before they are citizens To live a human life properly he says they must not only be included in our institutions and have access to our public spaces they must also be included in other people's lives not just by natural necessity but by choice Receiving the Gift of Friendship consists of three parts 1 Profound Disability 2 Theology and 3 Ethics Overturning the commonsense view of human beings Reinders's argument for a paradigm shift in our relation to people with disabilities is founded on a groundbreaking philosophical theological consideration of humanity and of our basic human commonality Moreover Reinders gives his study human vividness and warmth with stories of the profoundly disabled from his own life and from the work of Jean Vanier and Henri Nouwen in L'Arche communities The Gift of Friendship Publications International, Limited, 1997 World of the Gift
Jacques T. Godbout, Alain C. Caille, 1998-10-21 The anthropologist Marcel Mauss in his famous exploration of the gift in primitive and archaic societies showed that the essential aspect of the exchange of presents involved the establishment of a social tie that bound the parties together above and beyond any material value of the objects exchanged He argued that these intangible mutual debts constituted the social fabric Godbout and Caille show that contrary to the modern assumption that societies function on the basis of market exchange and the pursuit of self interest the gift still constitutes the foundation of our social fabric The authors describe the gift not as an object but as a social connection perhaps the most important social connection because it creates a sense of obligation to respond in kind They examine the gift in a broad range of cases such as blood and organ donation volunteer work the bonds between friends couples and family Santa Claus the interaction between performers and their audience and the relation of the artist to society Written in an engaging manner The World of the Gift will appeal to anyone who is interested in how the world really operates Politics in Friendship: A Theological Account Guido de Graaff, 2014-09-25 Guido de Graaff explores the political dimension and significance of friendship arguing that its specific contribution lies not only in its theological approach but also in its particular focus distinguishing the political from the social and or civic The book's explorations are framed around a particular story of friendship the story of Bishop George Bell and German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer Drawing on Hannah Arendt and Oliver O'Donovan de Graaff argues that Bell and Bonhoeffer's story can be read as one of friends assuming the responsibility of political judgment in an emergency situation their story casts doubts on secular politics as the primary context for interpreting the friends' judgments

Thus the book provides a more comprehensive account of the story also interpreting it against the background of the life of the church with special attention to John 15 and Romans 12 De Graaff concludes by showing how a theological account is vital for discerning the distinct politics of the church including opportunities for Christian engagement in secular politics

From Gift to Commodity Hildegard Hoeller, 2012 In this rich interdisciplinary study Hildegard Hoeller argues that nineteenth century American culture was driven by and deeply occupied with the tension between gift and market exchange Rooting her analysis in the period's fiction she shows how American novelists from Hannah Foster to Frank Norris grappled with the role of the gift based on trust social bonds and faith in an increasingly capitalist culture based on self interest market transactions and economic reason Placing the notion of sacrifice at the center of her discussion Hoeller taps into the poignant discourse of modes of exchange revealing central tensions of American fiction and culture The Gift Economy David Cheal, 2015-07-03 Until recently we have known more about gift giving practices in pre industrial societies than about those of industrial western society In this book first published in 1988 David Cheal shows that the process of present giving and receiving is a vital element in contemporary social life relevant to some of the most important theoretical traditions in sociology particularly those of Durkheim and Weber and to the social constructionism of Peter Berger and Thomas Luckmann This volume is the result of a major study of gift rituals carried out by David Cheal and his associates in which general themes are richly illustrated with details from individual case histories gathered during the research It is highly significant that in western society women are more active gift givers than men and while their voices explain how emotions and interests are interrelated within the gift economy the author shows how that in turn is related to current theories about family gender and religion Reports from Commissioners Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1874 The Gift in Antiquity Michael Satlow, 2013-04-01 The Gift in Antiquity presents a collection of 14 original essays that apply French sociologist Marcel Mauss's notion of gift giving to the study of antiquity Features a collection of original essays that cover such wide ranging topics as vows in the Hebrew Bible ancient Greek wedding gifts Hellenistic civic practices Latin literature Roman and Jewish burial practices and Jewish and Christian religious gifts Organizes essays around theoretical concerns rather than chronologically Generates unique insights into gift giving and reciprocity in antiquity Takes an explicitly cross cultural approach to the study of ancient history The Question of the Gift Mark Osteen, 2013-09-13 The Question of the Gift is the first collection of new interdisciplinary essays on the gift Bringing together scholars from a variety of fields including anthropology literary criticism economics philosophy and classics it provides new paradigms and poses new questions concerning the theory and practice of gift exchange In addressing these questions contributors not only challenge the conventions of their fields but also combine ideas and methods from both the social sciences and humanities to forge innovative ways of confronting this universal phenomenon Memories and Friends Arthur Christopher Benson, 1924 Annual Report Columbia University.
