droughts leading to a reduction of agricultural production Most of the existing literature on the unfavourable consequences of global warming for land are based on a relatively short period of weather station data covering local land areas with limited networks and monitoring parameters These concerns have led to the use of satellite data whose measurements are controlled by such vegetation characteristics as chlorophyll carotenoids moisture contents in the plants and temperature inside the vegetation community Therefore the discussion of this book is completely based on high resolution global land surface measurements by the sensors on the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration s NOAA operational afternoon polar orbiting satellites The book also focuses on understanding climate change impacts on land changes where humans are living and combines biophysically grounded methods and the 40 year data to develop models for monitoring large scale Earth warming impacts on land and for timely prediction of climate consequences for humans These 40 year trends in land characteristics will help to better inform the assessment of potential changes in the future and how to reach human sustainability The book will of interest to scientists using satellite remote sensing to track climate change impacts on land over time as well as students and researchers in climatology and environmental sustainability Gemini World - U. S. Atlas ,1984-07-01 The Map Catalog Joel Makower,1986 Every kind of map and chart on Earth and even some above it

Remote Sensing for Malaria Felix Kogan,2020-07-20 This book presents research using high resolution operational satellite data for monitoring and assessing numerically how to reduce the area and intensity of malaria outbreaks Satellite data and imageries a powerful and effective tool for malaria monitoring and reduction of the number of affected people as it bypasses the limitations imposed by the dearth of near the ground weather data in many malaria prone areas With this in mind this volume provides readers with In depth information in monitoring signs of malaria from operational polar orbiting satellites Examples of country specific models for predicting malaria area 1 and 4 km² resolution and intensity Information on the how the effects of climate change on malaria outbreak area and intensity can be monitored A new Vegetation Health VH methodology to estimate vegetation moisture temperature and moisture temperature conditions as indicators of malaria vector activity Advice to users on the application of VH technology for early assessments of malaria area intensity and risk level Remote Sensing for Malaria is intended for an audience of public health practitioners environmentalists and students and researchers working in spatial epidemiology and disease prevention
