Writing Widowhood Jeffrey Berman, 2015-10-07 Explores how memoirs of widowhood can help us understand the reality of bereavement and the critical role of writing and reading in recovery The death of a beloved spouse after a lifetime of companionship is a life changing experience To help understand the reality of bereavement Jeffrey Berman focuses on five extraordinary American writers Joan Didion Sandra Gilbert Gail Godwin Kay Redfield Jamison and Joyce Carol Oates each of whom has written a memoir of spousal loss In each chapter Berman gives an overview of the writer's life and art before widowhood including her early preoccupation with death and then discusses the writer's memoir and her life as a widow He discovers that writing was for all of these authors both a solace and a lifeline enabling them to maintain bonds with their lost loved ones while simultaneously moving on with their lives These memoirs of widowhood Berman maintains reveal not only courage and resilience in the face of loss but also the critical role of writing and reading in bereavement and recovery Writing Widowhood is a stunning achievement that combines biography literary history and theoretical and philosophical exploration into the nature of grief as well as mental illness all seamlessly executed Berman elegantly and lucidly conveys a range of theories and perspectives to suit both academic and general readers Berman never compromises complexity while remaining accessible and straightforward throughout Virginia L Blum author of Flesh Wounds The Culture of Cosmetic Surgery Writing Widowhood contributes to the field of autobiography biography and particularly to women's writing within that generic field by discussing five memoirs which Berman categorizes as the widow memoir No other critic that I know has shaped commentaries into a newly defined genre Berman's book thus makes an important contribution to the overall field Linda Wagner Martin author of Telling Women's Lives The New Biography The Craft of Art Georgia Museum of Art, 1995 In this collection of nine essays some of the preeminent art historians in the United States consider the relationship between art and craft between the creative idea and its realization in Renaissance and Baroque Italy The essays all previously unpublished are devoted to the pictorial arts and are accompanied by nearly 150 illustrations Examining works by such artists as

Michelangelo Titian Volterrano Giovanni di Paolo and Annibale Carracci along with aspects of the artists creative processes work habits and aesthetic convictions the essayists explore the ways in which art was conceived and produced at a time when collaboration with pupils assistants or independent masters was an accepted part of the artistic process The consensus of the contributors amounts to a revision or at least a qualification of Bernard Berenson's interpretation of the emergent Renaissance ideal of individual genius as a measure of original artistic achievement we must accord greater influence to the collaborative appropriative conventions and practices of the craft workshop which persisted into and beyond the Renaissance from its origins in the Middle Ages Consequently we must acknowledge the sometimes rather ordinary beginnings of some of the world's great works of art an admission say the contributors that will open new avenues of study and enhance our understanding of the complex connections between invention and execution With one exception these essays were delivered as lectures in conjunction with the exhibition The Artists and Artisans of Florence Works from the Horne Museum hosted by the Georgia Museum of Art in the fall of 1992 Reliques of Ancient English Poetry, Etc. (Fourth Edition.). Thomas

Percy, 1847 The Search for Wholeness and Diaspora Literacy in Contemporary African American Literature Silvia Castro-Borrego, 2011-05-25 This volume has as a cohesive argument the exploration of the different manifestations of the search for wholeness and spirituality in the writings of contemporary African American women writers covering different literary genres such as fiction both novels and short stories drama and poetry Together with the issue of spirituality the African American search for wholeness is analyzed as a source of creativity and agency As expressed in the contemporary literature of black women writers starting in the 1980s the search for wholeness reflects a beauty realized through the healing of the spirit and the body and is a process that takes on dimensions of reconciling the past and the present the mythical and the real the spiritual and the physical all in the context of an emerging world view that welcomes synthesis and expects both synthesis and generative contradictions The book will be a valuable collection for scholars of African American literature comparative American Ethnic literature American literature and spirituality as well as women's studies In addition it will be an important text for both undergraduate and graduate students in those fields As Professor Johnnella Butler 2006 points out the African American search for wholeness is tightly linked to the search for freedom and agency Ever since the 19th century African American writers have given expression to an African American self which functions in Western civilization simultaneously as a colonized other and an assertive self Due to the continuous ordeal of the African Diaspora this self is caught in between the binaries proposed by the material and the spiritual world seeking a balance where the person can become whole The search for wholeness feeds from cultural roots that imply the presence of ancestral spiritualism rememory and double consciousness Contemporary black women writers reflect the metaphor of building spiritual bridges seeking the possibilities of building a bridge to the archetypal African past that is carried in their memories as a presence that offers sustenance via spiritual reconnection Their works seek to bridge the gap between the myths and traditions of the past and contemporary African American culture The texts included in this collection are examples of writing as an exercise of what V v Clark calls Diaspora literacy The texts written by contemporary African American women writers explicitly show how to recognize and read the cultural signs left scattered along the road of progress In this way material acquisition is achieved along with cultural dispossession becoming a metaphor for the history of the African in America The powerful message is that one should not exclude the other *The Poets and Poetry of America to the Middle of the Nineteenth Century ...
