Handboek Modern Arabisch:

Handboek modern Arabisch Mark van Mol, 1984 Leerboek Arabisch onderverdeeld in vijftientig lessen waarin de grammaticale regels door middel van een oefeningenreeks worden getoetst Ayyuha t-talib...! Handboek voor modern standaard Arabisch, CD-teksten, Oplossingenboek, Geëntegreerde woordenlijst (Tweede, gecorrigeerde en geactualiseerde druk), 'Abbasid Studies James Edward Montgomery, 2004 The School of Abbasid Studies originally founded as a cooperative venture by scholars at the Universities of St Andrews and Glasgow in Scotland during the 1980s is a joint enterprise involving the Universities of St Andrews Cambridge and Leuven It aims to promote foster and cultivate the academic study of the Abbasid dynasty This book is a volume of sixteen papers delivered by a distinguished array of leading scholars at a meeting of the School of Abbasid Studies at the University of Cambridge in July 2002 It provides a fully contemporary insight into the cutting edge of Abbasid Studies and includes works ranging from Arabic philosophy and jurisprudence to religious intellectual and institutional history literature and grammar The contents of the volume are divided into three principal foci of interest Institutions and Concepts Figures and Archaeology of a Discipline and the work is accomplished by a substantial introduction by the editor Egypt and Syria in the Fatimid, Ayyubid and Mamluk Eras Urbain Vermeulen, D. De Smet, 1995 Igor'-Severjanin Lenie Lauwers, 1993 Peeters 1992 On the Skirts of Canaan in the Iron Age Edward Lipiński, 2006 The history of Canaan in the Iron Age is generally written from the perspective of the kingdoms of Israel and Judah The scope of this book is to inverse this relation and to focus on the skirts of Canaan while regarding the United Monarchy and the Divided Monarchy as external and sometimes marginal players of the regional history After having examined the transition from the Late Bronze Age to the Iron Age in the mid 12th century B C the book deals thus with the Philistines and the role of Egypt in Canaan during Iron Age II especially in the face of the Assyrian expansion It treats further of the Phoenicians and the Aramaeans There follow five chapters on Bashan Gilead Ammon Moab and Edom with the Negeb Several indices facilitate the consultation of the work on particular topics Aegeans in the Theban Tombs Shelley Wachsmann, 1987 The wall paintings of several Theban tombs represent foreigners who present gifts that are sometimes typically Cretan or Aegean Other foreigners although labeled Princes of Keftiu Crete are represented as Asiatics The aim of the present volume is to analyze these wall paintings in order to distinguish the Aegeans and their gifts The author manages to establish their characteristics in nine Theban tombs divides chronologically in two groups and shows that the related figures reflect actual Aegeo Egyptian relations in the time of the XVIIIth dynasty down to c 1470 1450 BC This result is obtained by a careful comparison of represented gifts with undoubtedly Minoan objects and documents from the Aegean especially Crete The Aramaeans Edward Lipiński, 2000 In order to present the Aramean history during some six hundred years down to the seventh century B C it was necessary to analyze a wide range of sources mainly cuneiform epigraphic and biblical Chapter I deals with Aramean pre history and proto history while chapter II examines the question of the alleged relationship between the Hebrew forefathers and the ancient Arameans Chapters III to XIV give a relatively accurate description of the territory of each historically attested Aramean group or state and present a detailed narrative of political events Chapter XIV the most extensive considers the situation of the Arameans in Babylonia also in relation to the Chaldeans and to the North Arabian tribes Chapters XV to XVIII deal with Aramean institutions economy legal practices and religion Special attention is paid to linguistic features of the available evidence when they can help resolving historical questions The book concludes with an extensive general index and with an index of biblical sources

After Bardaisan G. J. Reinink, Alexander Cornelis Klugkist, 1999 The present collection of twenty five studies represents the general theme of continuity and change as applied to various topics connected with the rich heritage of Syriac culture These studies cover the period from the early third to the fourteenth centuries with an incidental excursion into modern times The focal areas are early Syriac Christianity and its Umwelt and the later West Syrian and East Syrian traditions Most of the contributions deal with historical subjects with the general theme elaborated in two different directions first ecclesiastical history monasticism hagiography and theology and second secular history literature scholarship ideas and religions In a more specific sense the contributions focus on patterns of cultural continuity and change such as the influence and reception of Greek secular and theological culture and literature developments within early and later Syriac asceticism religious controversy the interaction between different religious communities and the effects of major political and social changes on the cultural and religious life of the various Syriac communities One of the most radical political changes in the Middle East concerns the Arab conquest and the rise of Islam in the seventh century Some authors explicitly discuss the consequences of these changes for the Christian Syriac and Armenian populations The effects of these historical events on intellectual social and economic life are some of the topics discussed in this connection Of particular interest is the number of newly edited Syriac texts in this volume which make available translations of Greek theological works works resulting from the reception of pagan philosophy and magic texts reflecting popular belief

Redefining Christian Identity Jan J. Ginkel, Hendrika Lena Murre-van den Berg, Theo Maarten van Lint, 2005 Cultural interaction in the Middle East since the Rise of Islam such was the title of a combined research project of the Universities of Leiden and Groningen aimed at describing the various ways in which the Christian communities of the Middle East expressed their distinct cultural identity in Muslim societies As part of the project the symposium Redefining Christian Identity Christian cultural strategies since the rise of Islam took place at Groningen University on April 7 10 1999 This book contains the proceedings of this conference From the articles it becomes clear that a number of distinct cultural strategies can be identified some of which were used very frequently others only in certain groups or at particular periods of time The three main strategies that are represented in the papers of this volume are i reinterpretation of the pre Islamic Christian heritage ii inculturation of elements from the new Islamic context iii isolation from the Islamic context Viewed in time it is clear that the reinterpretation of older Christian heritage was particularly important in the first two centuries after the rise of Islam the seventh and eighth centuries that inculturation was the dominant theme of the Abbasid period in the ninth to twelfth centuries whereas from the Mongol period onwards from the thirteenth to the eighteenth centuries isolation more and more often occurs although inculturation of elements from the predominantly Muslim environment never came to a complete standstill Crafts in the Early Isin Period Marc Van de Mieroop, 1987 La presente synthese porte sur 920 tablettes qui forment un ensemble tout a fait unique dans la documentation cuneiforme Couvrant une periode de 33 ans elles datent du tout debut de l'histoire politique d'Isin regnes d'Isbi Erra et de Su ilisi en un temps ou ce royaume se situe encore dans la droite ligne de la tradition d'Ur Elles documentent l'activite d'un atelier l'auteur montrant de facon convaincante qu'il faut comprendre gis kin ti comme signifiant un lieu et non pas la fonction d'artisan Quatre branches d'activites artisanales etaient representees au sein de cet atelier le travail du bois du roseau et du textile Les tablettes mettent en valeur les differentes etapes du travail autour desquelles l'auteur construit son etude qu'il complete par l'analyse de plusieurs titres et fonctions Cette synthese sur l'activite des artisans d'Isin exploite d'une maniere exhaustive un exceptionnel lot d'archives Hamlet on a Hill Martin F. variety of scholarly subjects all revolving around the central theme of Syro Egypt's high and late medieval history. Topics dealt with include archaeology, architecture, codicology, economic, political, and religious history, as well as belles lettres.

Foundations of Power and Conflicts of Authority in Late-antique Monasticism Alberto Camplani, Giovanni Filoramo, 2007. The volume offers the acts of a meeting held at the University of Turin on the foundations of power and the conflicts of authority as documented by the monastic sources of East and West in Late Antiquity with special reference to Max Weber's analysis of these notions. The issue is here examined from a variety of perspectives: the different meanings of power and authority in ancient monastic sources; the criteria by which authority is established within the monastic organizations; the kind of power and authority exercised towards outsiders; the relationship between monks and other authorities; especially the Church; the monks and their economic activity; the strategies for the solution of conflicts. The wide range of historical and cultural problems raised by these questions is what the present volume tries to illuminate through individual studies of a number of specific phenomena, events, and figures from Shenute to John Cassian, from Abraham of Kashkar to Maxim the Confessor, paying particular attention to monasticism in Egypt, Palestine, Africa, and Persia. The Preacher Sought to Find Pleasing Words Antoon Schoors, 1992. Enthl. Part 1: Grammar. East and West in the Medieval Eastern Mediterranean Krijna Nelly Ciggaar, David Michael Metcalf, 2006. Claude Cahen's book on Crusader Antioch cast a long shadow. His thorough monograph seemingly leaves little more to be said. Decades may pass before scholars return to the topic. The long shadow fell even on the Wisconsin History of the Crusades, which still seeks essentially to stitch the written sources together into traditional narrative history, only to do it better. But topics such as architecture or coins are optional extras and not much integrated into the whole picture. A thorough analysis of political and military developments is indeed the essential groundwork of most medieval history. But high politics was not the whole of life, and charters and texts are not the only witnesses to that life. Social and economic life has its own momentum and its own continuity. Its moral and spiritual aspects deserve historical study and impose new historical disciplines. Crusades studies have become more interdisciplinary and less monolithic. That new style of enquiry is fully reflected in the range and variety of the papers tightly focussed on Antioch, printed in this volume.

The Coffin of Heqata Harco Willems, 1996. The coffin published in this book represents a type that had some popularity in southern Upper Egypt in the early Middle Kingdom but which, despite its extraordinary decoration, had not attracted attention so far. The most striking feature of the decoration is that the object friezes the pictorial rendering of ritual implements usually found on coffin interiors of the period; also include complete ritual scenes, some of which are attested only here. Apart from this, the decoration includes an extensive selection of the religious texts known as the Coffin Texts. The author first studies the archaeological context and dating of the coffin and attempts a reconstruction of the construction procedures from his technical description of the monument. The detailed account of the decoration in the rest of the book interprets the ritual iconography and offers fresh translations and interpretations of the Coffin Texts. A methodological innovation is that he regards the scenes and texts not as individual decoration elements but as components of an integral composition. The background of this composition is argued to be a view of life in the hereafter in which the deceased is involved in an unending cycle of ritual action which reflects the funerary rituals that were actually performed on earth. On the one hand these netherworldly rituals aim at bringing the deceased to new life by mummification; on the other the newly regenerated deceased partakes in embalming rituals for gods representing his dead father Osiris or Atum. These gods in their turn effectuate the deceased's regeneration. The entire process results in a cycle of resuscitation in which the afterlife of the deceased and of the father gods are interdependent. The sociological bias of this interpretation with its emphasis on kinship relations differs significantly from earlier attempts to explain Egyptian funerary religion.

Law, Christianity and Modernism in Islamic Society Union européenne des arabisants et islamisants. Congress, 1998. This volume presents part of the Proceedings of the 18th Congress of the Union Européenne des Arabisants et Islamisants in particular those papers dealing with the three main themes of the congress: continuity and development in Islamic Law, Christianity and Modernism in 18th and 19th Century Islam. It ranges from studies about shari'a in the Koran in early Shi'ite Islam to its applications in modern countries like Kuwait. The Christian element in the Islamic world is not only analysed from a theological viewpoint; much attention is also given to Arab translations of the Bible and to the juridical, social and political status of the Christians as reflected in their contacts with the West and in Christian Arab literature. Finally a series of studies focuses on modernism taking newspaper articles, cartoons and political satire as their main sources as well as theatre and schoolbooks.
