The Handbook of Medieval Library History Karl Christ, Anton Kern, Theophil M. Otto, 1984 Encyclopedia of Library History Wayne A. Wiegand, Donald G. Jr. Davis, 2015-01-28 First Published in 1994 This book focuses on the historical development of the library as an institution Its contents assume no single theoretical foundation or philosophical perspective but instead reflect the richly diverse opinions of its many contributors This text is intended to serve as a reference tool for undergraduate and graduate students interested in library history for library school educators whose teaching requires knowledge of the historical development of library institutions services and user groups and for practicing library professionals The Library Andrew Pettegree, Arthur der Weduwen, 2021-11-09 Perfect for book lovers this is a fascinating exploration of the history of libraries and the people who built them from the ancient world to the digital age Famed across the known world jealously guarded by private collectors built up over centuries destroyed in a single day ornamented with gold leaf and frescoes or filled with bean bags and children s drawings the history of the library is rich varied and stuffed full of incident In The Library historians Andrew Pettegree and Arthur der Weduwen introduce us to the antiquarians and philanthropists who shaped the world s great collections trace the rise and fall of literary tastes and reveal the high crimes and misdemeanors committed in pursuit of rare manuscripts In doing so they reveal that while collections themselves are fragile often falling into ruin within a few decades the idea of the library has been remarkably resilient as each generation makes and remakes the institution anew Beautifully written and deeply researched The Library is essential reading for booklovers collectors and anyone who has ever gotten blissfully lost in the stacks The Cambridge History of Medieval Monasticism in the Latin West Alison I. Beach, Isabelle Cochelin, 2020-01-09 Monasticism in all of its variations was a feature of almost every landscape in the medieval West So ubiquitous were religious women and men throughout the Middle Ages that all medievalists encounter monasticism in their intellectual worlds While there is enormous interest in medieval monasticism among Anglophone scholars language is often a barrier to accessing some of the most important and groundbreaking research emerging from Europe The Cambridge History of Medieval Monasticism in the Latin West offers a comprehensive treatment of medieval monasticism from Late Antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages The essays specially commissioned for this volume and written by an international team of scholars with contributors from Australia Belgium Canada England France Germany Italy the Netherlands Spain Switzerland and the United States cover a range of topics and themes and represent the most up to date discoveries on this topic Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent, 2000-12-21 This encyclopaedia of library and information science explores business information visualization It offers guidance for research and practice to Virtual Reality Modelling Language VRML Libraries, Archives, and Museums Suzanne M. Culture and Religion in Merovingian Gaul, A.D. 481-751 Yitzhak Hen, 2023-09-29 Although often depicted as a barbaric and uncivilised society in the full pejorative meaning of these words Merovingian Gaul was clearly a Christian society and a direct continuation of the Roman civilisation in terms of social standards morals and culture Using insights provided by social history archaeology palaeography and anthropology this book studies the problem of Christianisation in early Medieval Gaul from a cultural point of view While exploiting a huge range of primary and secondary material Dr Hen does not confine himself to a functional analysis of various cultural and religious activities in Merovingian Gaul but goes on to assess the consequences and implications of such activities for the people themselves and for the subsequent developments in the Carolingian period

The Gutenberg Revolution Richard Abel, 2017-07-12 One of the most puzzling lapses in accounts of the rise of the West following the decline of the Roman Empire is the casual way historians have dealt with Gutenberg's invention of printing. The cultural achievements that followed the fifteenth century when the West moved from relative backwardness to remarkable robust cultural achievement would have been impossible without Gutenberg's gift and its subsequent widespread adoption across most of the world. Richard Abel follows the radical cultural impact of the printing revolution from the eighth century to the Renaissance, addressing the viability of the new Christian Classical culture. Although this culture proved too fragile to endure, those who salvaged it managed to preserve elements of the Classical substance together with the Bible and all the writings of the Church Fathers. The cultural upsurge of the Renaissance, fourteenth to seventeenth centuries, which resulted in part from Gutenberg's invention, is a major focus of this book. Abel aims to delineate how the cultural revolution was shaped by the invention of printing. He evaluates its impact on the rapid reorientation and acceleration of the cultural evolution in the West. This book provides insight into the history of the printed word, the roots of modern day mass book production, and the promise of the electronic revolution. It is an essential work in the history of ideas.

Non-Native Sources for the Scandinavian Kings' Sagas Paul A. White, 2023-04-14 Traditional scholarship on the kings sagas has tended to focus on the textual histories and interrelationships between the various twelfth and thirteenth century Scandinavian manuscripts. Thus previous scholars have striven to ascertain chronology, dating, and potential literary borrowings between the various native medieval manuscripts without considering the possibility of foreign textual influences on native literary traditions. Non Native Sources for the Scandinavian Kings Sagas prompts scholars to look beyond the borders of medieval Scandinavia in the attempt to account for seemingly inexplicable literary motifs and historical accounts.

Emotional monasticism Lauren Mancina, 2019-06-14 Medievalists have long taught that highly emotional Christian devotion, often called affective piety, appeared in Europe after the twelfth century and was primarily practiced by communities of mendicants, lay people, and women. Emotional monasticism challenges this view. The first study of affective piety in an eleventh century monastic context, it traces the early history of affective devotion through the life and works of the earliest known writer of emotional prayers, John of Fécamp, abbot of the Norman monastery of Fécamp from 1028-78. Exposing the early medieval monastic roots of later medieval affective piety, the book casts a new light on the devotional life of monks in Europe before the twelfth century and redefines how medievalists should teach the history of Christianity.

The Library of Eusebius of Caesarea Andrew James Carriker, 2003-11-01 This volume reconstructs the contents of the library in Roman Palestine of Eusebius of Caesarea ca 265-339 by examining Eusebius' major works the Ecclesiastical History Chronicon Preparation for the Gospel and Life of Constantine After surveying the history of the library from its origins as an ecclesiastical archive and its true foundation by Origen of Alexandria to its disappearance in the seventh century it discusses how Eusebius used his sources and then examines what specific works were available in the library in chapters devoted to philosophical works poetry and rhetoric histories Jewish and Christian works and contemporary documents The book ends with a useful list of the contents of the library

Memory's Library Jennifer Summit, 2008-11-15 In Jennifer Summit's account libraries are more than inert storehouses of written tradition they are volatile spaces that actively shape the meanings and uses of books reading and the past Considering the two hundred year period between 1431 which saw the foundation of Duke Humfrey's famous library and 1631 when the great antiquarian Sir Robert Cotton died Memory's Library revises the history of the modern library by focusing on its origins in medieval and early modern England Summit argues that the medieval sources that survive in English collections are the product of a Reformation and post Reformation struggle to redefine the past by redefining the cultural place function and identity of libraries By establishing the intellectual dynamism of English libraries during this crucial period of their development Memory's Library demonstrates how much current discussions about the future of libraries can gain by reexamining their past
